Noah's Ark would have come in handy in the Twin Cities yesterday when 3.2 inches of rain fell in 18 hours causing water-logged houses, flooded streets and hazardous driving conditions.

A steady rain, torrential at times, dwindling to a mist at times, fell from around 3 p.m. Friday until about 4:30 p.m. Saturday, resulting in a 3.5 inches reading taken at Selman Field at 6 p.m. Saturday. Federal Aviation officials said 3.2 inches fell from midnight Friday until 6 p.m. Saturday.

Many streets had to be partially barricaded because of the standing water which had not run off late yesterday. And to further complicate already bad conditions, a pea-soup thick fog settled on the city making driving vision worse.

Firemen and street and sanitation workers were out in force last night attempting to clear streets of water by pumping and clearing out catch basins.

Monroe police officers stayed on the run working numerous accidents, several of which resulted in injuries of minor proportions.

BARRICADES

The police department barricaded several streets in an attempt to cut down on the traffic flow in flooded areas and to eliminate the high waves that swept into houses.

Partial barricades were set up on the north side of Glenmar Avenue and Sholars Street, located on the north side of town, was barricaded between its intersection with Sherwood Avenue and Spencer Street.

Water was reported to have gotten into at least two homes on Sherwood and at one time last night stood as deep as three inches in the houses.

Jets Attack Post Office In Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Two U.N. jet planes attacked the post office in the middle of Elisabethville with incendiary shells and rockets Sunday as Katangan troops assembled there for a new attack on U.N. headquarters.

There was serious damage, but no casualties were reported.

OTHER ATTACKS

The strafing following other attack runs by U.N. jets which hit the Katanga radio station and swept over Elisabethville University and police camp in the northern outskirts Friday.

(A joint communique issued in Leopoldville by the Congo central government and the United Nations renounced any design of military conquest of Katanga or other "warlike aims." It said the two sides agreed that "after restoration of law and order and elimination of the dangerous influence of mercenaries" in Katanga the Congo government would seek a political solution. The communique was issued after a conference between Dr. Sture Linner, head of the U.N. Congo mission, and top Congo leaders.)

The attack on the post office was the first inside Elisabethville and was intended to scatter a mass assembly of Katangan gendarmes who were being harangued to attack U.N. headquarters, U.N. sources said.

A nearby store was set afire and the shots barely missed three hotels.

The jets, Indian Canberra bombers, circled for 20 minutes, then streaked for the post office. Their attack caused practically every Katangan soldier in town to open fire with mortars, machineguns and rifles, and one Canberra was reported slightly damaged.

First 'Peace Bomb' Blast Slated Today

CARLSBAD, N.M. (AP)—A nuclear "peace bomb" is set to explode Sunday—just 180 miles from the site of the first wartime nuclear bomb in 1945.

This underground blast is a Multipurpose experiment exploring peaceful potentials for nuclear explosives, including using the earth as a chemical test tube.

OPTIMISTIC

"I'm optimistic for both successes and failures," said Dr. Edward Teller, an architect of the H-bomb, and an early advocate of trying to turn nuclear blast, heat and radiation to constructive purposes.

A low-powered nuclear device will be detonated at 10 a.m. Sunday in a tunnel a quarter mile deep in salt rock 25 miles southeast of Carlsbad.

The buried blast Sunday, with an energy yield of 5,000 tons of TNT is not expected to release any radioactivity into the air, or damage the natural wonders of the Carlsbad Caverns, 34 miles to the west.

The weather forecast was for acceptable wind and visibility condition with scattered snow flurries or showers forecast which would not interfere.

Predicting some successes and failures out of dozens of experiments involved in the blast, Dr. Teller said: "There is only a very remote chance everything will go wrong or everything will go right. We are doing it because we don't know exactly what will happen."

Sunday's blast, named Project Gnome, is the first step in the Accused Nazi Transferred To Security Cell

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Accused Nazi mass murderer Adolf Eichmann was transferred secretly to a top-security Jerusalem jail cell last Friday night in preparation for his court appearance Monday to hear his verdict, it was disclosed Saturday.

Highly placed sources said Eichmann was "fully cooperative" when he was taken from Jelamy Prison near Haifa to Jerusalem. He rode in an ordinary police van, escorted by a jeep load of armed border policemen.

Police Chief Supt. Leo Koppel disclosed Eichmann's transfer here from Haifa and said the former S.S. colonel was waiting "quietly and orderly" for the judges to begin reading the verdict.

But he added Eichmann, accused in the Nazi slaughter of 6 million European Jews during World War II, would not be given a necktie until shortly before his return to the bulletproof glass box in the Jerusalem courtroom Monday. This and other precautions are taken against the possibility of suicide.

The reading of the verdict is expected to take at least two days. Eichmann was indicted on 15 counts of "crimes against humanity" and the Jewish people, and of belonging to hostile organizations.

AT BERLIN BORDER

Red Guards Gun Down Youth, 20

BERLIN (AP) — East German guards Saturday night shot down a 20-year-old Austrian student in a group of three youths and three girls who had crossed the border and were cutting a hole in the barbed wire behind it.

West Berlin police said they believed he was killed.

The incident took place near Staaken, where the Communists' wire is back of the actual boundary line between West Berlin and the East German countryside.

Western police said the group had wanted to help the mother of one of the girls escape to West Berlin.

FIRE ESCAPE

Five fled safely from the guns, but the Austrian fell and was quickly dragged behind the wire. His body was seen lying on the ground there for more than two hours. Police identified him as Dieter Woohfahrt, a student at the Free University of West Berlin.

Earlier Saturday East Berlin Police opened fire with submachine guns at four West Berlin youngsters standing near the border at Spandau. The youngsters escaped unhurt.

Russians reiterated charges that U.S. troop movements along the Autobahn between West Berlin and West Germany are an open military demonstration aimed at sharpening the situation in Europe.

The charges came in a Berlin report of the official Soviet news agency Tass. The Tass article was carried by ADN, the East German news agency.

Tass correspondent Vladimir Ivanov wrote that another aim of American troop movements was

Probe Opens In Fatal Fire At Hospital

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Investigators pinpointed Saturday where the Hartford Hospital fire started but remained baffled over the cause of the disaster, which killed 15 persons.

A janitor showed fire officials how he had spotted the fire in a trash chute between the hospital's main floor and basement levels.

FOUGHT BLAZE

He also told them, during a tour of the building retracing the path of the fire, that he had fought the blaze alone without reporting it for at least 10 minutes.

While officials pressed their investigation, the hospital itself began the slow, hard job of returning to its daily routine.

Only the charred ninth floor remained a poignant reminder of Friday's disaster. Elsewhere the hospital continued its bittersweet work of caring for the ill and bringing new babies into the world.

The janitor, Arthur LaFontaine, 41, who said emptying the trash chute and burning the refuse in an incinerator was his job, told the investigators he first spotted evidence of fire sometime between 1:25 p.m. and 2 p.m. when he opened the chute door in the subbasement level.

Fire officials said they had received their first alarm at 2:39 p.m.

He closed the door and ran to the basement level and then to the main floor before he located the fire, he said.

On the first floor he grabbed some hose near the cashier's office and shot water into the trash chute, he said.

He fought the fire for 10 minutes before firemen came, he said. Asked why he had not sounded an alarm, he replied: "I was so nervous . . . I was fighting it alone."

He added many persons were

Exhibition Focuses Probes Into Space

An educational exhibit which brings into dramatic focus man's first satellite probes into space, is now open to the public at the Virginia Hotel.

The space exhibit of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was brought to Monroe under the sponsorship of the News-Star and Morning World for the public to view without charge.

Center of the main exhibit which is in the lobby is a large world globe encircled by colored orbital paths of all known satellites launched by the United States and Russia. This includes the routes of 54 U.S. space vehicles and 13 satellites of the Soviets.

Surrounding the globe is a display counter featuring some 24 illustrations of successful space experiments along with their objectives and results. Elsewhere are five panels of exhibits, and on the mezzanine floor there are five panel displays which include small scale models of rockets used to launch satellites and full scale models of the satellites.

Also on the mezzanine floor is an exhibit showing the worldwide tracking network established by the United States through close cooperation with other nations. It contains a small replica of a tracking antenna.

Officials said that the exhibit is educational in purpose, and contains elements of interest for young and old alike. No advance arrangements are necessary for individuals and small groups planning to visit the exhibit, but because of space limitations school classes and other large groups should make reservations. This may be done by calling the News-Star—World at FA 2-5161.

Snow, Sleet Spread Over Wide Sector

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A widespread storm heaped snow on the Midwest Saturday. Snow and freezing rain spread eastward to the Appalachians and Middle Atlantic coastal states.

Subzero cold drove into the Plains, Northern Rockies and Upper Great Lakes region behind the storm.

SNOW CONTINUES

Continuing snow reached depths up to 9 inches in Kansas, 7 inches in Iowa and Missouri, 6 inches in Minnesota.

Icy road conditions made driving hazardous as sleet and freezing rain spread over a belt from Arkansas through the Ohio Valley and into the Appalachians.

At least 11 deaths were attributed to the weather including that of a federal labor-management conciliator, George W. Squires, 50, who collapsed while shoveling snow at his Belleville, Ill., home. Nebraska and Ohio reported two deaths, and one apiece were reported by Iowa, Indiana, Kentucky, Kansas and South Dakota. Most were killed in crashes caused by slippery roads.

The cold surge, which dropped the mercury to 22 below zero in Havre, Mont., early Saturday, brought Weather Bureau cold wave warnings for portions of Nebraska and Kansas, and predictions of subzero readings Saturday night in upper Minnesota and Michigan, and western and northern Iowa, with sharp cold spreading south and eastward.

Snow accumulations from the Mississippi Valley to Pennsylvania and New York were expected to be as much as four inches by Sunday morning with some heavier local falls.

The rigorous weather was welcomed in skiing areas of upper Michigan where it was 5 below zero Saturday morning. Gaylord in the heart of the ski country received 5 inches of snow, bringing the total fall to 15 inches in 48 hours.

But, the sleet and freezing rain snarled traffic on hills in Arkansas and along the Ohio River. Emergency crews were turned out in many cities to salt glazed streets. Freezing temperatures persisted as far south and east as southwestern Virginia where driving conditions were hazardous. Huntington, W.Va., had two inches of snow before the precipitation turned to rain.

Chief Orders Gambling Halt

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Police Chief Murray Sills Saturday ordered a halt to all forms of gambling in Vicksburg.

Acting under a state anti-gambling law, Sills notified 25 places where gambling had been reported or suspected that starting immediately police were imposing strict controls.

Sills said places noufied, included bars, cafes, restaurants and grocery stores. The ban includes punchboards, tip boards, football cards, baseball parleys, straight line betting and dice and card games.

GOODFELLOWS FUND

Desperate Pleas For Help Made

Goodfellows are working desperately to meet requests for aid which are mounting rapidly as letters pour in from all parts of Ouachita Parish.

Without the help of the Goodfellows many families which are badly in need will go hungry during Christmas. Without the donations of the residents of Ouachita Parish many of these needy families will be bypassed because of lack of sufficient funds.

The total amount which has been received for the Good fellows Fund is $1166.33. This is a very small amount considering that two weeks of the drive have passed. Donations in the form of money, toys, food or clothing, can be sent to Goodfellow Fund, care of News-Star—World, in Monroe.

All contributions are used for aiding persons in need; there is no overhead and no expenses. The Goodfellow drive is a voluntary project. All contributions are acknowledged.

A sample of the letters received read.

"I am writing for a family which is very poor and in need of food and clothes. There are ten children in the family which lives behind the levee. The father has been out of work for some time and is unable to find a job. The children's age range from 10 months to 16 years of age. Anything that can be done to help this family will be greatly appreciated."

Another of the several hundred letters which has been received says:

"I am writing in behalf of a friend whose sight is almost gone. She is an inspiration to everyone with the brave way she

LARGEST ONE YET

28th Atomic Sub Launched By Navy

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy launched its largest atomic submarine—Plunger—at Mare Island Naval Shipyard Saturday while a group of pacifists picketed the entrance.

One picket carrying a sign, "Peace through love, not subs," strode into the yard and was promptly arrested by security police. He was identified as Michael Marcus, University of California student.

Mrs. Clinton P. Anderson, wife of New Mexico's Democratic senator, broke a bottle of champaigne over the hunter-killer sub's stubby nose and it slid smoothly down the ways.

As chairman of the Joint Congressional Commtitee on Atomic Energy, her husband was instrumental in obtaining funds for the first U.S. atomic sub, the Nautilus.

The Plunger is the 28th U.S. atomic submarine.

The fast attack craft is the sixth in the Skipjack hunter-killer class. She is 278 feet in length and has a surface displacement of 4,200 tons.

Retired Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, skipper of the first Plunger in 1909, was among those attending the ceremony. He recalled that his Plunger had a crew of one officer—himself—and seven men. The new Plunger will carry a crew of 70.

Presiding at the ceremony was Vice Adm. Robert Goldthwaite, commander of the Western Sea Frontier.

Goldthwaite, in a dedication speech, declared the new sub "may be the significant factor in our efforts to counter any enemy submarine threat."

Nike-Zeus Flight Test Is Success

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—A Nike-Zeus antimissile rocket shot westward over the Pacific Saturday on its first distance flight.

It was the third straight successful launching of a Nike Zeus over the Pacific missile range. An Army spokesman said all test goals were achieved.

All previous tests here and at White Sands, N. Mex., were high-altitude shots.

Army spokesmen would not explain the shallow angle of the launch. It apparently was a test of the ability of ground radar to guide the antimissile missile at various angles.

The 48-foot finned rocket shot into the sky from its seaside launching pad at 11 a.m.

At a much lower altitude than usual—the height was not disclosed—it bent over to the west and was out of sight in seconds.

Only the first two stages of the three-stage solid fuel rocket were fired. The third stage was a dummy and was deliberately destroyed far down range.

All three stages have been tested at White Sands, but this is not expected here until next month.

Nike Zeus is designed to intercept enemy warheads 100 miles high and destroy or disarm them with its own nuclear tip.

to turn West Berlin into a NATO stronghold.

He was referring to the mach along the 110-mile highway of two U.S. battle groups.

They are the 1st Battle Group, 18th Infantry, which came to Berlin after the border closing Aug. 13, and the 1st Battle Group, 19th Infantry, which is replacing it.

The U.S. Army terms the battle group exchange strictly routine. It says U.S. NATO troops cease to be part of the NATO command the moment they leave the borders of West Germany for Berlin.

The move started Thursday morning. It is carried out in small groups shuttling along the lifeline highway daily. Saturday two small convoys moved into Berlin, and one moved out.

So far there have been no incidents. U.S. convoy commanders reported that the Russians, responsible for checking Allied traffic at the border checkpoints of Babelsberg and Marienborn, were behaving correctly and courteously.

An earlier dispatch by Ivanov attacking U.S. autobahn movements was discounted by the U.S. State Department. A department spokesman in Washington said the Tass attack was not accompanied by any communication from the Soviet government.

Fine Boxes

Curb boxes for paying overparking violations will appear again in downtown Monroe beginning Monday, the Monroe police department announced yesterday.

These boxes will be placed on a parking meter post in the center of each block and persons receiving overparking tickets will place their $1 inside the envelope, seal it and drop it in the box at their convenience. This will eliminate trips to the police station to pay fines, the traffic department head pointed out.

Atomic Energy Commission's Plowshare Program and will be observed by newsmen or official witnesses from 10 foreign nations.

Nuclear explosives and huge charges of TNT have been detonated underground before, particularly in weapons testing in Nevada in volcanic ash.

This will be the first explosion aimed at purely peaceful tasks and will be exploded in salt rock -a new material for such experiments.

One hope is the blast will create a stable underground cavity full of molten salt and steam. If nuclear heat can be tapped underground, it might be brought up to run surface turbines and generators for electricity.

Plowshare, first proposed by scientists of the University of California's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory at Livermore, Calif., also foresees ultimate goals of using nuclear explosives to crush ore bearing rocks, squeeze petroleum from viscous sand, blast out harbors or create many highly valuable radioactive isotopes.

Gnome will test some of these objectives and also includes many physical and chemical experiments. The Lawrence laboratory is in charge of technical direction of the Gnome shot.

"Someday we might be able to use the earth as a chemical retort, recovering isotopes and creating new or valuable chemicals from nuclear heat and pressure," said Dr. Teller, a University of California physicist.

However, the story should have read Cox, 30 of F - 16c Foster Homes, was tried for simple battery and the case nolle prossed on the payment of $10 court cost.

cate nature of the equipment, it generally takes about two days to set it up. It was transported to various display sites including Monroe by North American Van Lines.

It arrived here Thursday, and Friday and Saturday were spent in setting up the colorful array of globe, rockets and satellites. Personnel of the van lines and the News-Star—World set up the exhibit.

First showing of the space age exhibit in the south was in Shreveport, and it was brought from there to Monroe.

Prior to the Shreveport showing, it was seen at the Montreal International Trade Fair, Canadian National Exposition at Toronto, the Chicago Museum of Science, and the American Rocket Society's "Space Report to the Nation" in New York City.

From the time visitors enter the hotel lobby they are surrounded by colorful displays of full scale model satellites and miniatures of the launching rockets in the various series.

One of the features in the lobby in addition to the orbital globe display, is one of the uninflated models of the Echo satellite series. This is the vehicle which drew such a large viewing audience from the general public in the United States as it made its early circuits of the earth.

At one side of the lobby, among many other interesting creations of this scientific space age is a one-tenth scale model of the Thor Able rocket used to launch the Pioneer V and Explorer VI and Tiros I satellites into orbit.

The exhibit, arranged in an easy to view manner with printed explanations of equipment and illustrations, will be of interest to viewers of scientific inclination, as well as those who are fascinated by the dramatic implications of the burgeoning age of space exploration. It is aimed at all age groups, officials said.

In the array of displays are models and symbols of the first great achievements of man in the conquest of outer space. The satellite models range through a contrasting variety of designs, and color combinations.

Satellite models include Explorer I, III, and IV, the Vanguard series, Explorer VI, the paddle wheel satellite which took the first cloud cover picture, measured the earth's magnetic field, and related the expansion and contraction of the outer radiation region with solar storms.

Among others are Explorer VII, which counted and sent back totals on micrometeorite impacts and important data on radiation such as lyman-alpha, X-ray, and cosmic rays, and Explorer VIII, which give scientists a better understanding of the structures and properties of the ionosphere.

The series continued with the Discoverer, the experimental satellite developed by the U. S. Air Force for the purpose of learning about methods of recovering satellites from orbit. There is also a model of the Pioneer IV, the first space craft to enter into permanent orbit around the sun.

There is plenty of color in the exhibit. An assortment of colorful wires circle the main globe exhibit denoting orbital paths of known satellites. The globe, which in conventional manner depicts water areas in blue, has land masses in a variety of colors.

The satellites range from black to silver with such trims as gold and black, some are in combinations of brilliant yellow with red and silver, blue and purple. Some have clear plastic panels or windows in them. They vary greatly in shapes and sizes, also.

One of the smaller, but farther reaching satellite models is displayed on the mezzanine floor. It is the 13.4-pound Pioneer IV. The small cone-shape vehicle with alternating black and gold stripes lengthwise on it, was launched March 3, 1959.

The instrumented space craft confirmed the existence of radiation regions on its trajectory which passed within 37,500 miles of the moon before going into permanent orbit around the sun.

several hours, practically cutting Elisabethville off from the world, and destroyed the transmission building with four rockets and with cannon shells. Two engineers in the building ran for their lives. Later a new power line restored transmission.

Two Indian Canberras made five runs each over the university and police camp in the northern suburbs Friday but university officials said the students were in their hostels at the time and no one was injured.

A U.N. spokesman said the attack on the radio station was made to cut off a flow of propaganda inciting the people to fight the United Nations.

The air attack by the Swedish jet followed an abortive attempt by two Swedish platoons to take the transmission station. Katangans dug in around the station repelled the assault and the Swedes withdrew. The commanding officer had been told not to risk heavy casualties.

But the attack set off the wildest shooting spree since the Elisabethville battle between Katangan and U.N. forces started five days ago. Tracer bullets and shells whizzed at rooftop level over hotels, stores and houses, causing men to dive for shelter and women and children to scream.

Two DeSiard Stores Hit By Burglars

Two mid-city DeSiard street business establishments, separated only by a vacant building, were hit by burglars who made off with $20 in silver and an undetermined number of watches and rings sometime Saturday night, it was reported yesterday.

City police authorities said Peacock's Jewelry, 129 DeSiard, and Stein's, a clothing store, 137 DeSiard, were entered by way of a skylight which was covered by corded tin. Officers said the thieves went up stairs to the roof, opened the skylight and entered. An officer discovered making his last roof, opened the skylight and entered. An officer discovered making his last round, and reported the store was entered about 5:30 a.m. Sunday.

Police officials said the thieves went up stairs to the box in the store, but that a box containing $20 in silver was taken from the entrance to the store, but that it would have been days before an exact determination could be made of the loss, police said.

Police said the burglars came through a vacant building and cut a hole through the wall to gain entrance to the jewelry store. The dials were knocked off the safes, but no entry was made, officers said.

In another Saturday night incident, police said they had received a report of a stolen car belonging to L. T. Barnett of Hamburg, Ark. The car authorities said, was parked on Jackson Street.

BETWEEN INDIA-GOA

Shooting Flares On Tense Border

NEW DELHI (UPI) — An Indian government spokesman Saturday reported two shooting incidents on the tense border between the Portuguese enclave of Goa and India where both sides were said to have reinforced military positions.

An official Portugese communique issued in Lisbon said Indian troops attacked the GOA frontier post of Poinguinim with a barrage of artillery and small arms fire around dawn Saturday. The communique said one Portuguese soldier was killed and a Portuguese armored car heading for Poinguinim was disabled by a land mine.

India also was having more trouble on its front with Communist China. Peiping Radio said Chinese newspapers were informing readers all over the mainland that the United States had promised to supply India with weapons to fight China if possible.

A spokesman for the Indian External Affairs Ministry said a patrol from GOA exchanged fire with an Indian patrol in the border town of Terekhol Friday. He said one Portuguese soldier was wounded but was carried back into Goa by his comrades.

In the other incident, the spokesman said Portuguese fired about 10 rounds across the border into the village of Aini. He said there were no further details.

Portugese news agency reports in Lisbon said Indian forces fired at Portuguese border posts at three points during the night. The reports said the Portuguese guards did not reply.

The Indian spokesman said the Portuguese patrol — a sergeant and six soldiers — crossed the border into the town of Terekhol "apparently with evils designs." They were sighted by an Indian patrol and "fireings were exhanged," he said.

No mention was made of Indian casualties in either of the incidents.

Prospects Dim For Dominican Rule Agreement

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The off-again-on-again prospect of a Dominican political settlement appeared endangered again Saturday night.

President Joaquin Balaguer told the official newspaper La Nacion no definite agreement had been reached on a formula to settle the crisis. He deplored leakage of information on the negotiations.

The denial came after the highest opposition and diplomatic sources reported a government-opposition agreement in principle on a basis for installation of a new provisional government that would spell the eventual exit of Balaguer.

The presidential press office denied what it called radio reports that Balaguer, a holdover from the Trujillo dictatorship, would resign by Jan. 1.

Diplomats and opposition spokesmen, in reporting the accord earlier Saturday, told newsmen the question of who would get two or three of the more sensitive postions in the new regime remained unsettled but that this would not block a final settlement.

Informed sources said they expected the formal announcement Sunday. By their account a provisional council of state of seven members would be set up, with Balaguer at the helm for a limited period.

SCIENTISTS REPORT

Severe Pneumonia Is Caused By Virus

WASHINGTON (AP) — A newly recognized virus has been found responsible for a severe outbreak of pneumonia in a group of young children, Public Health Service scientists reported Saturday.

They noted that "In the early months of life infections of the lower respiratory tract are a leading cause of death."

The evidence came from Junior Village, an institution operated for homeless children by the District of Columbia Department of Public Welfare.

The Public Health Service said interest was stimulated in the relation of this virus to children's diseases when scientists reported last June they had been able to isolate the virus and to associate it with respiratory illnesses.

The linking of the RS—respiratory syncytial—to pneumonia is described in an article in the current issue of the American Journal of Hygiene. The authors are Dr. A. Z. Kapikian, J. A. Bell, K. M. Johnson, R. J. Huebner and R. M. Chanock of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases and Dr. F. M. Mastrota.

The health service's announcement of the findings said "Involvement of the respiratory syncytial virus in an outbreak of pneumonia affecting 36 of 90 children, ranging in age from 8 months to about 4 years, supplies further evidence that the virus plays a significant role in causing pneumonia in the very young.

"A striking feature of this outbreak was the extremely high proportion of children it affected. During a four-week period, 25 per cent of 65 children residing in Eisenhower Cottage, a separate building provide for this group, and 80 per cent of 25 children residing in the infirmary pneumonia."

House Damaged In Area Blaze

WINNSBORO (Special) — A fire in the home of Guy Peoples, three miles south of Winnsboro on Robinson Rd. caused damage to two rooms and a minor burn on his hand and arm at 6:10 p.m. Saturday.

Peoples was working on a washing machine when an open can of gas sitting nearby was ignited by fumes reaching the pilot light of a water heater, according to Fire Chief Allen Robinson.

After the fire was brought under control by the Winnsboro volunteer fire department, Peoples was taken to a Winnsboro clinic where he was treated for minor burns. The hall and one bedroom of the home were damaged by the fire and other parts of the house were damaged by smoke, officials said.

Burglars Steal $350,000 Gems

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Burglars who jimmied a side door of the Bel-Air home of millionaire realtor Arnold S. Kirkeby stole $350,000 in precious gems, police said Saturday.

Detective Sgt. Frank Gravante called it a well-planned and well-organized job. The theft occurred Friday night while the Kirkebys were attending a dinner party.

The burglars ignored paintings and furs valued in excess of $1 million, police reported.

Sandbags Placed To Halt Water; Roads Blockaded

wood and Sholars Street, on the northside, caused waves sending the water under the doors. Barricades were erected to halt the traffic and residents of the area — as late as 9:30 last night — were out still working to keep the water out of their houses.

In West Monroe, only three traffic accidents were registered and only one street was partially blocked off — the 100 block of Trenton Street was closed to traffic. This is the portion of the street that runs under the railroad overpass.

Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard, City Engineer Tom Keller and A. G. Barker, sanitation superintendent, were touring the city last night to get an overall picture of conditions.

From the 2400 block to the 2900 block of Louisville, water stood all day, slowing down traffic to a crawl and resulting in several collisions. The street and sanitation workers were clearing out catch basins clogged with leaves so that water could run down into the storm sewer.

At 9 p.m. yesterday, Monroe police had recorded a total of 18 traffic accidents and four injuries.

Only five of the accidents took place before 2 p.m., and many of the 13 accidents in the afternoon and evening occurred on the heavily traveled Louisville Avenue which was flooded in various sections throughout the day.

Two girls were injured in a minor collision at North Sixth Street and Harrison streets while passengers in a car driven by Edwin L. Linder, 20 of U.S.S. Pine Island, San Francisco. Both the girls, Nancy Linder, 15 of Route 2, Downsville, and Jo Ann Gross, 19 of 2547 N. 12th St., Monroe, were treated at St. Francis Hospital for lacerations.

Linder, traveling east on Harrison, and turning north onto Sixth Street struck a car driven by James P. Brady, 36 of 507 Filhoil, going south on Sixth Street.

Sixty-six-year old Mrs. Leola Orre of 1015½ North Fourth St., suffered minor injuries when struck by a car operated by Bobbie Gaile Hale, 19, of 2547 N. 12th St., Monroe. The Hale girl was going north on North Fourth when she struck Mrs. Orre who was attempting to cross the street at 1014 North Fourth Street around 6:30 p.m.

Earlier, Eula Lee Head, 53 of 217 Malvern St., Monroe, suffered minor injuries while passenger in a car that was struck on South Grand Street.

Driver of the vehicle, Emmett B. Head, 53, same address, was driving north on South Grand Street when struck by a car driven by Woodrow Urih Littleton, 42 of Downsville.

Littleton told officers a dog ran across the street, and he hit his brakes to keep from striking the dog. The car went out of control on the slick pavement, skidding into the Head vehicle.

The Twin City weather outlook for today is expected to be mostly cloudy with showers predicted to continue through tonight. Temperatures are forecast to start dropping sometime this afternoon and continue to drop until the expected low of 35 degrees is reached sometime tonight. Southerly winds will reach 5 to 15 miles per hour today gradually changing to northerly in the afternoon.

The report for Monday, according to the weather bureau in Jackson, Miss., is for colder temperatures with expected showers to continue. The high temperature for Monday is expected to reach 45 degrees.

The Jackson Bureau also said that rain was expected to continue through Tuesday.

Yesterday's weather proved to be mostly cloudy as 3.2 inches of rain fell on the Twin Cities causing floods to develop in the low places throughout the area. Dense fog blocked the area Saturday night making poor visibility.

The high temperature for Saturday was 62 degrees and the low temperature was 47 degrees as recorded by the Federal Aviation Agency at Selman Field.

The rainfall from 3 p.m. Friday, when the rain started, to 6 p.m. Saturday when it slacked, was recorded to be 3.5 inches.

Waterway Toll Plan Is Opposed

BATON ROUGE (AP) — A Louisiana executive protested Saturday a congressional proposal for an inland waterway toll would slap indirectly at the South and endanger industrial strength in this state.

Henry Davis, commerce and industry director and brother of Gov. Jimmie H. Davis, called upon Louisianians to voice their own objections and told why they should.

President Kennedy, during his election campaign, supported the idea of a traditionally-free inland waterway system. Davis said. "Now he is being urged by some associates to consider the proposed toll."

Davis referred to a Senate bill, by Sen. J. Glenn Beall of Maryland, and a House measure, introduced by Rep. James E. Van Zandt of Pennsylvania, calling for toll charges to cover expenses of federal maintenance of waterway operations.

At New Orleans several days ago, Wade W. Hollowell of Greenville, Miss., conference president said the proposed tolls, if enacted next year, would harm industrial development along the Mississippi River.

And U.S. Rep. F. Edward Hebert of New Orleans, during a regional session of the waterways conference at New Orleans said "in advocating the inland waterway tolls, the railroads are shortsighted because not only would they not capture a significant portion of waterway traffic, since most waterway traffic is not competitive with the railroads, but they would be injuring waterway-based industry that is the railroads' best customer."

With Henry Davis stepping into the fight, the weight of the Davis administration will be added to the efforts of Louisiana congressmen.

"With so much of our industry dependent upon our waterways," Davis said "a toll would seriously handicap Louisiana industry buildup as well as existing industry and distort the economic system of the whole South."

Much of the South, he stressed, makes use of inland waterway traffic, and such a move at a time when the South is leaping forward economically would hurt. But it would hurt other states, elsewhere, with inland waterways, he added.

Boat Burglaries Are Reported To Monroe Police

Two burglaries of the same houseboat in which beverages, gas and canned goods were taken were under investigation by Monroe police yesterday.

The owner of the craft which is docked over the levee at the end of Plum Street, Johnny Cunningham of 313 Pargoud Dr., reported the burglaries yesterday.

He told officers that sometime during the past 30 days the boat was entered and a small amount of beverages and gasoline taken. He first noticed this Friday afternoon, but failed to report it then.

Entrance was gained through a window, which Cunningham boarded up. However, the party once again burglarized the boat Friday night, taking a small amount of canned goods in the second raid, Cunningham said.

He reported the burglaries to police Saturday and officers are investigating them. The second time entrance was gained through another window.

Police also booked a Ruston Negro for driving while under the influence of intoxicating beverages early Saturday morning.

Cleophus Simmons, Negro, 36, of 600 Gum Ave., Ruston, was taken into custody at 2:50 a.m. in the 600 block of Louisville Avenue. He was booked for DWI, reckless driving and carrying a concealed weapon.

Bond was set at $750.

$50 MILLION GIFTS

Kress Foundation Lauded By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 20-year project which has given away paintings and other art treasures costing more than $50 million was hailed by President Kennedy Saturday night as "an achievement of which American can be proud."

Kennedy sent a letter to a ceremony at the National Gallery of Art, marking the turning over of final documents covering the huge donation by the Samuel H. Kress Foundation to the National Gallery and to 18 other museums.

"The successful completion of your plan to make great works of art available to the public is an achievement of which America can be proud," Kennedy said in a letter to Rush H. Kress of New York, president of the foundation and brother of its founder.

"This extraordinary contribution to the artistic resources of our country, unprecedented in scope, will be an enduring memorial to the industry, foresight and generosity of the Kress family and of the Samuel H. Kress Foundation."

Chief Justice Earl Warren, chosen to preside at the ceremony in his capacity as chairman of the National Gallery's board of trustees, called the Kress donations a landmark in the history of American philanthropy."

The Kress collection was started by the late Samuel H. Kress, who quit a $25-a-month school teaching job in 1896 to found a chain of specialty stores which brought him a multimillion-dollar fortune.

He began collecting works of art on a big scale in the 1920s, intending originally to build a museum in New York to house the collection. But when the National Gallery was built with funds provided by Andrew Mellon, Kress decided to give his collection to it.

Berlin Wall Gaps Narrowed By Reds

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany narrowed still more the gaps in its wall around West Berlin Friday but avoided forcing any new showdown over Western access rights in the isolated city.

The East Germans built metal crossing gates on the seven remaining street crossings between East and West Berlin. But they announced military cars would be passed automatically.

The Communists also limited themselves to threats and warnings against movement of American combat troops between Berlin and West Germany.

Tiny Capsule Of Radioactive Cobalt Sought

ROCK HILL, S. C. (UPI)—A tiny capsule of radioactive cobalt-60 became the object of a wary search Saturday when its loss was announced by the South Carolina Civil Defense Agency.

The agency announced loss of the capsule, believed to contain one-half millicurie of the highly radioactive substance, after consultation with the Atomic Energy Commission. The agency said the loss occurred at Rock Hill sometime before mid-November when it was discovered missing during a routine inventory.

The lead-lined case containing 12 cobalt charges used in civil defense training was discovered to contain 11 charges and a steel bolt of the same approximate size and shape during the inventory. There was no indication, the civil defense staff said, who had substituted the harmless bolt for the cobalt capsule.

The announcement cautioned all persons from carrying the cobalt. Civil defense emphasized that there was no danger of widespread radioactivity, but the capsule would be hazardous to anyone who carried it.

A plastic tag was attached to it, reading, "danger—radioactive material—do not handle — notify civil authorities if found."

'Who's Who' Honors Won By Students

PINEVILLE (Special)—Twelve Louisiana College students, seven men and five coeds, have been selected for the 1962 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Others named for the initial time include Norma Turner and James Horton, both from Monroe, David Evans, Minden, Tommy Griffith, Baton Rouge, all juniors, and Fred Cribbs, Sumner, Miss Nina Tyler, Denham Springs, and Peggy Wade, Farmerville, all seniors.

Young Rogers, sociology major and son fo Rev. and Mrs. S. G. Rogers, Acadia Baptist Academy, Eunice (his father is superintendent of the Academy), is serving his second year as president of the L. C. Student Congress. He is also captain of the 1961-62 Wildcat basketball team and a three-year cage letterman.

Miss Koch, accounting major and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Koch, route 1, Eunice, is the reigning "Miss Louisiana College of 1961." She was also secretary of her junior class and this year is drill captain of the Booster Club, women's service organization. Peggy Sue was also selected as the "Junior Class Favorite" last year.

He has also served several terms as a Student Congress representative. His father, a Louisiana College Board of Trustees member, is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Monroe.

To attain the L.C. "Who's Who" list, a student must be either a junior or a senior, his honor-point average at least 1.7, his character exemplary, and he must have made contribution to the college.

Mother Dissents

OAK GROVE (Special) —"I'm not in favor of it at all."

That's Mrs. Charles E. Hankins opinion of her son David's scheduled 64 - mile run from Monroe to Oak Grove this morning.

The 18 - year - old Northeast Louisiana State College cross - country runner was slated to attempt the long jaunt because some of his school mates said he "couldn't run 10 miles."

Mrs. Hankins said David's father "kind of feels like I do," however she admitted that "I'll be proud of him if he does."

Mrs. Hankins said her son had been talking about the run for about two or three months and that she and her husband had been trying to talk the youth out of it.

But he's dead set on the idea, and so that's the way it'll be, weather permitting.

"That's a long way," Mrs. Hankins said. However, David does have some family backing. His brother Jerry, 17, firmly believes that David will make it. But sister June 16, doesn't think too much of the idea either, according to her mother.

For David, it won't be anything new — he's made runs of 15 and 21 miles before — but it will be a good deal longer this time.

His mother said she just hopes his feet don't start hurting. Now who was that who said American youth is getting soft?

Early Yule

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) —Christmas has come early at Millikin Plantation where George Shepherd Jr. is confined to bed with a broken leg, according to correspondent Mrs. Mildred Rushing.

Mrs. Rushing said that "All summer, George saved his earnings to buy a saddle and bridle at Christmas time for his favorite riding horse.

"A few days before breaking his leg while playing football with his brother Dick, George's horse was found dead.

"And even though he had lost his horse and had broken his leg for the second time in 10 months George still planned to use his savings for a saddle and bridle.

"The worn pages and the fingerprints on the catalog give proof to that.

"This week, L. C. Martin, of Pioneer, arrived at Millikin with a brown and white pony as a gift for George.

"Despite the fact that the eight-year-old has only had a glimpse of his horse through the window, his eyes sparkle with the thought of his very own horse, waiting in the pasture for the new saddle and also for George."

Friction Riders

And she offers this advice

I have been increasingly disturbed by the evidence of division and suspicion among you, my colored friends.

"You are afraid of each other—afraid someone will say you're the "Uncle Tom' type if you profess continued friendship for white friends of long standing. I am sorry for you because you are, despite your quickness to use a razor or a knife, basically a very kindly people here in Mississippi, and today you are lost.

"I cannot help you. No white person can — you must help yourselves by facing up to this one question, honestly and sincerely: 'What have I done to deserve my inheriting all the white people of this state have built through their own efforts, not mine?

"And what have I done to deserve the good things of life which are mine because of the white man's generosity — and this includes our schools all the way, as well as a large share of what has gone into our churches.?'

"The Negro man or woman, boy or girl who answers this question honestly will never be a Friction Rider."

Elector Plan Is Opposed By Bertrand

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Rep. Richard Bertrand of Lafayette Parish said Friday he felt any legislation to split the presidential elector ballot on a congressional district basis would be unfair to the more densely populated southern Louisiana.

A few days ago, the executive board of the Louisiana State Labor Council, AFL-CIO voiced its opposition to such a proposal.

The plan has been suggested by Rep. Parey Branton of Webster Parish who, with Reps. Wellborn Jack of Caddo and John Rau of Jefferson, will sponsor it in the next legislature.

Voter now vote for all 10 Louisiana electors in a package, according to party. The Branton-Jack-Rau proposal would continue statewide election of two electors at large, but place the remaining eight on an individual basis in each of he eight congressional districts.

In other words, voters in each district would vote for only three electors, instead of 10.

Bertrand, who was one of the late Earl K Long's house floor leaders, said such a proposal would not take into account the fact that voter populations vary in each congressional district.

"This proposal would give the less densely populated congressional districts greater weight in Louisiana's choice of a president," he said.

"From the way it appears now, this would be unfair to the people of southern Louisiana, and, for that matter, all the people of Louisiana."

Southern Louisiana has the greatest concentration of voter strength

Parish Is Tops In State For Reading Awards

Ouachita Parish, with 320 readers receiving reading certificates topped the list in the annual award of certificates made in November by Louisiana state library. A cooperative project, participation is through the parish libraries, where readers get the books.

Those in parishes without libraries can get books from the state library, where they can also send reading lists for approval. The 1961 total of 1,366 exceeds that of any year since 1956. Next in the running came Winn Parish with 248, Calcasieu 179, and La-Fourche 120.

Twelve books, each on a different subject area, must be read for a certificate issued. One standard fiction work is allowed. Lists are approved by parish librarians. Copies of the State Library's "Suggested Reading List" may be obtained at the parish libraries, or directly from the State Libaray.

Since the beginning of this reading program in 1934, certificates have been awarded to 23,738 people, who have read at least 284,856 books — enough to fill a shelf just under eight miles long. About one out of six participants in the program complete 12 books

The rest average about 4 books per person, or more, which indicates that another 118,690 people have read at least 474,760 books, and that about 23 miles of books have been read through this one reading program sponsored by Louisiana state library.

Meeting Set For Monday

The Ouachita Parish Association for Retarded Children will meet in a regular session Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the First National Bank building.

All members and interested supporters were urged to attend the meetings.

BERLIN NEGOTIATIONS

Kennedy Pushes For Allied Unity

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration plans a determined effort in Paris next week to win full allied agreement to a strategy of negotiation with Russia for a Berlin settlement.

French President Charles de Gaulle holds the key to agreement. If he blocks development of a joint allied diplomatic effort at this showdown stage, the United States, Britain and West Germany will have to decide whether they should proceed without French cooperation.

There has been some talk in official quarters here that the United States might decide to move on its own to initiate new exploratory talks with the Soviets if there seems to be no other choice.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, following a late afternoon conference with President Kennedy, is due in Paris Sunday for a week-long round of allied meetings.

The Paris meetings Monday and Tuesday will be among the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany—the four Western powers primarily concerned with Berlin. The latter part of the week will be devoted to sessions of the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Council.

U.S. hopes for winning De Gaulle to the strategy of negotiation rest in the first instance on German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who conferred here with Kennedy Nov. 20-22.

Kennedy and Adenauer reportedly agreed that it was desirable to work toward a negotiated Berlin settlement, as an alternative to possibly increasing risks of an East-West nuclear conflict over West Berlin.

Kennedy and Rusk hope that with Adenauer's position thus decided, De Gaulle might be willing to modify his own view and thus put an end to a split in allied ranks which for months has threatened a kind of paralysis in Western diplomacy on the Berlin crisis.

Grand Jury Says Public Lags On Vice

GULFPORT, Miss. (UPI) — A Harrison County grand jury has criticized persons who claim gambling exists in the county but "have not thought the problem serious enough to warrant appearing before this body."

In its final report Friday, the jury reported that no gambling problem "which might affect the moral integrity of the people" exists in the county.

It said, "we are at a loss to understand the attitude of the citizens of Harrison County in regard to gambling. we cannot believe gambling could be so rampant that it is a threat to the moral stability of this county because these citizens have not thought the problem serious enough to warrant appearing before this body."

The report mentioned recent criticism leveled at law officers concerning gambling but said, "the source of this criticism has never been clearly defined and those who seems most concerned are not so concerned that they utilize the means available to correct any wrong doings at the local level."

Circuit Judge Leslie B. Grant, who received the report, earlier this week criticized local law officers for what he called "failing to enforce state laws."

He said it seemed that "everyone knows that the laws against gambling are being violated except the law enforcement officers."

'Eat And Run' Tactics Used At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE (AP) - The Congress of Racial Equality Saturday launched an "eat and run" demonstration in Baton Rouge to protest racial discrimination.

Ronnie Moore, president of the local unit of CORE, said two white persons and 10 Negroes took part in the move, which called for the whites to buy at lunch counters reserved for whites and allow Negroes to eat.

The tactics was to flee after the demonstration. The stores selected for the demonstrations were Kress and McCrory's.

No incidents were reported immediately.

The new technique of lunch counter demonstration came after white citizens organizations urged a dozen merchants here to ignore CORE's demands for negotiation on desegregation and equal job opportunities for Negroes.

Cleaning Up Plans Made

TALLULAH (Special) — Plans for the Clean-up Campaign for Tallulah were completed at a meeting at the City Hall presided over by the chairman, M. B. Christian.

H. T. Mounger will be in charge of the business district, Mrs. Louis Buckner, the residential area and Rev. William Parkerson, public buildings and churches. January 15 is the Kick-off date.

U. S. Investigating Prices Of Pecans

ATLANTA (AP) — The wide spread between prices received by pecan growers and the retail price to consumers was reported under investigation Saturday by a representative of the Justice Department.

Growers have complained they are receiving from 12 to 20 cents a pound for nuts that sell for as high as 60 to 65 cents at retail stores.

The Georgia Farm Bureau Federation asked Sen. Richard Russell last month to start an inquiry into the low prices. The Atlanta Journal said a member of the Justice Department has been visiting growers and others in Georgia during the past few days to get a picture of the situation. Growers complained that the Soviet Premier Boasts Of Big Nuclear Bombs

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev asserted Saturday the Soviet Union has nuclear bombs of even bigger than 100 megatons and for the first time seemed to tell the world the superbomb is a terror weapon in dealing with the West. The rockets that sent Soviet astronauts into orbit can deliver superbombs any place on earth, he warned.

Declaring the Soviet superbomb arsenal is ready should war come, the premier said the Western powers do not yet have a nuclear bomb of even 50 megatons and added:

"The 50 and 100 megaton bombs will always hang over their heads like the Sword of Damocles."

His voice sometimes rising to a shout, Khrushchev addressed more than 1,000 labor leaders from around the world assembled in the Kremlin for the congress of the communist-dominated World Federation of Trade Unions. In a wide-ranging speech, he also laughed off President Kennedy's recent proposal for international control over supply lines to West Berlin.

Public Parks To Close In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM (UPI)— Facing a federal court integration ruling, city commissioners will close most of the parks and recreation facilities here by Jan. 1 rather than end traditional practices.

The city commission said the closures are necessary because of a financial deficit but commissioners Eugene Connor and J. T. Waggoner said earlier they would close the facilities before permitting integration.

Federal Judge H. H. Grooms earlier ordered the city to end segregation practices by Jan. 15. He acted on a suit brought by a group of Negroes as a class action claiming discrimination.

The city commission cut the park and recreation board budget, approving $286,000 for the next nine months, through Aug. 31. This was about 20 per cent of the original budget of $1.5 million and compared to $1,024,000 for the last fiscal year.

Birmingham finished the last fiscal year with a $1 million deficit. Estimated revenue for the current fiscal year was placed at $14 million and departments requested $17 million this year to run Alabama's largest city.

Mayor Art Hanes said Legion Field, the zoo, Vulcan Park and Woodrow Wilson Park, located between the city hall and county courthouse, would remain open. However, the commission has ordered entrance fees started at the zoo where admittance previously was free.

Birmingham thus follows the lead of Montgomery which closed all parks and recreation areas last January rather than submit to a federal court integration order. Parks there have remained closed to both whites and Negroes.

Widowed Actress Sails For Europe

NEW YORK (AP) — Katherine Cornell, recently widowed actress, sailed Saturday for a European vacation and said, "It's tough to take the first holidays alone."

Her husband, Guthrie McClintic, theatrical producer and director, died Oct. 29. They had been married 40 years.

She said she did not want to spend the Christmas holidays alone at their New York home.

But she denied recent rumors that she might retire from the theater. She has been one of the stage's leading stars for years.

"My future is a kind of open book," she said. "If the right thing comes along I can always be lured to the stage."

She said, however, she had no plans for any stage work before next summer.

Police Balk Pacifists In New Uprising

WETHERSFIELD, England (AP)—An attempt by ban-the-bomb demonstrators to break into the giant U. S. Air Force base here fizzled Saturday. Fewer than 300 showed up and found themselves heavily outnumbered by servicemen and police. Thirty were arrested.

Demonstrators at two other U. S. bases also found hard going against tough police, who arrested 300 at one place, 16 at another.

The Weathersfield demonstrators, arriving by train at Braintre, 9½ miles away, had difficulty in reaching this NATO base. They thumbed lifts from sympathizers and walked through a fog to reach the gates three hours later.

They were allowed to go up the drive only for three quarters of a mile to a point near the officers' mess, where they were met by strong police and Royal Air Force cordons.

More than 1,500 demonstrators turned up outside headquarters of the 3rd U. S. Air Force at Ruislip and 300 arrests were made. At the Brize Norton base in Oxfordshire, coachloads of Oxford University graduates arrived for a sitdown protest but police picked off 16 parade Marshals and the demonstration flopped.

Nowhere did the demonstrators achieve their objective of swarming on to runways and halting H-bomb flights.

Negro Found Innocent In Assault Case

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — A jury Saturday found Negro hotelman Anthony (Tony) Davis innocent of the rape of a 22-year-old English white woman Freedom Rider.

Davis was accused by the pretty, shapely brunette of forcing his attentions on her in an all-Negro hotel he operated. He admitted sexual intimacies with the woman but said they were with her consent.

The slim, 118-pound girl testified 11 hours in a period of five days during the two-week-long trial. She admitted under questioning that Davis never threatened her with bodily harm.

The 10-man, two-woman jury in Judge Henry King's Criminal District Court here received the ase Friday night at 8 20 p m , and Judge King read its verdict at 9 22 a.m.

Davis immediately turned to the jury and said: "Thank you, ladies and gentlemen of the jury. This has reaffirmed my faith in justice in Texas."

Before coming to Dallas, the London native had, in the company of a Negro youth, taken part in a Freedom Ride from New Orleans to Jackson, Miss., where she was arrested and served a 30 day jail setence for attempting to integrate a bus station.

The woman testified that she waited more than 24 hours to report Davis to the police because she feared he would get the death penalty. She insisted she was interested in equality for the Negro race

But Davis testified that she apparently was more interested in personal gain and personal notriety than in helping his race

CATCHES UP

NEW YORK (UPI) — A woman in Montgomery, Ala., dropped in the mail this month a return postcard that was part of a Fairbanks, Morse & Co mailing advertisement that had been sent out in — 1929.

The postcard, requesting literature on home water systems, bore an old Chicago address but was quickly forwarded to pump and hydraulic division headquarters in Kansas City. She was sent the literature.

Northeast Louisiana Deaths

William Emanuel

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — William M. Emanuel, 84, Bentley, died following a long illness, Saturday morning in an Alexandria hospital. Funeral services will be held at the New Hope Baptist Church, Athens, at 2 p.m. Monday with Rev. Kitchenham officiating.

What is a

HIEROGLYPH?

A hieroglyph is a character in the picture writing of ancient Egyptians and other ancient peoples.

The study of hieroglyphics is one part of the study of archaeology, a science that not only helps us to understand the development of past civilizations but, in so doing, helps us to a better understanding of modern civilization. Unfortunately many potential archaeologists may never study this important science because they may never go to college. Already some of our colleges are overcrowded and in 10 years applications will double. We will need more and better college laboratories and thousands more of the highest quality professors.

Careless Pedestrians

The season just before Christmas is a time of hustle, bustle and rush. People are likely to do things then that they would not do on ordinary occasions. Everybody is in a hurry and many don't want to wait for others to get out of the way.

Then we find a new danger in the matter of crossing streets. The pedestrian who does not want to wait for the crowd is likely to decide to jaywalk. He may dart out from behind a parked car into the path of a moving vehicle. Maybe the driver can stop and maybe he can't. In downtown traffic the driver is supposed to be able to cope with any situation but if he is a little careless at the same time a pedestrian is careless the result can be fatal.

We have talked and talked about careful driving and this talk seems to have borne some fruit. Undoubtedly, drivers are more careful than they would be without frequent warnings.

The obligation of those who walk to be polite and cautious is as great as any that can be assigned to motorists. Besides, the careful walker is safeguarding his own life. This is far more true in regard to him than to the careful driver. Deaths and serious injuries are frequent among careless walkers.

Pedestrians should by all means cross at intersections instead of jaywalking. If traffic lights are working, they should follow their direction insofar as possible.

One safety precaution that pays off is that of refraining from stepping off the sidewalk until the way for crossing the street is clear.

Some pedestrians make a habit of stepping off the sidewalk and then waiting for an opportunity to cross. They stand a good chance of getting mashed feet or of having a car bumper, fender or wheel strike them.

No one should start across a street until he can be reasonably sure he can make it in one piece. Nothing is more exasperating than to have a pedestrian standing halfway across a street, especially if he is in the middle of a block.

Another thing that jolts motorists' nerves is to have a pedestrian make a sort of "fielder's choice." This occurs with devastating frequency. The pedestrian gets into the street and then can't make up his mind whether to be hit in the lane in which he is standing and in which a car is bearing down on him or to jump in front of another car in another lane. One thing that can make a motorist think he must be a careful driver is to find that such pedestrians invariably seem to chose his lane. If they're already in it, they'll stay there, but if they are in another they'll jump in front of him, apparently confident that, in either case, he won't hit them.

There is no good time for a traffic accident, just as there is no convenient spot to have a boil, but to have people hurt during a season when the holiday spirit is in the air often seems worse than at other times.

If both drivers and pedestrians will stay alert, watch out for other folks and do the courteous thing, the chances that our city can improve its safety record are good.

Shelter Frauds Boom

Anything that attracts more than ordinary attention is a sure-fire signal for the operation of a number of fradulent schemes. Present bomb-shelter promotions are no exceptions, according to an official source.

Promoters of "protection" against nuclear war are peddling everything from useless or overpriced survival devices to warnings about exactly when the bomb will fall.

Mysticism and black magic must always have some sort of part in any show and so, heading the list of "musts" for your protection, is an offer to tell just when the bomb will fall. How do these promoters expect to know the exact time? Well, they are counting on ESP (extra sensory perception), which was greatly publicized at Duke University some years back but which never seems to have done anybody much good. Old-timers used to say they could tell when it was going to rain by their rheumatism but ESP is something more of a sixth sense that can't be nailed down.

Also offered, in addition to the flimsy shelters, which have been cracked down on by federal policing agencies and Better Business Bureaus are "survival" coats, "water - purifying" tablets and "safe" food kits.

The federal trade commission says the "survival" coats offer about the same protection as an ordinary raincoat. The "water-purifying" tablets, which are offered for $2 per 100, are "Halazone" pills long carried by druggists for 50 cents per hundred. They purify water but will not remove radioactivity. The items in the "safe" food kits are offered at twice the regular price and the so-called 14-day supply provides 375 calories and a pint of water daily, neither of which is one-fourth of regular requirements.

A good many months after he was inducted into office, President Kennedy was quoted as saying his predecessors were almost criminally negligent for not providing bomb shelters but so far the only thing he has done is to direct his underlings to put on a propaganda drive for private shelters.

As one contributor to the "Views of Our Readers" column in the Monroe Morning World said, "Khrushchev has got the American people digging their own holes in the ground, so his promise to bury us can be carried out more easily." Reports on some of those who have stayed in shelters two weeks indicate they want to claw their way out long before the time is up.

If there is anything that justifies the use of federal money, it is national defense. If shelters are needed, they are a part of national defense. It is time the government started letting contracts to private firms to build community shelters, if the shelters are needed and will do any good.

Our Great Outdoors

Our great outdoors diminishes in size each year as measured by acres but the enjoyment of those facilities is shooting upward at a rate far greater than the national population explosion. This fact emphasizes the need for maintaining spacious recreation spots, even if we should eventually reach the point at which we would need to cut down on the amount of space utilized by residences.

More than 80 million visitors were clocked in United States national forests last year for picnicking, fishing, camping and hiking, a 200 per cent increase in attendance during the last 10 years.

There has been a 70 per cent increase in attendance in 10 years at United States national parks, seashore and recreational areas. They were visited last year by 30 million people.

In 1960, state parks had 250 million visitors, including 18 million overnight campers, a 123 per cent increase over 1950.

General Walker Again

Monroe, La.

To the Editor:

In answer to my letter concerning General Walker, that you published Sunday November 19, a Mr. Harry Bell states that we should be thankful for the editorial staff of the Morning World. I have grave doubts as to whether or not my appreciation should be voiced in a like manner. One reason for my concern over this matter is the fact that the continuity of my letter was broken by an apparent omission. Part of my letter, delivered to the Morning World, read: "Incidentally, I must have overlooked your praises for the general when he was in command of the bayonet wielding troops in Little Rock. Those were American citizens on the receiving end of the rifle butts and bayonets, and those were American citizens he was instructing on how they should vote." When published my letter read. "Incidentally, I must have overlooked your praises for the general when he was in command of bayonets, and those were American citizens he was instructing on how to vote." I also noted, Mr. Bell, that your letter did not appear in the normal space for such letters, rather it was given much more prominent display in space usually reserved for the executive editor.

Mr. Bell defends the Little Rock actions of General Walker by stating that he did not "like" the order known as "Operation Little Rock" and consequently offered his resignation. You will note that General Walker's troops were in Little Rock in September of 1957 and the general's resignation letter was dated two years later in August of 1959. It is also important to notice that the general did not disobey an order he "did not agree with", yet he did violate the Hatch Act when he tried to influence the 1960 elections. It is also noted that the resignation letter was submitted to the previous administration.

As to the source of my information concerning General Walker, part was taken from the "Houston Chronicle", and the "Register". Two editorials appeared in the "Register" on October 13, 1961, on the same page and under the same caption. One was entitled "General Walker Hits the Target" and the other "Politics and the Military". One writer praised and the other criticized General Walker. In the article of criticism it was written: "It is interesting to note in a summary the following from the Department of Defense report: "The two principal allegations and the conclusions reached by the acting inspector general were: Allegation: General Walker conducted a personal troop information and indoctrination effort that failed to comply with criteria established in Army Regulation A. R. 355-5, by making speeches containing remarks that were inflammatory and derogatory to past public officials, quoting and recommending material which was in varying degrees non - factual, biased, and inflammatory in character, and arranging for speakers who gave inflammatory speeches." Conclusions: That the allegation is true." Allegation: Maj. General Walker, acting in an official capacity, attempted to influence the members of the division and their dependents, in their selection of Senatorial and Congressional candidates by recommending the use of voting materials not obtained through military sources." "Conclusion: That the allegation is true."

By virtue of his office the President is commander - in - chief of all the armed services. He cannot afford, this nation cannot afford, and you and I cannot afford, to have each military leader instructing his troops as to what policies, what domestic political issues, and which candidates he personally thinks is best for this nation. I quote again from the Houston Chronicle: "In times of tension and trouble, responsibilities can become confused. Let's get them straight: The military take orders. The people make policy. This policy is made by our election of public officials. Any man with a view which he thinks is vital to saving America should submit himself and his idea to the voters. The voters must decide." No, Mr. Bell, I am not naive enough to believe General Walker was removed from his command just because he was anti-communist. I also note you forgot to mention the source of your information concerning the type of material supplied the troops by General Walker.

On Thursday, November 23, former President Eisenhower had quite a few comments to make on these subjects: "I don't think the United States needs super-patriots. "We need patriotism, honestly practiced by all of us, and we don't need these people that are more patriotic than you or anybody else who's a man of good intent and tries to be a good citizen. That's just rot, if you'll excuse the word."

Speaking as a general of the Army, Ike stated, "it was bad practice, very bad, for an officer, even testifying under oath before a congressional committee, to express opinions on political matters or economic matters that are contrary to the president's."

On the specific question about officers who try to indoctrinate their troops Eisenhower said, "I believe the Army officer, Navy officer, Air officer should not be talking about political matter, particularly domestically . . ."

My basic arguments on this controversial subject are these: It is not the responsibility of our military leaders to instruct our armed forces on domestic political issues, and when this general, or any general, uses his authority to suggest that such legislation as Social Security, the minimum wage, and unemployment compensation are communistic, and that those congressmen, senators, and other public officials who support these measures are socialistic and-or "pink," then I think he has over - stepped his duties, and I too become indignant.

I challenge those who agree with the John Birch Doctrine and the general's interpretation of socialism and "pinks" to look the recipient of social security benefits, unemployment compensation, and the minimum wage in the eye — if they have the occasion and tell them: "I will cash your check." "I will take your payment." "I will sell you my goods and services, but I believe you have received 'something for nothing,' it is socialism and-or communism, and those political figures who made it possible are 'pinkos'." I challenge others who are prone to cry socialism at every instant of progressive legislation to tell the veteran that he should not receive the GI Bill, because this too falls within their broad term of socialism.

I hold the view that no nation, no country, that provides for the dignified retirement of its workers; that requires a decent minimum wage for its workers; that has unemployment compensation; and that offers a public education to all children will never be subjected to a communist take-over. No, it is only in those countries where poverty, misery, hunger, and illiteracy are supreme that we find the roots of communism.

To Mr. Bell, I suggest he add to his anti-communist list of Baptista and Trujillo the name of Adolph Hitler, Benito Mussolini, and Hideki Tojo, for these too were anti-communist and all are "peas of the same pod." In summation, I say, we are truly at war with the communistic ideology. However, I will support no movement that creates equal dangers; nor will the voice that cries, but never defines, "communism" at every proposal the Democratic administration suggests, go without an answer. I make it crystal clear now, that I do not contend that past and present Democratic administrations were or are infallible; nor do I necessarily agree with their every action; but I do refute the contention that democratic measures, that helped raise the standard of living of the American people to the highest in the world, are "communistic."

God Man Democracy

We are living in this wonderful country, that was created by the Supreme Being, Our Heavenly Father, a country, where men fought for their democratic ways of life, who even bled and died for their liberties and rights.

The United States is a wonderful place to live, where men worship as they please, a place where there are freedom of press, freedom from want, etc.

On the other hand, through our generosity for other countries, we are always giving something as lend - lease policies, or loans, never to get it back again. And in return, they want to destroy our great government we cherish so much.

We had better watch out for Russia, Cuba, Spain, China, as they are ruled by dictators, who only bring strife and death to the people.

Our President had better start to continue with the building and operations of the hydrogen bombs, nuclear bombs and the satellites and sending man into orbit before Russian and her communist countries do.

Their form of government is on the atheist and dictator scale, which we don't accept, so the United States must make a way to block their entrance to preach their way of government.

They come over here with their talks and when they get through and ready to go home, they leave all the fleas to remind us they were here.

So wake up, America, let's have still a democratic form of government, where Peace, Harmony, Love and Goodwill will endure instead of dictators and communism.

Civilization In Peril

Dodson, La.

To the Editor:

Will the extant civilization survive, or will it revert into pandemonium; another dark age similar to the epoch that succeeded the fall of the Roman Empire, or will it be obliterated? Perhaps, you are aware that ours is not a young nation as some say. It is as old as the British Empire, only an auxiliary to it, so to say. Neither is our civilization a young civilization.

It has been said that this is only a reincarnation of the Roman empire. Perhaps there is some truth in that in a cultural way, but let me add that our civilization came out of the valley of the Euphrates. Ours is a descendant of the early Sumerian civilization passed down to us via the Chaldeans, Babylonians, Hebrews, Greeks and Romans. It is near onto six thousand years old, and has been a progressive civilization, ever expanding, ever triumphant, falling, but rising more brilliant than before. But it has arrived at the cross - roads of its destiny. Can it survive?

Attila and his hordes; the hordes that contributed to the fall of Rome, Ghengis Khan the barbarian whom overran a large portion of Asia, and eastern Europe, and the Moslem hordes Charles Martel are insignificant as tle of Tours are insignificant as compared to the menace that confronts civilization today.

The barbarians are on the march again, and apparently our leaders are as gullible as Valentenians' sister who secretly offered herself in marriage to Attila to save the Roman Empire, or is it they are making an ignominous effort to preserve this civilization per cowardice. Probably, they are like the Romans were: like a drowning man grabbing every straw within reach.

When Edward Gibbon completed his work, "The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," he listed five reasons for the fall:

1. The rapid increase of divorce, the undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the base of human society.

2. Higher and higher taxes and the spending of public money for free bread and circuses for the populace.

3. The mad craze for pleasure, sports becoming every year more exciting and more brutal.

4. The building of gigantic armaments when the real enemy was within, the decadence of the people.

5. The decay of religion—faith fading into mere form — losing touch with life, and becoming impotent to guide the people.

Is this not a fair description of the predicament of the United States of America today?

Will our leaders wake in time to see the error they have made in time to recall it and save this civilization, or will they go in their bewilderment and permit this bunch of barbarians to annihilate us and themselves as well?

In their efforts they are ignorant and too ignorant to know it, and if our leaders permit it they are as ignorant as they are, or a cowardly gang.

Persecution Is Seen

FARMERVILLE, La.

To the Editor:

In reference to your Saturday morning paper, we are sick of the way that N. B. James is being persecuted and could see no reason why his name should be in large print on the front page.

Mr. James is a fine Christian man and we hate to see a person persecuted as he has been. This is old news and should have been in small print, probably on the back page. We know this is political persecution and is so sickening.

Referring to the articles you have carried in your paper concerning Mr. N. B. James of Farmerville.

This is to advise you that Mr. James is a highly respected citizen of this town and your continued mention of the charges against him cause us to think less of your paper. If you MUST print it and keep on printing it we see no reason to give it such a prominent place in your paper.

Kindly give this your attention.

Thank you.

Reds Veto Tests

U.S. Officials Don't Want To Admit Russia Is Stopping Us

WASHINGTON, D. C. —Russia's presence on the United Nations Trustee Council appears to be one of the hidden reasons why the United States does not resume atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons.

This is as tender a subject as can be found in Washington. No high official wants to admit that Russia holds this much veto power over American policy. Those officials who are against testing, anyhow, have here an imposing argument for their do - nothing case. Officials who are deeply convinced that we should get on with in - the - air testing, and who are disturbed because so much time has already gone by, are hesitant to agitate the issue. The situation is as follows:

Only three nations of the world —the USA, New Zealand and the United Kingdom — are today administering the affairs of trust territories under the UN Charter. The USA has a vast expanse and literally hundreds of islands in the Pacific, the region where most of our above - the - surface tests have been made. The following is a description of the U. S. trust territory from the handbook, "Every - man's United Nations, 1959, Sixth Edition," the most recent to be published in English:

"This U. S. - administered territory, located in the Central Pacific and spread over three million square miles of ocean, is composed of 2,141 islands with a total land area of 687 square miles Of these islands only 97 are inhabited by some 65,000 people, who are broadly classed as Micronesians."

The U. S. Pacific tests in the mid - 1950's caused wails and protests from Japan. They were not unconnected with the Tokyo riots of 1960, which gave Presidential Aide Jim Hagerty a bad time and caused President Eisenhower to cancel a scheduled visit to Japan. Natives on such islands as Bikini and Eniwetok were moved in 1946 to Kili and Ujelang. Other groups of Micronesians were displaced in 1954 from Rongelap and Utirik because of radioactive fallout. They have since been repatriated.

The Russian Arctic tests of September - October, 1961, ironically caused more animosity against the test than the testers. The situation today in the UN is that practically any resolution against atmospheric testing, if it doesn't mention or clearly refer to any particular nation or bloc, will automatically get about 90 votes and will provide untold decibels of screaming propaganda.

But even if the Kennedy Administration dared do what Khrushchev did, and defy world opinion in the name of national interests, the USA could conceivably be blocked from testing by action of the Trusteeship Council. The membership is worth noting.

The Trusteeship Council consists of three groups. The first is made up of countries which administer territories — the aforesaid, USA, New Zealand and the U. K., all members of the Western bloc. The second group consists of countries with no administration of territories — nationalist China, France and Soviet Russia. The third group is elected by the General Assembly, and is composed of Burma, Paraguay and the United Arab Republic until 1962, and Bolivia and India until 1963. The five permanent members of the Security Council, all included above, are required to be members.

It takes little imagination to anticipate ways in which Russia, along with India, Egypt and Burma, could use their memberships on the Trusteeship Council to thwart American plans for testing in the Pacific.

We would have to display a much bolder defiance of international pressure groups than has ever been indicated if we intend to put America's interests before all else. As fate will have it, Russia has vast Arctic wastes in which to test, while we have nothing of our own that is comparable. Russia doesn't care what other people think, and we do.

We are in a real bind, and the question is—Do we have the nerve to shoot our way out?

THE ALMANAC

By United Press International

Today is Sunday, Dec. 10, the 344th day of the year with 21 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1817, Mississippi was admitted into the Union as the 20th state.

In 1898, Spain signed the treaty of Paris officially concluding the Spanish-American War.

In 1901, the distribution of the Nobel Peace prizes was begun for the first time on the anniversary of the death of Alfred Nobel.

In 1906, President Theodore Roosevelt was informed that he had won the Nobel Peace prize for 1906 for his mediation in the Russ-Japanese War.

SHORTS

Washington

MADE TO BE BROKEN — Opening the first White House Regional Conference in Chicago, Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy announced, "Let me assure you that I did not come here to make any promises — all that is behind us now." The heavy Democratic audience roared. Continuing in the same vein, Kennedy told a mythical tale about dreaming of all the promises he and his brother, President Kennedy, made during the 1960 campaign. At the inevitable meeting with St. Peter in the dream, the attorney general related, he was handed a piece of chalk and told he could enter Heaven only if he wrote down every broken promise on the rungs of a ladder leading to the Pearly Gates. As Kennedy told it, he had climbed up the ladder pretty far, scribbling a broken promise on each rung, when someone passed him coming down. It was President Kennedy. "What are you doing up here?" Bobby said he asked. "I'm going down for more chalk," the President replied.

Police Nab Suspect On Bellhop's Tip

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A tip from a hotel bellhop led to the arrest Saturday of a former convict for questioning in the slaying of a negro school teacher.

The white man also was wanted for questioning in the attempted rape of a 14-year-old Rosenberg girl.

Homicide Lt. Frank Crittenden said George Laverne Trabing, 29, made a written statement in which he admitted killing Mrs. Winifred Jean Whitaker, 35, Houston, near Wallisville in Chambers County Wednesday night.

Police said Trabing was released from prison in May after serving part of a three-year sentence for assault.

U. S. Reports Interstate Roads Safer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 41,000-mile interstate highway system, when complete, will each year save the lives of more than 5,000 people who otherwise might die in traffic deaths.

This prediction was made Saturday by Charles W. Prisk of the Office of Research, Bureau of Public Roads. The bureau is in charge of construction of the system which is scheduled to be finished in 1972.

Prisk said his estimate was 25 per cent higher than a similar one made several years ago. He made the prediction in the December issue of "Public Roads."

Prisk based his forecast on statistics which he said show auto travel on the interstate system, now about one-fourth complete, is 2½ times safer than on conventional roads. He credited the greater safety to control of access, divided roadways and carefully planned interchanges.

Prisk's analysis

The fatality rate on urban portions of the interstate system already in use has been 2.0 deaths per 100 million vehicle-miles. On conventional highways the rate has been 4.0. One car traveling 10 miles covers 10 vehicle-miles. Two cars would cover 20 vehicle-miles.

In rural areas, where cars travel at higher speeds, the interstate rate has been 3.5 and the conventional rate 8.7.

"It appears the interstate freeways are about 2½ times as safe as the highways of earlier design they are replacing," Prisk said.

By 1973, the first full year of planned use of the entire interstate network, Prisk estimated fatality rates for conventional roads will have declined to 6.1 for rural travel and 2.8 for urban. By then the rural rate for the interstate system will have dipped to 3.0 and the urban rate still will be 2.0, he said.

Tax Increase For School At Crossett Okayed

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Crossett school patrons gave a resounding vote of approval to a two-mill tax increase at the annual school election.

The total vote of 232 counted in 207 votes for the increased millage and only 24 voting against it.

William C. Norman, school board president, was re-elected to a five-year term on the board, with 231 votes, and Willie Earl Baker was elected as a member at large to the county board. He received 223 votes.

In the Hamburg school district voters approved a five mill tax. Loost by a margin of 229 to 43. The district was operating on a 30 mill basis, which will now be raised to 35.

In a three-person race for a position on the Hamburg School Board Atlas Byrd was victor, receiving 182 votes, compared to 53 for Mrs. Imie Carpenter and 41 for Mrs. George Pugh. The position was that formerly held by Frank Franklin, who did not seek re-election.

RECALLS SAINT'S FEATS

Pope John Pleads For Church Unity

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII pleaded powerfully for world Christian unity Saturday by invoking the memory of Pope Leo the Great who, in the Fifth Century, stood up to Attila the Hun and dissuaded him from attacking Rome.

Leo I became a saint of the Roman Catholic Church. In his time he faced doctrinal heresy both in the West and the East while the declining Roman empire faced the assaults of barbarian hordes. He was especially remembered for maintaining the unity of the church.

In his sixth encyclical, "Aeterna Dei Sapientia" — the Eternal Wisdom of God — Pope John hailed the great pontiff and called for union of the world's Christian forces to face modern perils.

Awaited for weeks, the encyclical was dated Nov. 11, in commemoration of the 15th Centenary of the death of Pope Leo in 461. His reign began in 440.

Pope John did not mention the word communism. But Vatican sources said the pontiff obviously also intended the encyclical as a call to the world's Christian forces to band together against the threat of atheistic communism.

In his conclusion, Pope John said:

"May we be permitted to renew the most ardent wish that went forth from the soul of St. Leo; that is, to see all those redeemed by the Most Precious Blood of Jesus Christ reunited in the same militant church, resisting compactly and intrepidly the powers of evil which from so many sides continue to menace the Christian faith."

At another point Pope John implored:

"May the Lord deign that the dawn will soon rise of that blessed day of universal reconciliation."

Pope John's encyclical made it clear, however, that by Christian unity the Roman Catholic Church still believes in unity under the Pope's authority. Pope Leo, who called an ecumenical council dedicated largely to Christian unity, also held that belief.

One Of Wealthiest Men In South Dies

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Justin Potter, 63, who rose from a $45-a-month bank clerk to one of the South's richest men and a leading conservative spokesman, died Saturday.

He was president of Virginia-Carolina Chemical Corp., board chairman of Cherokee Insurance Co. and the holder of some 100,000 acres of Kentucky coal fields.

Ill since last June, the multi-millionaire financier, industrialist and insurance executive continued to direct his business interests from his hospital bed until shortly before his death. He died of cancer.

Potter was an outspoken foe of the Tennessee Valley Authority and took an active part in unsuccessful campaigns to unseat two of the TVA's strongest supporters, Sens. Estes Kefauver and Albert Gore of Tennessee.

Bold Policy Is Sought

1-Way Traffic Is Suggested For Country

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Most cities use one-way streets to speed the flow of traffic with safety. Now comes an expert who suggests we adopt the system for county and state roads, highways and freeways.

Kenneth A. Stonex, assistant director of the General Motors proving grounds at Milford, Mich., says he believes "the cost of the added travel distance would be less than the cost of accidents which would be avoided."

When Stonex speaks of one-way roads, he has considerably more in mind than the divided highways you find in increasing numbers. He wants really to put some distance between these roadways.

"I have never been convinced of the logic of building opposing lanes of traffic immediately adjacent," he declared in a paper he presented to the highway division session of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

"Traffic engineers have demonstrated in most of the communities in the United States of over 5,000 people that a system of one-way streets is effective in promoting the flow of traffic and reducing the number of accidents.

"These one-way streets are separated by at least one block, to me there is no practical reason why the opposing directions of flow of traffic on freeways, urban or rural, should not be separated by distances of several blocks, or several miles."

Stonex notes the design policy of the new interstate highway system under construction provides in most cases for a minimum of 36 feet between opposing lanes of traffic, a distance he considers wholly inadequate.

He suggests you try to recall more than a few isolated instances when driving at night where you could drive on the upper beam without annoying opposing traffic, or where oncoming traffic could use the upper, or driving beam without annoying you.

"This is not the only annoyance," he adds. "Headlighting permitted by current regulations of the passing beam is of questionable value in illuminating the elaborate signs required on freeways."

Stonex has other strong convictions about highway design. One concerns the need for gently sloping roadsides free of obstacles, ditches and trees.

He noted that nationally 30 to 35 per cent of all highway fatalities occur in accidents off the roadway where the driver collides with a roadside obstacle, or rolls over.

Car design has contributed greatly to off-the-road safety by a significant reduction in the over-all height of cars, Stonex says.

The center of gravity has dropped from a maximum of 26 inches in 1936 to a minimum of 20 inches in 1961, according to proving grounds tests. This greatly reduces the tendency of a car to roll over as it heads down a slope.

Speaking of the future, Stonex said there appear to be no insurmountable obstacles to automated highways. But he suggests they may be some considerable time in coming.

"A somewhat sticky problem arises in that the demand for automated highways is at a low level because there are no vehicles on the road with automatic control systems," he says, "and the demand among car owners for automatic car control systems is at a low level because there are no highways upon which such systems could be used."

Third Grader Is Christmas Story Winner

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Christopher Brock, a 9-year-old third grader, was instructed to write a Christmas story.

His story, a prize-winner at Montclair School, was entitled "The First Christmas" and was written this way.

"Once there was a lady who was very young this happened 2000 years ago her name was Mary.

"She lived in Mazareth.

"One day she kneeled down to pray then all of a sudden a angel apperd. She was frightened for a minute then angel she said hail full grace the Lord is with thee.

"She didn't know at first what the angel meant.

"He said you are going to have a great baby you are going to call him Jesuse.

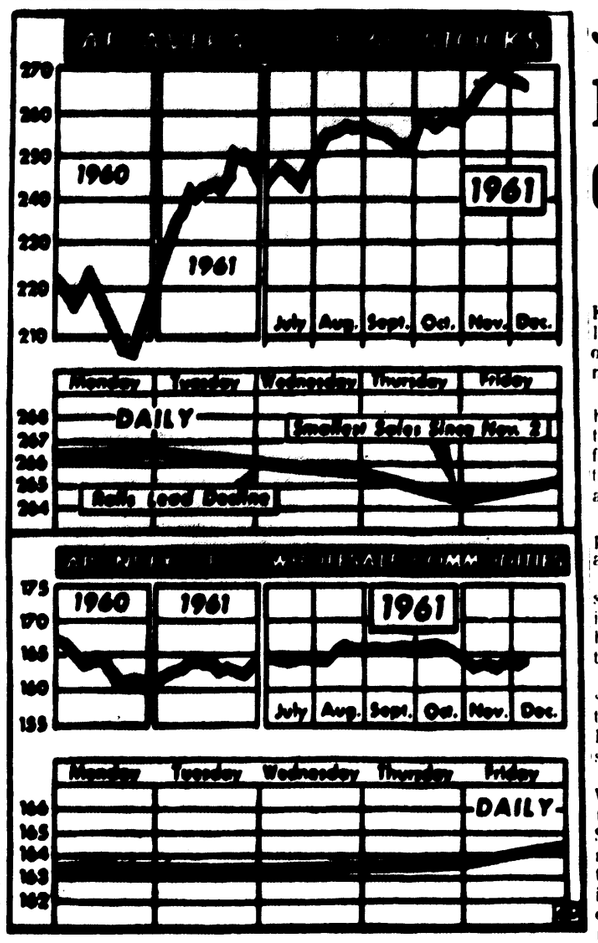
"One day Caser who the emperor of Bethlehem ordered every body who was born there was going to have to be in rolled.

"Mary was in the House of David. Joseph was from the House of David which was in Bethlehem.

"He met Mary on the way and got married.

"When they got there all the hotels and motels were filled up. They asked a man who owned a stable if they could rent it until Mary had her baby."

End of story.



THE ASSOCIATED Press average of 60 stocks declined for the third straight week, closing today at 265.1 from 266.3 a week earlier as indicated in the above chart. The commodity index pushed higher this week to 164.4 from 163.3 in the preceding period. Food showed the largest gain. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

DESPITE CONDITIONS

Hawkeye's Foreign Market Is Serious

NEW YORK (UPI) — Great grandfather Ira Pence started the Hawkeye Farm Equipment Co 83 years ago, the report said. It has a Canadian plant, a chain of sales branches, produces a good tractor and has found favor with some investors.

But in 1960, its sales dropped from $145 million to $86 million. Its tractor line, while sound, has not changed much since 1953. Its position in the overall farm market has been declining. Except for a fairly strong Canadian operation, it is weak in foreign markets.

Hawkeye makes plans, through a committee that includes all department heads. But they seem to come to little. There's the rub.

"... the present financial performance of the company, if allowed to continue for a few years will eliminate the need for any planning at all," says the only report in existence on Hawkeye.

Do not, however, go rummaging through desk drawers seeking Hawkeye farm equipment shares for quick sale. Hawkeye may not be the investors' idea of a dream company, but that is what it is. It exists solely in the mind of a group of economists, instructors and research men at Stanford Research Institute, and in their reports which told the story of Hawkeye in the fourth quarter issue of SRI's journal.

Walter Jeffrey of the economics division of the institute conceived the idea in November, 1950, and in the ensuing months before publication of "The Tribulations of Hawkeye—A Study in Planning," a dozen and a half men "set up" the company, its problems, and their suggested solutions or courses of action.

Hawkeye was presented as a company which, except for a fairly strong Canadian subsidiary, was weak in foreign markets. It has consistently financed through retained profits, making only seasonal short-term borrowings for working capital; it has a low cash position because it must carry large receivables and inventories; but the stock was favored by institutional investors because of a stable dividend record — none passed since 1933.

The points made by the members of the institute staff and of the graduate school of business at Stanford University included this observation.

"The situation at Hawkeye is not unique. The mistakes it has made are repeated again and again in United States companies in all industries."

It listed these as:

—Establishment of a "planning function" that lacks the enthusiastic and continuous support of top management.

—Failure to realize that the corporate planning function "should be the central rallying point for management and the point of unification."

—Failure to make needed studies on the future environment of the business.

—A feeling that planning is for the top "brass" only, and failure to encourage planning at every level, to be coordinated and directed by top management.

—Failure to couple planning with action.

JFK Appeals For Support On Trading

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy appealed to business and labor during the week for support of what he called a "bold and new" foreign trade policy.

He spread his proposal for broad-tariff cutting powers before the National Association of Manufacturers in New York City and the AFL-CIO convention in Miami, Fla.

Neither of these groups in the past has expressed much enthusiasm for lower tariffs.

Kennedy based his pleas for support on the argument that improved international trade will be a means of providing prosperity and more jobs.

The President seeks congressional authority to bargain on tariff reductions with Western Europe in broad categories instead of item by item.

Kennedy told the NAM: "If the West is to take the initiative in the economic arena, if the United States is to keep pace with the revolutionary changes which are taking place throughout the world, if our exports are to retain and expand their position in world markets, then we need a new and bold instrument of American trade policy."

He advised the AFL-CIO that it must support the endeavor to expand the United States' foreign trade or face the loss of jobs.

"If we cannot obtain new bargaining power to open up overseas markets, our export industries will wither—and American labor will lose jobs," Kennedy said.

"If American businessmen cannot compete from here for the growing purchasing power of the European Common Market, many more will build their plants over there and American labor will lose jobs."

Most members of both organizations apparently were waiting for the President's program to be spelled out upon submission to Congress in January before committing themselves definitely about his desires.

However, qualified approval of lowering international trade barriers had been expressed earlier by Chairman Ralph J. Cordiner of General Electric Co. But he said he was not commenting on any specific proposal.

Kennedy took the occasion of his appearance before the AFL-CIO to announce that the unemployment rate declined in November for the first time in a year. The rate dropped to 6.1 per cent of the work force from 6.8.

The total employment of 67,349,000 in November was a record for the month.

An encouraging development for the economy as a whole was the tremendous surge of new car buying. Sales of 584,960 U.S.-made passenger cars in November were the highest ever for the month, exceeding the 530,000 sold in that month of 1955 and 1960.

General Motors, Ford and American Motors set records for the month.

Total November production of 646,015 cars was second only to November 1955, the year in which sales set an all-time record.

Production continued to boom during the week with output estimated at 160,000, compared with 164,967 the previous week and 135,453 a year ago.

Spurred by increasing demand from automakers and other users, steel production last week posted its biggest gain in two months. Production of 1,073,000 tons was 2 per cent above the 2,032,000 tons turned out the previous week. Producers aimed at another increase, putting more facilities into operation at several plants. Some steel facilities which have been idle as long as 20 months were set to go back into production.

Another good sign was the Commerce Department report that combined record sales were registered by manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in October. The $63-billion total was 2 per cent ahead of September.

Forecasts of record production, income and profits in 1962 came out of a Washington conference sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Forty-four electric utilities serving 14 Eastern states filed treble damage suits alleging 21 makers of heavy electrical equipment fixed prices on purchases totaling more than $750 million. Defendants included General Electric Co., Westinghouse Electric Corp. and Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co.

Independents Fear Control Abandonment

Mandatory Import Program On Oil Seen As Problem

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — There is a growing fear among independent oil operators the mandatory oil imports control program is in danger of being abandoned.

The imports policy committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA) is to meet in Dallas on Tuesday to survey the situation and chart new strategy.

Alvin C. Hope, IPAA president from San Antonio, called the emergency meeting less than 48 hours after the White House last Saturday announced current imports quotas will continue until a new study can be completed by mid-1962.

Hope blames the delay in determining 1962 oil import quotas on what he calls a desire by President Kennedy's administration to press for an expansion of free world trade.

"I was chilled extremely by the White House announcement because you can't keep from tieing it with the levelling of all trade barriers," Hope said. "We had reason to believe a modest reduction in imports would be forthcoming but I fear now the odds are in favor of liberalization instead of tightening."

The man who is to succeed Hope as IPAA president on Jan. 1 agreed.

"Everything out of Washington has pointed to freer trade," said Harold Decker of Houston.

Both Hope and Decker left no doubt the imports policy committee will consider Congress as its best source of relief.

"From what has come out of the White House I would say going to Congress is our No. 1 answer," Hope said. "I would anticipate a favorable atmosphere in Congress. We might work through the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act or ask for specific legislation on oil only. There are a number of possibilities but I would think suggestion of a tariff would be impractical. The very word tariff these days would prejudice some areas."

A 1954 defense amendment to the trade agreements act provided the authority for the oil imports control program. The act comes up for renewal by Congress next year.

The new oil imports study ordered by President Kennedy will be made by the office of emergency planning.

"By the end of another six months action on the trade act will have been taken," Hope said. "It will either be renewed or thrown out. All implications of free trade now become involved in oil imports quotas."

Interior Secretary Stewart Udall began a study of the imports program last May with a series of public hearings. He advised Hope in October his recommendations for 1962 were being coordinated with other governmental agencies. He said he had recommended a reduction in import quotas but gave no details.

A White House announcement on 1962 quotas had been expected by mid-November but Washington reports later indicated Udall's recommendations had drawn opposition from the state and defense departments.

"Our first clue came when no other department supported interior's recommendations," Decker said. "Interior was left by itself."

14-PARISH DISTRICT

Oil And Gas Activity Scattered During Week

Activity last week in the Monroe Oil and Gas District was well scattered over the 14 parish area, with wells completed or placed in production in five parishes. Two new wells were finalled in the Monroe Gas Field in Union Parish, with others being brought in at producing sites in Catahoula, Concordia, LaSalle and Tensas.

Two new locations staked in Ouachita Parish were among a total of 18 new sites reported marked off throughout the area last week. A report from District Manager Duncan S. Cook showed heaviest activity concentrated in Catahoula Parish where four new locations have been staked. Applications were filed with Cook, an officer of the State Conservation Commission, for permit to drill. All but a few listed oil as the objective.

Cook's report also showed a total of 19 other wells actively drilling or testing in the district. Six wells were plugged and abandoned and inactive sites numbered 99 at week's end. The district map showed 64 locations overall.

There were two re-completions, one of them in LaSalle Parish (Hunt Petroleum Company's Goodpine Lumber Company No. F-8) and the other in Tensas Tenneco Oil Company's Harper State Unit No. 6.

Mart Drops For Third Week In Row

NEW YORK (AP)Stock market averages this week declined for the third straight week but new highs were made in a number of blue chips and Wall Street in general remained confident that prices would end 1961 in the traditional yearend rally.

Analysts took note of the fact that in the past 64 years, the Dow Jones industrial average has advanced 46 times and declined 18 in December. With business on the upbeat, the stock market community was confident.

The popular Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, however, showed a minor loss of .57 at 728.23.

Steels and autos were strong on the first two trading days but faded later in the week. The savings-and-loan rallied sharply as the week wore on and traders picked them up at "bargain" prices.

Manufacturers of heavy electrical equipment, including General Electric and Westinghouse Electric, were set back by news that treble damage suits had been started against 21 of such companies because of their price-rigging convictions. These stocks also staged a comeback.

A number of companies engaged in making antismog devices rallied in midweek on news that the directors of the Automobile Manufacturers Association had decided that all 1963 model cars should be equipped with these gadgets. The stocks in this group faded back from gains, then some of them rallied again.

The most active issue on the American Stock Exchange was Great Basins Petroleum, unchanged at 5⅝ on 419,400 shares.

General market agreement that short term interest rates are in the way up pulled bond prices downward.

Prosperous 1962 Predicted By Ford

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II, in his annual yearend statement, said Saturday he expects 1962 to be a solid, prosperous year for the general economy and the auto industry.

He predicted an increase of $23 billion in disposable personal income and of $4 billion in spending for new plant and equipment.

Ford pegged the gross national product at an annual rate of $560 billion, up from 1961 but under some other forecasts, specifically one by Prudential Insurance Co., issued Saturday which estimated the GNP at $566 billion.

In the auto industry Ford said sales for the first half of the year should be at an annual rate of nearly seven million units. If this rate holds for the full year, and Ford left this open, sales would be about 16 per cent higher than 1961.

Supports Talk, Loan Drops Hit Cotton Futures

NEW YORK (AP) — A sharp drop in loan entries and renewed talk of lower price supports next year depressed cotton futures the past week.

The one-two punch turned a generally firm market weak and left final prices on the New York Cotton Exchange 25 to 95 cents lower than a week earlier.

The amount of loan entries in the week ended Dec. 1 caught the market by surprise Thursday when the figures were announced. The possibility of a relatively pronounced cut in the 1962 crop price support level also circulated among traders.

Firmness early in the week was due to commission house buying and short covering. In addition, nearer positions were influenced by prompt stopping of notices of intent to deliver cotton in December. Light hedge selling and profit taking kept prices from going too high, however.

The official crop report issued Friday gave an estimate as of Dec. 1, of 14,304,000 bales, a reduction of 234,000 bales from a month earlier. The drop was about in line with trade expectations, however, so failed to influence the market to any extent.

The exchange's service bureau now estimates a total domestic supply for the current season of about 21.62 million bales. Expected distribution of about 14.35 million bales would leave a carryover next July 31 of around 7.3 million bales compared with last season's 7.2 million.

Exports in the week ended Tuesday were estimated at 71,000 bales compared with 101,000 a week previous and 150,000 a year ago. They brought the total for the season through Dec. 5 to about 1,736,000 vs. 1,577,000 a year earlier.

Baylor Races Over Utah State In Gotham Bowl

Gene Fullmer Retains Title On Knockout

By BOB MYERS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Body-belting Gene Fullmer of Utah retained his share of the world middleweight championship Saturday night when he pounded welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba into submission in the 10th round of their scheduled 15-round fight.

The end of the savage, bloody bout came after 2:31 of the 10th, with Referee Harry Krause tolling the 10-count over the 24-year-old challenger lying on his back, gamely trying to get up.

The Utah bruiser, ahead all the way, finally polished off Paret with three knockdowns in the riotous 10th, the last for the full count.

The first knockdown came early in the round as Fullmer sent the Cuban kid staggering into a neutral corner, where Paret slumped down and sat on the lower rope.

The referee waved Fullmer away, giving Paret a surprising mandatory 8-count and Krause admitted, after the fight ended, that he made a mistake. The 8-count had been waived for this title match.

The astonishing Cuban suddenly caught fire again and shook up Fullmer with a flurry of lefts and rights. But again Gene sent Paret bouncing to the canvas for a count of 2.

The end was evident and came soon after as a long Fullmer overhand right sent Paret feeling backwards and down for the final time.

The Cuban Kid's only knockout loss in 47 previous fights was by Emile Griffith, when Paret lost the welterweight title in Miami last April 1.

Paret regained supremacy of the 147-pound welterweight division by defeating Griffith in 15 rounds in New York last September. There was no question of Paret's gameness but he was no match for the bulling, relentless, bang - away punching of the champion.

Neville Players To View Cotton Bowl Grid Tilt

Members of the Neville High School 1961 AA state Football championship team yesterday were informed they would receive an all-expense paid trip to the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas, January 1.

A spokesman for a group, which asked not to be identified, said that following a meeting last Monday, they spent the remainder of the Week in raising money for the trip. The cost of bus transportation, game tickets, hotel accomodations, and food for the team will be approximately $2,000. All but $400 of the necessary amount has been raised.

According to plans the team will leave Monroe by bus on the morning of December 31 and spend that night at the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth. They will attend the game on New Year's day and return home that evening.

The group spokesman said, "This is being done in appreciation of the splendid season the team and coaches had."

He added that anyone wishing to help in sending the team may mail a check to the City School Board office.

First Annual Band Bowl Is This Afternoon

The Carousels and Knights take the field this afternoon at 2 p.m. on the LTI field in the first annual Band Bowl football game, providing rains don't wash the game out.

Reports on the field late Saturday were that the turf was soggy but playable.

And the two clubs, composed of ex-high school and college gridders, plan to have it out unless it is still raining at game time.

Trojans Get Two On Class-A Club

By RICK BRYAN
World Sports Editor
(Written for the La. Sportswriters Assn.)

Four schools landed two players apiece on a rugged, well-rounded Class A All-State first team selected by the Louisiana Sportswriters Association for the 1961 football season.

The schools, Tallulah, Plaquemine, Oakdale and Zachary, were all in the Class A playoffs as well.

A boy apiece from Mansfield, LaSalle of Olla and University High of Baton Rouge rounded out the squad.

Named from Tallulah, on the all-senior first eleven, were 215-pound tackle Billy Ross Graves and fullback Leonard "Pops" Neumann.

Oakdale came up with speedy halfback Jessie White and talented end Percy Doyle, while Zachary selections were back Ronnie Morgan, the state's leading ground gainer, and center Wilmer Mills.

Man-handling Mac Fife of LaSalle was the other guard and Davy Moreau of University High got the nod at the other end post.

Unanimous choices were the ends Doyle and Moreau, and the three running backs, Morgan, White and Neumann.

GOOD SECOND UNIT

Stalwart Richard Peoples from Tallulah and Paul Guidry of Breaux Bridge, who topped all pass receivers, were the ends.

Wayne McFarland, one of two Winnfield players on the entire squad, and Alcide Toups of St. Francis (Houma) were the tackles.

The center is L. B. Langley of Basile, who lost to Mills only after four tie ballots and the president's vote.

THE CREDENTIALS

Doyle, a 6-1, 185-pounder caught 23 passes for 317 yards and eight touchdowns in addition to being tough on defense.

Moreau snared 13 for 279 yards and two scores. He is a 6-2, 195-pounder.

Fife, a 5-9 and 195-pounds was decreed the meanest guard in district 1-A.

One of the big reasons Mansfield was second only to Winnfield in 1-A and a tough customer for both AA and AAA competition was the work of Beebe.

The 145-pound 5-9 signal caller accounted for 950 yards total offense this year. He completed 63 of 132 passes for 795 yards of this total and 11 touchdowns. He also ran for five more himself.

Morgan, a fantastic 5-11, 175-pound back for Zachary ran 275 times and gained 2077 points. He scored 163 points.

Neumann, the last of a family of great athletes, was the hardest running though not the heaviest of Tallulah's backs. The workhorse of the Trojan squad, Neumann gained 949 yards on 115 carries and score 48 points.

White, 5-8, 140-pounder from Oakdale, galloped for 1,296 yards on 139 tries and scored 106 points.

Guidry from Breaux Bridge, led all ends with 36 receptions for 616 yards and 11 touchdowns.

Buxton picked up 1,039 yards total offense for the season. He passed for 978 of these yards by hitting on 75 of 144 passes for 16 touchdowns.

Jones, the Ferriday ace, scored 169 points and rambled for 1,062 yards, while Callahan gained 674 yards and scored 121 points and Gosnell romped for 1,100 yards.

Texas Romps Over Tulane Five, 90-65

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas was hot from the field, featured a fast break and dominated the backboards Saturday night to hand Tulane its first defeat of the season, 90-65.

The Longhorns rolled up 50 points in the first half and led 50-41.

The scoring diminished somewhat in the second half but Texas was still hot in its percentage from the field. The Longhorns hit 54 per cent in the first half and 56 per cent in the second. Texas also outrebounded the Greenies 57-23.

Seven Texans hit in double figures.

The lead changed hands eight times in the first half with Texas going ahead for good 23-21 on Jack Dugan's jump shot with 8:30 left in the first half.

Ferriday Opens District Race Against Tallulah

FERRIDAY (Special) — The Ferriday High Bulldogs travel to Tallulah Tuesday for their first District 2-A game of the season.

Coach George McConathy feels that he has a strong team and that they will be in the district race all the way.

Vernon Alford and Billy Frenette have been the leading scorers for the Bulldogs, averaging 17 and 16 points respectively. Not to be overlooked however, is the fine rebounding of John Richey and Red Walker, and the outstanding defensive work of Joe Webber and Frenette.

FINE RECORD

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Browns have failed to finish first only four times in either the All-America Conference or the National Football League of the 15 years Paul Brown has served as head coach.

Bear Defense Plays Large Part In Win

By STEVE SNIER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ballhawking Baylor converted four of its five fumble recoveries into three touchdowns and a field goal Saturday and whipped previously unbeaten Utah State, 24-9, in the first Gotham Bowl football game before a box office flop crowd of 15,123.

	UTAH STATE	BAYLOR
First downs	10	14
Rushing yardage	153	113
Passing yardage	41	153
Passes	3-14	16-30
Passes intercepted by	1	2
Punts	5-36.6	6-31.0
Fumbles lost	5	2
Yards penalized	32	16

Only a fat fee from nationwide television made the game worthwhile financially for the two teams, who split 75 per cent of the total proceeds. TV rights were estimated at $100,000.

Baylor Ace Ronnie Bull smashed through Utah State's three-quarter ton line on a 15-yard touchdown run in the first period and quarterback Don Trull contributed a two-yard scoring plunge, then a 39-yard touchdown pass to end Tom Plumb. In between, end Carl Choate, who kicked all three conversions, added a 22 - yard field goal.

Bull also fumbled away an almost-certain touchdown on Utah State's 13 as the first half ended and another apparent Baylor score in the third period, a Trull pass to Jim Ingram, was nullified by an offside penalty.

High Scoring Team

Utah State, the nation's highest scoring major college team with a 38.7 average, failed to get out of its territory in the first half but scored in the third period on a 36-yard field goal by Jim Turner and in the fourth on a 4-yard run by Bill Munson. It was Utah State's fourth bowl appearance and fourth defeat.

It was a hard-hitting game in 35-degree weather, resulting in frequent ball handling errors. Baylor intercepted three passes as well as recovering five fumbles and Utah State launched its scoring drives after recovering a fumble and intercepting a pass.

Utah State's second-string tackle Clyde Brock, a 271-pounder, was held out of the game because he reportedly had signed a pro contract with the Chicago Bears and Utah State elected not to jeopardize its chances by using an ineligible player.

Baylor ran up a 10-0 halftime lead on Bull's 15-yard blast over left guard in the first period and Choate's 22-yard field goal in the second. Halfback Tommy Minter set up Bull's touchdown by recovering Ron Prince's fumble on Utah State's 45. Minter picked up 14 around right end and a pass interference penalty gave Baylor a first down on the 15. Bull scored standing up on the next play.

Recovered Fumble

Bobby Lane recovered a fumble punt by Tommy Larscheid of Utah State on Utah State's five in the second period and, when Baylor could get nowhere on the ground, Choate booted a 22-yard field goal.

Utah State scored for the first time early in the third period when tackle Allan Nelson recovered a fumble by Sonny Wharton on the Baylor 19 where, on fourth down, Turner kicked a 36-yard field goal.

Baylor guard Bob Mankins set up another Baylor touchdown in the third period when he recovered a fumble by Roger Leonard on Utah State's 20. Trull finally sneaked over for a touchdown when Prince fumbled and Ronnie Stanley recovered on the Baylor 17. Baylor then drove 83 yards in seven plays with Trull passing the last 38 to Plumb.

Midway through the final period, a pass by Stanley was intercepted by halfback Bob Novotny on the Baylor 16 and Utah State produced a touchdown in three plays with Munson running over from the four. An attempted conversion run failed.

Cardinals Stop Northeast Despite Second Half Rally

BEAUMONT, Tex., (Special) — Lamar Tech weathered a fine second - half comeback by Northeast, down by a 32-5 count in the first half, to register an 88-78 decision.

Off to a cold start, Northeast rallied to pull within one point of Lamar's Cardinals in the second half before the home - standing five pulled farther ahead to salt away the victory, their third of the season against two defeats.

Lanny Johnson triggered the second - half rally for Northeast, getting 21 of his game - leading total of 30 points. Big Robert Cook was second in Northeast's scoring with 11 and John Vaino picked up eight, all in the first half.

Big 6-8 Weley Newman led the well - balanced Lamar attack with 20 points and pulled down 14 rebounds to lead both teams in that department.

The Indians were ice - cold in the opening minutes of the game. Lamar jumped off to a quick 6-0 lead with Smith contributing a pair of field goals before Cook dropped in a lay-up with 4:15 gone in the game for Northeast's first points.

With reserves in action for both clubs, Northeast battled the Cards on fairly even terms the last 10 minutes of the half with a lineup of Varino, Linder, Jerry Salley, Cook and Jerry Smelling seeing most of the action.

By intermission, Northeast had wittled the lead to 45-32 and then Johnson took over in the second half.

The Indians chopped away at the lead in the early moments of the second period and finally pulled to with one point of the leaders, 59-58, with 9:43 left in the period. Johnson contributed eight points in an 11 point burst by the Indians.

But Lamar weathered the crisis and with 6:56 remaining had stretched its slim lead into a more comfortable 71-62 lead.

From this point on, the Cards slowed the action, held on to their lead, and finished 10 points ahead.

The Indians had trouble before they ever got to the ball game. One of the three cars carrying the team to Beaumont broke down about 70 miles outside of Texas City and five of the players did not reach the gym until about 30 minutes before the scheduled game time. The contest, which had been set for 7:30 p.m. didn't get under way until around 8 p.m. because of a late finish in a high school preliminary.

Northeast travels to Delta State Tuesday and will host Lamar Tech in Brown Hall Gym Thursday night.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams, with nothing left to gain but satisfaction and yardage, got a lot of both Saturday and upset the Baltimore Colts 34-17.

Quarterback Zeke Bratkowski threw two Ram touchdown passes, one covering 68 yards, and Jon Arnett and Dick Bass each helped set up a Los Angeles score with 55-yard kickoff returns. Jim Welch ran 60 yards for a Baltimore touchdown on a fake kick play.

The Colts went ahead again on a 71-yard drive late in the first period. A 36-yard pass from Unitas to Jim Mutscheller put the ball on the Rams' 35 and Lenny Moore, taking a pitchout, ran it to the 22. Joe Perry carried it over, but suffered a pulled thigh muscle and was out the rest of the game.

Rice Cagers Down Tigers With Shipley

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Ollie Shipley scored 21 points and his teammates made good use of the free throw Saturday night as Rice beat Louisiana State 79-67.

LSU had a strong rally going late in the game and pulled within five points of the Owls. But the rally vanished in the face of free throws as three LSU players fouled out.

Rice had a 36-25 lead at half time and padded that to an 18-point margin before LSU started to rally.

Bob McLoughlin had 21 points for LSU.

Claude Patrick Repeats As Class B All-State Pick

By CHARLIE MEYERS
Lake Charles American Press
(Written for Louisiana Sports Writers Assn.)

The three, Hoyle Granger of Oberlin, George Haynes of Clinton, and Trigger Allen of Plain Dealing, not only shredded the opposition for an amazing collection of statistics, but each led his respective team into the semi finals of the state playoffs.

Joining this group in the backfield are Claude Patrick of Holly Ridge, along with Granger the lone repeater from the 1960 team. Alex LaCroix of St. Joseph of Rayne and Allen Lassere of St. James, the other team in the state semi finals.

CLAUDE PATRICK

Granger, a backfield giant at 6-1 and 210 pounds, ranks as the state's scoring leader over the regular season with 199 points. The bone-crushing fullback accomplished this amazing feat in only 116 carries, which also netted him 1435 yards for a healthy 12.5 average.

Haynes, whose credentials include 1416 yards rushing on 127 attempts and 176 points, second only to Granger in the state, waited until the playoffs to really cut loose.

The 180-pounder scored an astounding 43 points in Clinton's victory over Patterson in the second round. Haynes also owns a 40.6 punting average.

Allen, the speedster of the group, scampered for 1617 yards to match Granger's 12.5 per carry average and scored 114 points.

Patrick, a stocky 190-pounder, rushed for 1132 yards and scored 101 points in leading Holly Ridge to the 2-B title.

St. James, making a run for its third straight state title, got plenty of help from Lassere, who charged for 949 yards and 81 points.

St. Joseph's LaCroix came closest to matching the three leaders, rushing for 1256 yards and scoring 132 points. The speedy halfback also caught 20 passes for 460 yards and, like Haynes, carries a 40-yard punting average.

The two quarterbacks, Bobby Genovese of AIC and Sammy Palazzotto of LSD, form the passingest combination the team has had in years.

Genovese, who specializes in throwing the touchdown pass, hit on 19 on them during the season while completing 54 of 100 passes for 874 yards.

Palazzotto completed 55 of 105 for 1305 yards and 13 touchdowns.

The tackle corps, anchored by Harrison Durio of Oberlin and Jerry Richardson of Vidalia, are particularly solid. Anthony Resignola of Sacred Heart of Morgan City and big Ed Rougeau of St. James, biggest man on the team, at 225, round out the group.

So fast were Durio and Resignola that they were used at linebacker on defense, an almost unheard-of post for a tackle.

The guards, Randy Slay of Logansport, Ruben Morales of South Cameron, George Charlet of Clinton and Pat Schultz of St. Michael are also a speedy group. Schultz, at 6-2 and 205, is the other 200-pounder in the line.

Glenn Crochet of St. Joseph of Chauvin and Marshall Tilley of Haughton, two players who attracted rave notices although their teams did not win championships, hold down the dual center post.

Last, but far from least, is a quartet of ends who caught a total of 147 passes for 2548 yards.

Leading the group is Jeff Lambrecht of Louisiana School for the Deaf, who caught 36 passes and carried them for a whopping 726 yards and eight touchdowns. Frankie Dupont of St. John of Plaquemine caught the most, 46, but took them for but 600 yards. The 175 - pounder scored seven times.

Henry Keeth, Plain Dealing's fleet flanker hauled in 35 aerials, good for 706 yards and six scores.

Felix Dejean of AIC outdid all of the ends in the matter of touchdown passes, nabbing 12 among his 30 receptions. Dejean gained 516 yards via the aerial route.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain scored 61 points Saturday as the Philadelphia Warriors defeated the Chicago Packers 135-113 in a televised National Basketball Association game before about 3,000.

Army Fires Hall; Didn't Beat Navy

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP) — Dale Hall was dismissed Saturday as Army's football coach because of the failure of his teams to defeat Navy in the annual service classic. His contract still had another year to run.

The 37-year-old coach from Paison, Kan., took over the Cadet gridiron forces, as the successor to Col. Earl H. Blaik, at the start of the 1959 season and successively lost to the middies 43-12, 17-12 and 13-7. The third defeat was administered only last Saturday at Philadelphia as President Kennedy and 100,000 other fans sat in the stands.

In making the announcement, Col. Emory S. Adams, Army athletic director, said that Hall, an outstanding halfback under Blaik in the 1940's, would be paid in full for the remaining year. Hall originally signed a three-year pact but it was extended a year ago to include the 1962 season.

Col. Adams also said that in seeking a successor that Army would not be bound by its graduate system of the past and that "as far as we are concerned the field is wide open. We want the best man we can get for the job." He added that the new coach would name his own assistants. Hall had five aides.

Always in the past Army has used alumni as coaches. Dropping of the graduate coaching system, which arch rival Navy did in 1931, makes Henry (Hank) Foldberg a possible successor to Hall.

Foldberg, a lineman under Blaik never graduated. He now is coach at the University of Wichita where his team won the 1961 Missouri Valley championship and earned a spot in El Paso's Sun Bowl game opposite Villanova.

Hall took his dismissal bitterly. "The decision came as a shock," he said. "While no mention was made of our lack of success against Navy, I am certain this was the principle reason.

"I personally feel that football at least personnel-wise is in a sounder position now than when I took over three years ago. There were at that time 18 players of varsity caliber. Next fall, there will be some 50 men of varsity ability available.

"I cannot divulge my immediate plans other than to say that I am weighing the possibility of remaining in football. The best personal advice I can give to my successor is to beat Navy."

In mid-season, when Army lost unexpectedly to West Virginia, there were reports that Hall's job was in jeopardy if his Cadets did not stop Navy in the season's climax although the Cadets defeated bowl-bound Penn State in a major upset. Last year, Army mastered Syracuse and deadlocked Pittsburgh in games that were expected to go the other way.

DALE HALL

Members of the Army athletic board met virtually every day last week to discuss the football situation, often with Maj. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, the academy superintendent, in attendance.

Early Saturday the board decided to drop Hall and notified him of its decision. He had just returned from New York City, where he had been attending the convention of the Eastern College Athletic Conference and arranging future football schedules.

He was hurt in the final quarter of the game, won by Baylor 24-9. The hospital said he apparently had a double fracture of his right leg.

DE LA SALLE QUARTERBACK Walter Bacino, 10, sweeps right end on the start of a 33-yard scoring jaunt in the De La Salle-Warren Easton triple-A semifinal football game. Easton halfback Danny Patterson, 29, almost caught the fleet Bacino before he dashed into the end zone. De La Salle won the game, which was played in a driving rain for one period, 13-0 and will meet Istrouma next Saturday for the State title.

THIRD ROUND

Sikes, Farrell Lead At Gables

By THEODORE A. EDIZER

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Dan Sikes, playing his first tournament tour, and Bill Farrell of Springfield, N.J., grabbed the third round lead in the $20,000 Coral Gables Open Golf Tournament Saturday with 54 hole totals of 8-under-par 205s.

JOHNNY HUNTSMAN, former West Monroe Rebels quarterback now a senior at Graceland College, Lamoni, Iowa, has been named to the all - conference football squad of the Missouri College Athletic Union. He quarterbacked Graceland to a 5-2-2 season this year, third place in the conference, and was named honorary captain of the year recently. He completed 65 of 127 passes for 921 yards and 12 touchdowns, led his team's total offense with 1,091 yards and punted 1238 yards for a 32.6 average. Huntsman is married and the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Huntsman, West Monroe.

Sikes, 30, of Jacksonville, a former National Publinx champion, fashioned a 3-under-par 68 with the help of a mallet-headed putter to which he changed a week ago. He bagged four birdies on putts ranging from 5 to 20 feet in carding 34-34.

Farrell, in a four-way tie at the halfway point, used his irons to good advantage to keep up the pace with a 35-34—69. His driving also was improved and he had a 300-yard shot on the first tee.

Trailing the leaders by two strokes was George Knudson, Toronto, who had a par 71 for 207 The Canadian, one of Friday's leaders, carded 35-36.

Tied at 208 were Bill Collins of Miami, another of Friday's pacesetters; 24-year-old former University of Georgia golfer Tommy Aaron, and Argentine Chico Miartuz.

Collins came in with a 1-over-par 36-36—72 as wind appeared to bother him.

Aaron shot an eagle 3 on the 482-yard 11th hole as he hit a 4-iron on the green, then putted 10 feet.

A "trick" shot got Miartuz out of trouble on the 11th. It enabled him to post a 35-34—69. Stymied against a tree, the Argentine dug out the ball from the roots with a 2-iron and threaded it through the branches into the clear.

Low amateurs were Truman Connell of Jupiter, Fla., and Chuck MacCallum of West Palm Beach, Fla., tied at 224.

Connell shot 70 and MacCallum 76.

Dave Hill of Denver, one of the 36-hole leaders, had the hard luck story of the day. He triple-bogeyed the 402-yard par 4 seventh. His drive hit a building and he lost the ball. He teed off again and landed in water. He finished with 211.

De La Salle Tops Easton Squad, 13-0

NEW ORLEANS (AP) —De La Salle sloshed through rain and mud to take a 13-0 fumble-punctuated victory over Warren Easton Saturday and move into the Louisiana triple-A football finals.

The Cavaliers, ranked third in the final Associated Press poll, will meet Istrouma in New Orleans Dec. 16 for the schoolboy championship. Game time is 2:30 p.m.

A hard rain which started at the opening kickoff turned City Park into a muddy lake and by the end of the first quarter the slippery ball was being fumbled repeatedly.

Easton fumbled nine times and De La Salle five.

Halfback Malcolm Coco, a 170-pound junior, swept left end for 11 yards and De La Salle's first touchdown late in the first period. The score came after the Cavaliers moved the ball from their own 29 to the Easton 18 and an exchange of fumbles.

Early in the second stanza, De La Salle tackle Walter Boudreaux scooped up a 'obble by Easton quarterback David Pecquet on the Eagle 42. Four plays later quarterback Walter Bacino scampered 33 yards for De La Salle's final touchdown. John Anderson, the top scorer in triple-A this season, booted the conversion.

The teams plowed back and forth on the soggy field for the remainder of the game with neither squad able to mount a sustained drive.

De La Salle got nine first downs to Easton's three and rushed for 177 yards. Easton gained 12 yards on the ground and picked up 24 yards in the air on Pecquet's three completions of six tosses.

Coco was the leading rusher with 56 yards on 11 carries. Mike Peyret, a 175-pound guard, was Easton's top defender with seven individual tackles and six assists.

Georgia Edges Georgia Tech By 70-67 Count

By DAVE MOFFIT

ATLANTA (UPI) — Georgia's Bulldogs, paced by the sharp shooting of senior guard Allan Johnson, beat Georgia Tech Saturday night 70-67 to mark the first time in 10 games over a four-year span that the Bulldogs have been able to beat the Yellow Jackets.

Johnson,, the only starting back from last year's Georgia team, scored a total of 25 points and his free throws during the closing minute of play turned out to be the points the Bulldogs needed to stay ahead of the hard-pressing Jackets.

Georgia Tech opened the ball game as though it would humiliate Georgia and the Bulldogs didn't even score until after the first six minutes of play.

But Georgia, down 11 points in the early going, kept pecking away and trailed by only four points, 40-36 at halftime.

In the second half Georgia Tech started out just as cold as Georgia had in the first, and by midway of the period the Bulldogs were sitting on a 13-point lead, 61-48.

Georgia Tech led by little Frank Lendrey, who tallied a total of 21 points and buzzed around the court like a real Yellow Jacket, went into an all-court press in the closing minutes in a desperate effort to regain the lead but Johnson's free throw shooting held them at bay until the clock ran out.

Ohia State Buckeyes Top Wake Forest Five, 84-62

Ohio State took the lead with less than three minutes remaining in the half at 30-28 on a field goal by John Havelick, 21 year old 6-5 forward from Lasing, Ohio, after 6-4 forward Robert Knight had tied the score 28-28, breaking Wake Forest's dominance of the eary minutes of the game.

The game was tied up six times in the first half with the Buckeyes going out at the half with a 37-31 lead.

The Deacons, ranked No. 3 in the nation, could not keep pace with the speedy Ohio State team.

The hard-fought game before a capacity crowd of 8,200 in Memorial Coliseum featured a duel between two of the big basketball men of the nation — all-America Jerry Lucas of the Buckeyes and Len Chappell of Wake Forest, both powerful scorers.

Lucas was high man for the game with 23 points with Chappell topping the Deacons with 18 points. Melvyn Nowell, 6-2 guard, dumped in 19 points for Ohio State while Dave Wiedeman hit 13 points for the Deacons to trail Chappell.

Lucas and Chappell faced each other the last time at Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 1, 1960, in the first varsity game for each. Ohio State won that one, too, with Lucas edging Chappell in scoring 16 to 9.

Colorful Deacon COACH Horace (Bones) McKinney, known for his game antics, failed to perform for the hometown audience—with only a few arm wavings on personal foul counts.

Ohio State dominated the backboards and the free throw line, scoring on 34 of 66 field goals and hitting on 16 of 22 free throws. Wake Forest hit 22 of 65 field goals and 18 of 26 from the free throw line.

Ohio State, running wild in the second half, was ahead 70-45 with less than 10 minutes to go and with less than one minute held a commanding 20-point lead at 82-62.

LSU Scouts Already Get 11-Man Squad

BATON ROUGE, La., (UPI) — LSU football recruiters jumped with the midnight starting gun and signed a full, 11-man squad of graduating high school stars before going to bed. They were on the road again early today.

Four backs and seven linemen were added to the roster of next year's baby Bengals before Coach Paul Dietzel's crew retired. They included:

Washington Gets First Negro In Redskin History

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins signed the first Negro football player in their history, fullback Ron Hatcher from Michigan State.

By signing the 215-pound back, Redskins owner George Marshall relieved the pressure put on him earlier in the season by Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall. Udall had threatened to bar the Redskins from Washington's new federally-owned stadium next year unless they dropped their ban against Negro players.

With Hatcher in the fold the pressure is also eased on Marshall to sign his No. 1 draft choice, All-America Ernie Davis from Syracuse, also a Negro. Davis is being sought by Buffalo and New York in the rival American Football League and the bidding for his services could make him an expensive acquisition.

Mallon Faircloth Voted Top SEC Soph. For 1961

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) Tennessee tailback Mallon Faircloth, a 182-pounder from Cordele, Ga., is the Southeastern Conference Sophomore of the year. He was selected in the annual poll conducted by The Jacksonville Journal.

Fairbloth, who led the Vols to a 6-4 record, was a nearly unanimous choice. He receceived 11 first place and one second place votes from a 12-member panel of sports editors.

Second choice was Auburn fullback Larry Rawson. Georgia quarterback Larry Rakestraw placed third. Ten players received scattered votes in The Journal's fifth annual poll.

Cincinnati In 86-67 Victory Over Badgers

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — A tall, and talented Cincinnati ran its win streak to 25 Saturday over previously unbeaten Wisconsin 86-67.

Cincinnati, defending NCAA champion and the No. 2 ranked college basketball team in the nation, rolled to a 44-24 halftime lead. The Bearcats played with second stringers in the last half and the Badgers just held their own.

Center Paul Hoge dominated play in the first half and scored 15 points in the game. He sat out most of the second half. The Bearcats had a balanced attack, with five players in double figures.

Wisconsin, which went into the game with a 2-0 record, scored the first basket in the game, but fell behind steadily thereafter throughout the first half. The Badgers were unable to penetrate the Bearcats' man-to-man defense until the Cincinnati reserves took over.

DEFEAT BRONCOS

New Mexico Gets 28-12 Bowl Win

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — New Mexico unleashed a flock of fleet-footed backs Saturday en route to a 28-12 victory over Western Michigan in the first annual Aviation Bowl.

A sparse crowd that braved cold snow, sleet and rain watched the action-packed contest.

The post-season battle was billed as a duel between New Mexico's running game and the passing of the Broncos' Ed Chlebek. In the end it was the swift gridders from Albuquerque who came out on top.

Halfbacks Bobby Santiago and Bobby Morgan sparked the Lobos' powerful ground game that rolled up 339 yards rushing. Santiago, a 5-foot-8, 160 - pound junior, was tabbed as the back of the game for his first half heroics, while teammate Chuck Cummings, a guard, won the lineman-of-game honors.

The Skyline Conference team completely ignored the frozen and slippery turf in racing to a 14-6 halftime advantage. Coach Bill Weeks' team added two more touchdowns in the third period, and coasted to the win despite the aerial artistry of Chlebek.

PINEVILLE (Special) — Patricia Ann Holloway, 19-year-old sophomore education major and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Holloway, of Sterlington, has been selected "Miss Louisiana College of 1962."

The beautiful 5-foot-7, 125-pound brunette, was also voted "Miss Congeniality" by the 11 other contestants participating in Louisiana College's second annual Beauty Pageant Friday night in the Alexandria Hall auditorium.

Miss Holloway, a 1960 graduate of Ouachita Parish High School of Monroe, was crowned by Peggy Sue Koch, Eunice senior and outgoing "Miss Louisiana College of 1961," as a climax of the colorful event.

Second runner-up was Marilyn Perry, freshman and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Perry, Shreveport.

Winning fourth place was Gwynne Clark, junior education major and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark, Hidalgo, Tex., who also placed first in the talent contest with a soliloquy from "The King and I."

Placing fifth was Emma Kay Allen, freshman advertising art major and daughter of Mrs. Louise Allen, Bastrop.

Miss Holloway, who presented a dramatic reading for talent judging, received a loving cup and two scholarships—one to the famous Mr. Lynn School of Charm, Shreveport, valued at $300, and the other to the well-known Patricia Stevens Finishing School, Monroe, valued at $135.

The new "Miss L. C." also participated in last year's Beauty Pageant. She was a member of the college's Homecoming Court of 1960 and 1961. Last year she was also selected as a "Freshman Class Favorite."

This year she is serving as treasurer of the Cadmian Society, representative to the Student Congress, and is a member of the Booster Club.

Mistress of ceremonies was Lyndra Frances Pate, "Miss Louisiana of 1962" and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Pate, Shreveport.

Other contestants included Brenda Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Walker, Jonesville, and Norma Turner, daughter of Mrs. Ione Turner, Monroe, both juniors.

Barbara Huffington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Huffington, Route 1, Pineville, Dorothy Dunham, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. M. D. Dunham, Ketchikan, Alaska, and Sandra Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rea Allen, McAllen, Tex., all sophomores.

Sandra Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Stewart, Jackson, Miss., and Linda Crowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Crowe, Bastrop, both freshmen.

Serving as judges for the extravaganza were Mrs. Mabs Jolissaint, director of the Patricia Stevens Finishing School, who coached Lynda Lee Mead, "Miss America of 1960", Sharon Brown, "Miss U.S.A. of 1961", and Earline Howell, "Miss U. S. A. of 1958". Mrs. Margory Hedge, chaperon and manager of Miss Pate ("Miss Louisiana of 1962"), Temple Smith, minister of Music at the First Baptist Church of Orange, Tex., and Jean Phares, Rapides Parish district attorney, and Mrs. Phares.

James K. McNair, junior from Jonesville and editor of the 1962 Pine Knot, directed the Pageant. He was assisted by Mary Louise Davis, Bunkie senior.

The skirt featured two lace panels down the front and tiers of Chantilly lace and tulle in back which extended into a chapel train. MR. AND MRS. MORGAN WART

Doris Wells Becomes Bride Of Mr. Wart

Crowville Baptist Church was scene of the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Doris Wells and Morgan Wart on November 24 at 8 p.m with Rev. Ira Curtis Griffin of Jackson, Miss., officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wells of Crowville and Mr. Wart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wart of Bossier City.

White candles in branched candelabra illuminated the setting which was centered around an arch of greenery and white carnations with baskets of carnations flanking the arch.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina length gown of white lace over taffeta fashioned with scalloped neckline, and molded bodice. The skirt came to a point at the waistline with tiny ruffles of tulle extending to the hemline in back. Her veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls, and fell waist length. She carried a bouquet of orchids showered with white satin streamers.

Miss Carolyn Killian of Shreveport was maid of honor. She wore a full skirted purple dress in street length and carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Annette Ford and Miss Bennie Lewis, both of Monroe, wore pink frocks styled with full skirts and carried bouquets of white carnations.

James Parker of Bossier City was best man and serving as groomsmen - ushers were John Donnell and Donald Middleton of Monroe. Terry Lee Wells, brother of the bride, acted as ring bearer.

The bride's mother wore a multi-colored blue and white dress trimmed in navy satin, with complimentary accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Wart chose a beige ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. The bride's table overlaid with a lace cloth was centered with the bouquets of the attendants. The tiered wedding cake, at one end of the table was served by Mrs. John Carson and the crystal punch bowl was presided over by Miss Dorthy Caldwell. Guests were registered in the bride's book by Miss Audrey Hoover of Shreveport and Mrs. Sue Donnell of Monroe.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a coffee brown dress with brown accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Crowville high school and is presently a technician at T. E. Schumpert hospital in Shreveport. Mr. Wart graduated from Bossier High School and Centenary College and plans to enter L. S. U. law school in Baton Rouge next fall.

Among the out-of-town guests were Jim Parker and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wart of Bossier City; Jean Romero, Houston, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Cartez and Mr. and Mrs. Bertie Peoples of Shreveport.

'The World Of Sounds' Created For Review Club

Mrs. Thomas C. Dansby was hostess for the December 5 meeting of the Review Club in her home on Glenmar Avenue.

A mass arrangement of white dahlias in a china compote was the focal point in the living room where the group assembled.

The vice-president, Mrs. Claude Smith, conducted the meeting which opened with the club collect in unison. Mrs. Smith read Christmas messages from Mrs. Lee Ozbirn, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Mrs. Paul Wright, president of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. N. R. Spencer, chairman of the advisory board, gave an introduction to the afternoon's program which was entitled, "The World of Sounds, Spectrums and Sacraments." Mrs. Spencer introduced Mrs. Robert Lewis and Mrs. James Brown, who reviewed books for the program. Mrs. Lewis' portrayal of Cecil B. DeMille's "Autobiography," showed the influence of Mr. DeMille's early childhood in the development of his talent which has given entertainment to the world for over a half century. "Listening to Music," by Winthrop Sargeant, reviewed by Mrs. Brown gave characteristics which make a good musical performance. Excerpts from Mr. Sargeant's criticisms of musical performances were given.

Following the program a conversational hour was held in the family room, where a Christmas atmosphere prevailed. A single red taper accented an arrangement of Professor Sargeant camellias. Red and white caroling figures, on a red felt cover, topped the white piano. The central decor for the serving table was a brass epergne which held a large gilded pine cone decorated with strings of cranberries and popcorn. Twigs of pine used at the base completed the arrangement. Mrs. Sam Smith served hot cranberry punch from an ironstone tureen. Brass trays held the party food.

Mrs. Sena Walters was a special guest for the afternoon and club members present were Mrs. W. E. Bennett Jr., Mrs. C. B. Braun, Mrs. James R. Brown, Mrs. W. T. Davis, Mrs. Dansby, Mrs. A. T. Givens, Mrs. C. P. Gray Jr., Mrs. D. W. Griffith, Mrs. DeWitt Henry, Mrs. Fred Huenefeld Jr., Mrs. W. M. Inabnet, Mrs. Robert Lewis, Mrs. Craig Morgan, Mrs. Claude Smith, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. N. R. Spencer, Mrs. L. N. Waddell and Mrs. George Walker.

by Denise

On Thursday morning, former Monroyan ANN HUMPHRIES LeJEUNE was guest of honor at a coffee party given by her sister, JANE PEARCE, in her home on Pargoud boulevard. Ann, here from Lafayette, visited Jane and their mother, INEZ HUMPHRIES.

A Christmas theme was carried out in decorations at the party. In the living room, a tall hurricane glass was filled with Christmas tree balls in shades of blue, turquoise and green. White carnations with clipped pine in blue bottles further carried out the color scheme.

The dining table, set up in the family room, was covered with a cutwork cloth and centered with a Christmas lantern used with cut pine and red apples. On the buffet was a crescent arrangement of magnolia foliage, pine, and pyracantha berries.

Those who assisted with the serving were ANN BREARD, BYRNIE SMITH, MARY EASON, JULIA RHODES, MAIDYE BRIMBERRY, Inez Humphries and MAE PEARCE. About seventy five friends called for a visit with the honoree between the hours of ten and twelve.

Each year Christmas festivities begin with the Charity Ball of the Junior Charity League. This year's party, held last Friday night at the Paragon, was the gayest affair in months. A theme of White Christmas was carried out in the ballroom, with garlands of white roses and silver leaves entwined in balustrades surrounding the bandstand. Towering behind the musicians was a large plaque covered with white roses and centered with the numerals "30" commemorating the league's thirty years of service to the community. Trees of silver leaves and white roses were espaliered against the wall. Each table was centered with white and silver pine cones and foliage. About four hundred danced to the music of Paul Neighbors and his orchestra.

Half the fun of a party is watching elegant clothes worn by guests . . . and this affair brought out some lovelies . . . League president ANNE BERNHARDT wore a full-skirted champagne beige organza overlaid with pale green lace. . . . Dance chairman MERILYN CLAY was in holiday red satin, styled with flared skirt and a fringed cummerbund. She wore pearls in her hair. . . . CODY ROSAMUND chose white chiffon with gold cummerbund, and full-length coat of gold brocade. . . . SUSAN WOODS shimmered in a sheath of blue and green sequins, with matching shoes.

There were a number of floor-length ball gowns. SANCEY MADISON's was of palest blue chiffon, with fullness caught to the back over a large rose. She wore a wrap of white fox. . . . Like a Snow Queen was LORETTA RIVERS in a full-length white crepe sheath. The sleeveless blouson bodice was completely covered with crystal and silver beads. She wore long white gloves, and a rhinestone coronet in her hair. . . . With a peacock blue chiffon, NELL FAUCETT wore eye-catching rhinestone earrings three inches long. . . . BETTY GEISLER's brocade in shades of green and beige was fitted nearly to the knees, where it burst into a pouf of beige organza. . . . White beads and iridescent sequins covered the bodice of MARY ALICE GALLAGHER's white peau de soie. . . . Also white, HAZEL CALLOWAY's chiffon featured a floral embroidery worked in pastel pink and orchid sequins.

Several small parties were held preceding and following the dance. One such affair honored the BRUCE GREGGS, who were celebrating their nineteenth wedding anniversary. Six couples were invited to stop by the COTHAD HADDADS, where the BUB CALLOWAYS were co-hosts. Champagne and hors d'oeuvres were served from the living room coffee table.

A dinner was given before the Ball at the home of the ROY LEDBETTERS, with the JAMES BROWNS as co-hosts. An arrangement of Buford holly decorated the buffet, while camellias centered individual tables where twenty-four guests were seated. Included on the menu were curried turkey in bread boats, cranberry salad, French beans and English peas with water chestnuts, and hot rolls, with brownies and coffee for dessert.

Following the dance, fourteen friends proceeded to the TOM HYLANDS for breakfast. Tomato juice was served in the living room, while on the dining room buffet chafing dishes held sausage, scrambled eggs, grits, hot biscuits.

A Christmas theme was carried out in decorations when the LAVELLE SALLEYS entertained at dinner Friday night. A large decorated candle graced the entrance hall, while a tree of candy canes was placed on a side table in the living room. Red carnations and greenery centered the dining table, where guests served themselves before being seated at individual tables. Included on the menu were roast beef, ham, shrimp salad, string bean casserole, fruit salad, potato salad, with Christmas cookies and coffee for dessert. Twenty-two attended.

On Wednesday, CAROLYN SHELTON invited a small group of friends for luncheon at home. Guests were seated at a marble-topped table centered with fruits and nuts. Carolyn served an extra-special meal of creamed chicken in patty shells, with marinated green beans and garnish of apricots stuffed with lemon-apricot marmalade. The dessert was made of layers of mince meat, crushed vanilla wafers, and whipped cream.

Also on Wednesday, EVA CLAIRE GINN entertained with luncheon at home honoring her houseguest, EONA FAYE GINN. Camellias decorated the table where eight guests were seated. The menu included a casserole of crab and shrimp, red and green crab apples, and string beans with New York cheese. Fruit cake with whipped cream was served for dessert. On Thursday the Ginns attended the Newcomers' club luncheon, and on Friday Eona Faye returned home to New Orleans.

On her sixteenth birthday, DORIS SOLOMON was honored with a luncheon at home. Doris wore a burnt orange outfit with a corsage of small green orchids. A seasonal arrangement of greenery was placed on the living room mantel, and pink and white camellias used throughout the house. Preceding lunch, the girls took part in a search game, finding pictures of the birthday girl and her friends taken through the years. Snapshots were scattered all over the house. BARBARA JACKSON won the prize for finding the most, with PEGGY SUTHERLAND finding the picture of Doris made in her sixteenth year.

Fruit, berries, and flowers were used to center two tables, with eight guests seated at each. Fresh fruit cocktail was served, with fried chicken spaghetti, mixed salad, peas and mushrooms in patty shells, and chocolate angel pie.

In lieu of a poem, today we offer two bits of advice for the Christmas shopper. First, Dick Emmons' warning to his wife:

Dear Wifey, when you Christmas shop
This year, don't go insane, dear;
I beg, implore, when in the store,
Don't fail to use the rein, dear.

1. Take the fur of a number of healthy sables. Stitch together carefully. Line.

2. Make an empty bracelet out of old gold by heating and bending. In various holes, carefully place several diamonds, rubies and emeralds. Allow to harden.

3. Take a piece of blank paper bearing the name of your bank. Write in the name of your beloved, plus some large numerals. Sign at bottom.

4. Out of gold leaf, cut your sweetheart's initials. Moisten and apply to a 1961 convertible. Let dry.

5. Take a plain gold band and engrave inside your initials and those of your true love. Deliver personally.

VISITORS FROM LAFAYETTE this week were Mrs. S. W. LeJeune and her daughter, Claire. They were guests of Mrs. Sam Humphries and Mrs. C. C. Pearce, Jr., and their families. Mrs. LeJeune is the former Miss Ann Humphries of West Monroe.

Rocking Chairs Appearing In Varied Styles

NEW YORK — "Rockin' Chair Blues" can be forgotten as a song as more and more furniture manufacturers turn their talents to this form of chair which is staging a big comeback. At their fall market, producers were quick to jump on the bandwagon, says Home Furnishing Daily.

The urge to verge into this field was given a big shot in the arm when President Kennedy's picture sitting in a rocker, front paged many newspapers throughout the country.

Now you can take your pick from the old fashioned type which Whistler's mother sat in to one which will rock coolly in a contemporary setting. The latter have something of a Shaker influence which makes them a good mixer with traditional furnishings. Backs are slatted, flat upholstered and woven.

Dottye Denmon Becomes Bride Of Terrell Brunet

In a double ring ceremony solemnized Saturday, November 25 at 2 p.m. in St. Matthew's Catholic Church of Monroe, Miss Dottye Denmon became the bride of Terrell Joseph Brunet. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Denmon of Forest and Mr. Brunet is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Brunet of New Orleans.

Rev. Warren Larroque performed the ceremony following a program of appropriate nuptial selections by the organist, Mrs. Louise Lesuzzo, which included the traditional wedding march and recessional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a waltz length gown of Chantilly lace over silk taffeta. The scalloped neckline was outlined with clusters of seed pearls and iridescent sequins and long sleeves tapered to lily points over the hands. A full peplum in front tapered to the hemline on each side and her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a crown of tulle petals and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of lily of the valley centered with a fuchsia-throated white orchid.

Mrs. Nita Denmon, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a gown of forest green peau de soie in afternoon length, styled with bell-shaped skirt. To complete her costume she wore matching pillbox hat, gloves and shoes and carried a heart-shaped bouquet of bronze pompon chrysanthemums with green streamers.

Serving as best man for Mr. Brunet was Larry Rambin of Shreveport and ushers were Larry and Terry Denmon, brothers of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Denmon wore a light blue wool jersey sheath with matching hat and gloves and a corsage of white feathered carnations. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Brunet wore a black crepe and satin dress, accented by green jewelry, a satin-trimmed velvet hat and off white gloves. Her corsage was also of feathered carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the Green Room of the Penn Hotel. The bride's table, covered with a white damask cloth was centered with an elongated arrangement of white stock, large chrysanthemums and palm leaves. The three-tiered cake at one end of the table was served by Miss Judith Edmonson and Miss Charlotte Standifer and the punch bowl opposite was presided over by Miss Christine Little and Miss Linda Lane. Miss Melba Riels presided at the guest book.

The couple will reside in Monroe where both are students at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Among the guests for the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Catron, Mrs. Emmett Standifer, Mrs. J. W. Alsbrooks, Mrs. Jax Holder, Mrs. Charles Little, Misses Judith Edmonson, Charlotte Standifer, Christine Little, Jacqueline and Linda Holder, all of Forest; Ronnie Flowers, of Kilbourne; Miss Melba Reils, Bastrop; Miss Linda Lane, Delhi; Miss Hazel Roberson and Miss Carolyn Wroten of Tallulah; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brunet; Mrs. Philip Massaro, Philip Massaro Jr., Delise Massaro, Mrs. A J. Turn Christmas Gift Wrappings Into Animals

Paint, paper, tape and tissue can be turned into puppies or piglets with a little ingenuity. Christmas pet presents are fun, easy-to-make and sure to be remembered. For example, with a spray of paint and three pink straws, a cottage - cheese container becomes a candy-nosed pig. A twist of tissue paper — and a cardboard tube turns into a lamb. With a snip, colored paper becomes a parrot's beak or a stork's bill or bunny whiskers, and paper bags turn into star-eyed ducks or fat little hippos or puppy dogs.

So get your scissors, buy some colored plastic tape and soda straws (to make grasshopper legs and such), and follow the directions below for your gift wrappings.

Paper bags turn into all sorts of animals: use a blue bag for a parrot, brown for a puppy, green for an elephant, pink for a hippo, white for a duck. Tails, ears, trunks, bills and the like can be cut from colored construction paper and taped or glued on.

Boxes make giraffes, piglets and rhinos. For a giraffe, spray a long box with yellow paint, cut side flaps into ears, turn front flap down for face. Add black plastic tape eyes; paste on colored paper spots and nose. Stuff shredded tissue in top. For a piglet, spray a cottage cheese box pink and add legs (drinking straws) and tail. For a rhino, use a gift wrap box and cardboard tube-legs.

Little Care Is Required For Yule Plants

AP NEWSFEATURES

A poinsettia will bloom again if it is kept in a temperature of about 60 degrees indoors. After it has bloomed it should be put in the cellar and kept dry. In May it may be cut back about half way, given light and in early summer, moved outdoors. Bring it indoors in September. The plant should be kept near light at night or it will not bloom.

Azaleas should be kept in a room about 50 degrees F. for best results and must be kept well watered in a loose soil.

Our Goulash Is Garbled

Cut a pound of beef brisket into cubes and place in saucepan. Fry six ounces of chopped onions in three ounces of lard. Sprinkle over the beef and add a dessert spoonful of sweet paprika, a little water and salt to taste.

Simmer. When the meat is almost tender add a pound of cubed potatoes, a sliced tomato and enough water for six soup plates. Simmer until meat is tender. Make a dough from six ounces of flour, an egg and a pinch of salt. Roll very thin, cut into little squares and boil it in the soup for two minutes before serving.

DARNING TIPS

If you tear a wool sweater or stole and the darn is noticeable, use single flowers cut from felt in matching or contrasting colors to hide the mending. A border of small felt flowers on an embroidered vine can trail over the darning if it is at the waistline.

Prevents Rust

Stacking and nesting tables stay out of the way until you need them. Then you pull them out quickly to give firm footing for a platter full of turkey or a bowl of popcorn. You can do the same trick with coffee tables, formed of square or wedge shaped units that "go to pieces" on demand.

Wista-Lou Anderson, Douglas White Exchange Vows In Candlelight Scene

In a candlelight setting Friday night, December 8 in Fellowship Baptist Church, Miss Wista-Lou Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson, became the bride of Douglas Jerry White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. White, all of Monroe.

Rev. Charles B. Littleton performed the double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. before the altar which was banked with massive arrangements of white chrysanthemums and stock. White tapers in branched candelabra flanked a center arch which was entwined with ivy and a white aisle cloth was used.

Mrs. Everett Zeagler, organist, presented a program of traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Charles B. Littleton as she sang "I love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar at conclusion of the ceremony.

Wearing a formal gown of imported Chantilly lace and delustered satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The long torso bodice of satin adorned with appliques of lace featured a modified Sabrina neckline encrusted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Long lace sleeves extended to lily points over the hands. A peplum formed the front of the bouffant skirt, dividing at the hemline with rows of scalloped lace. Back of the satin skirt extended into a chapel train, outlined with wide Chantilly lace and another wider row of lace completing the length. Her illusion veil in fingertip length cascaded from a demi-crown of sequins and pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses and orange blossoms.

Miss Sharon Kay Boyd of Monroe, attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a gown of American Beauty peau de soie, styled with scalloped neckline and three-quarter sleeves with a long torso bodice and very full skirt in street length. Her headdress of matching peau de soie was fashioned into petals forming a close fitting cap with brief veil attached. She wore American Beauty satin pumps and short white gloves and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Bridesmaids, Miss Dahnell McGuffee of Monroe, cousin of the bridegroom, and Miss Linda Kay Kitchens of Shreveport, wore short-sleeved gowns of brilliant Ruby peau de soie fashioned identical to the maid of honor's, with matching headdresses, and pumps and white gloves. Their bouquets were of Happiness roses.

Miss JoAnn Franks of Nederland, Texas, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Her dress of Persian Rose peau de soie was fashioned with cowl neckline and full skirt and a wide cummerband of imported silk organza which ended in a bow in back with streamers falling to the hemline. She wore ballerina slippers to match her dress, short white gloves and her headdress was a garland of flowers. She scattered rose petals from a peau de soie lined basket.

Serving as best man was Robert Scott LeBrun, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. Ushers were Jimmy McGuffee, cousin of the groom; Roy Martin Anderson, brother of the bride; Billy Ray Burford of Monroe and Johnnie Hill of Bastrop. Ring bearer was Carl Jay Travis, Monroe, cousin of the bride.

Candles wer elighted by Kenneth McGuffee and Kenneth Anderson.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. B. F. Franks, Billy Mitchell Franks and Robert Franks of Nederland, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Washburn and Royal Washburn of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Foster and Mrs. J. E. Mixon of Jackson, Mississippi; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Anderson, Rodger Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Jean Anderson, of Minden; Mr. and Mrs. Lazell Kitchens and family, Mrs. Leon Dayries, Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. James Foster of Jackson, Miss., and Mr. and Mrs. Marley Grice and Rebecca of Bogue Chitto, Miss.

Questions And Answers On Interior Decorating

By BETTY PEPIS

Q I have solid mulberry rugs, floral print in chartreuse, rose and deep green on sofa and chair; furniture is traditional mahogany. Front wall is partly covered by triple windows, double windows on end wall. What suggestions for walls, woodwork and draperies?

A You need lots of clear white, fresh bright colors to save your room from an old-fashioned look. Paint walls and woodwork white. Hang simple, washable draperies from floor to ceiling across entire front wall for look of size and importance. Trim these with clear, carnation pink ball fringe. Curtains at other windows can match, or more interestingly, be in pale pink to match fringe, be trimmed with same pink fringe. Pick up white and pink in accessories.

Q We have chosen forest green carpet for our living room and I am at a loss about color for walls, draperies and sofa. Two chairs are sandalwood, one rose and another in beige tapestry with tiny roses.

A Best wall color would be pale willow green or off-white. Repeat this color in deeper shade for curtains. Sofa might be palest sandalwood or green deeper than walls but lighter than carpet. Accessories such as pillows, ashtrays and the like in deep rose red or pale aqua, more white and perhaps more of the deep green of your carpet.

Q Have driftwood white walls and Wedgeood blue carpet in the living room. Plan to have gold draperies. What color for sofa and chair, a rocker and toss pillows?

A I would use gold color for sofa and chair and have the rocker covered in a print, a sturdy linen or heavy cotton, in blue, white, gold and maybe a touch of fresh green. Toss pillows in Wedgwood blue and gold. Have some green plants in room.

Eases Waiting

CHICAGO (UPI) -- A doctor in suburban Highland Park and a furniture manufacturer have produced a new prescription for making patients relaxed.

They are experimenting with early American decor in the medic's office, hoping its warmth and friendliness dispels the jitters which occur among the waiting patients. The early American touch includes a rocker next to the examining table, the Dearborn Co., the furniture firm reports.

Miro Book Club Hears European Civil War Views

Red and white camellias arranged on a silver tray adorned the living room of the home of Miss Catherine Livaudais, 1704 Jackson, when she entertained the Miro Book Club Monday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. J. H. McCormick, had charge of a short business session, during which the state bulletin and a letter from the fifth district president, Mrs. Thomas Jett were read.

Mrs. A. L. Peters reviewed "Europe Looks at the Civil War," by Belle B. Sideman, a collection of European opinions on the American Civil War set down in the words of that period 1860-1865.

"All segments of European opinion are recorded here, those who were for us, those who hoped to see us forever smashed and disunited. All the words whether spoken or written in fear, in pride, in hope or jealously are gathered together to make this volume both exciting and stimulating reading and a unique contribution to our knowledge of the American Civil War," said Mrs. Peters.

At conclusion of the program a salad course was served by the hostess to the members and one guest, Mrs. John Filhiol Jr.

Members present were Mrs. Armand V. Breard, Mrs. Horace V. Fluker, Mrs. J. H. McCormick, Mrs. Neal McHenry, Mrs. D. M. Moore, Mrs. B. L. Mulhern, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. J. T. Pugh, Mrs. Louis Rolleigh, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell and Mrs. R. L. Wood.

To freshen white kid gloves, slip on hands and rub moist bread crumbs or white corn meal between fingers. Polish with a cotton-flannel cloth.

MISS PATRICIA ANN TATUM

Home Established Here Following Wedding Of Judy Greer, George Green

First Baptist Church in Farmerville was scene of the ceremony which united in marriage Miss Judy Greer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Greer of Farmerville and Bobby L. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Dan Green of Marion.

Rev. Luther B. Hall performed the double ring ceremony on Thursday, November 23 at 4 p.m. The couple exchanged vows beneath a white arch entwined with English ivy and white pompons with two wedding bells clustered in the center. The chancel rail was garlanded with emerald foliage and four pedestal baskets of white chrysanthemums and stock interspersed with four-branched candelabra holding white cathedral tapers completed the setting of the vows.

Pews were marked with white satin bows and bouquets of pompon chrysanthemums. In the foyer was an all white arrangement of stock and Fuji chrysanthemums.

As guests were being seated by the ushers, Johnny Pace, Northeast Louisiana State College, Monroe; Keith Causey, L.S.U., C. E. Snyder of Monroe and Jimmy Don Reppond of Marion, the organist, Mrs. Frank Yelton presented a concert of nuptial music. She also accompanied Miss Patricia Robinson, Louisiana College, as she sang "Because," and "Always," and at conclusion of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer." Johnny Pace and Keith Causey also lighted the candles.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white silk cloud peau de soie, fashioned with empire bodice and bateau neckline with long pointed sleeves, richly adorned with reembroidered Alencon lace and pearls. The voluminous bell shaped skirt was enhanced by a polonaise drape and the graceful sashed carriage back extended into a chapel train. Her full length tiered veil of imported illusion was held in place by a finger cloche of Alencon lace encrusted with seed pearls. She carried a cascade of stephanotis and French carnations centered with a purple throated white orchid and poufs of net and sprays of seed pearls and satin leaves.

Miss Eloise Granberry, Louisiana Tech, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her gown of crystal satin in shades of lilac and purple was designed with a short bell shaped skirt and draped shoulder bodice with neckline dipping to low decolletage. Her headdress was fashioned of illusion rose petals, clustered to form a band over the head in matching shades of her dress. She wore matching satin shoes and long white kid gloves and carried a bouquet of deep lilac Peterjohn mums encircled by green velvet leaves and long satin stem cascading to the hemline of her dress.

Dressed identically to the honor attendant in lighter shades of lilac and purple, were the bridesmaids, Miss Sue Medlin, Northeast Louisiana State College, Monroe; Miss Sharon Eldred, Louisiana Tech; Miss Jean Maprich, Monroe and Miss Lajune Pickle, Northeast at Monroe. Miss Vicki Green, niece of the bridegroom, of Marion and Miss Ginger Mashaw, cousin of the bride, were dressed identically to the other attendants and carried baskets of orchid satin and net filled with rose petals.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was his brother, Daniel Green of Marion. Scott Jones, nephew of the bridegroom, acted as ringbearer.

For the occasion Mrs. Greer, mother of the bride, wore a mauve gown which combined a Chantilly lace bodice with bracelet length sleeves and a soft draped silk chiffon sheath skirt. Completing her costume were a two tone flowered hat, matching gloves and bag. Her corsage was of pink feathered carnations tied with satin ribbons and sprays of seed pearls. The bridegroom's mother, chose a gown of poudre blue lace and satin with matching flowered hat, bag and shoes and a corsage of pink feathered carnations with pink satin ribbon and seed pearl sprays.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the Blue Room of the church, which was decorated with mass arrangements of white chrysanthemums and stock. Miss Jayne Spencer of L.S.U. and Miss Jeanette Long, Louisiana Tech, invited guests to register in the bride's book at a small table adorned with an anniversary candle, encircled by wedding bells, pink roses, and statice.

The bride's table, covered with a pink Irish linen cloth, held a central arrangement of white stock, pink Aristocrat roses and lilac statice in an antique brass epergne. At one end was the crystal punch bowl and opposite was the five tiered wedding cake, decorated with cascades of pink roses and topped with a cluster of crystalized wedding bells. Miss Lita Tugwell, Louisiana Tech, Miss Donna Green and Miss Mitzi Baughman, both of Ole Miss, alternated at the punch bowl and in serving the cake. The flower girls distributed orchid net rice bags.

Miss Frances Read of S.M.U. furnished piano music throughout the reception. Those serving wore pastel party frocks and orchid feathered corsages. Others assisting in the courtesies were Mrs. James Wiley, Mrs. Floy Smith, Mrs. Ben M. Lee, Mrs. Fred Eldred and Mrs. W. O. Roberts.

When the couple left for a wedding trip the bride was wearing a black wool suit with mink collar and beige accessories. They will be at home at 4021 Webster in Monroe, where both are students at Northeast Louisiana State College. Mrs. Green, a graduate of Farmerville high school is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Mr. Green graduated from Marion high school and is a member of Pi Sigma Epsilon fraternity.

REHEARSAL SUPPER

On Wednesday evening following the rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. H. Dan Green entertained the wedding party at dinner in their home in Marion Co - hostesses were Mrs. Brooks Jones, Mrs. Daniel Green and Mrs. Glenn Post Jr.

Guests were greeted by the Green's granddaughters, Misses Paula and Vicki Green, Angelyn Jarmon and Marilyn Jones, who also assisted in other courtesies.

Debutante camellias were used throughout the rooms and the dining table was overlaid with an imported cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations. Other tables held single white candles and camellias. During the evening the bride-elect presented gifts to her attendants.

Dieting Aid

NEW YORK (UPI) — Many embellishments, such as rich sauces, gravies, dressings or table fats have more calories than the food they are served with.

Nutritionists at the U.S. department of Agriculture suggest that weight watchers substitute seasonings that add practically no calories. Samples: spices, herbs, vinegars, or tart fruit juices.

Gala Separates

Sew gala separates to give as presents — if you can bear to part with them. A sleeveless, shorty jacket of felt; a festively-fringed burlap skirt; a felt jester overblouse; and a flared felt skirt are easy to make and fun to give. All are perfect for tree-trimming, at-home entertaining or informal visiting.

Miss Tatum To Wed In January

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stanley Tatum of Newellton, announce today the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Patricia Ann, to Grady Wayne Lowery. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Lowery of Lufkin, Texas.

The wedding will be an event of January 27 to be solemnized in the First Baptist Church of Newellton at 5 p.m.

Miss Tatum was graduated from Northwestern State College at Natchitoches. Mr. Lowery will graduate in June from East Texas Baptist College, Marshall, Texas.

Writing Reason

NEW YORK (UPI) — So others can't read the scrawl you call your handwriting?

Helen King, a graphologist, reports that a lot of scribblers think fast, write fast and work fast. As the tempo of work and thinking increases, so does the tempo of writing. "And too-fast writing becomes illegible," she said.

Cotton Preferred

Retirement

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — A woman's normal life cycle provides her with at least two retirement experiences before her husband faces this problem the first time.

Dr. Wilma Donahue, of the University of Michigan Division of Gerontology, said the first occurs when a woman leaves a job for child rearing. The second occurs when the children leave home, reducing the woman's maternal role.

LAMP CORDS

Two thin coats of white shellac will keep lamp cords from fraying near the socket. Don't plug them in until the shellac is dry.

Stitch Stylish Santa Satchels

St. Nick's big sack is always so stuffed with goodies nobody pays any attention to its shapeless, downright unfashionable lines.

But if you're playing Santa, bright plastic tote bags can be sewn and decorated at home at little cost. Each bag requires about ⅝ yard of 36-inch upholstery or other heavy plastic about 21 x 22 inches.

Seam the bag down the center of the back and then straight across the bottom. Fold over the two corners and tack them in place. Handles should be 15 x 1¾ inches. Double them over so they're just under an inch wide, and stitch them well down on the bag for strength.

'Liberal', 'Conservative' View Rivals

EDITOR'S NOTE: Just what is a conservative in American politics today? What is a liberal? Where do both stand, and how do they differ? Both labels have been tossed around and battered for years in campaign oratory, in the quick slogan, the meaningless catch phrase.

Obviously neither conservative nor liberal is what either was regarded just a few years ago. Then just what do they represent? In this spirit of inquiry, the Associated Press sought views of two of the most articulate thinkers on opposite sides of the political fence today — Gore Vidal, playwright and politician, and William F. Buckley Jr., author and editor.

Vidal usually is labeled a liberal, Buckley a conservative. In this case, to get a fresh viewpoint, each was asked to examine the enemy camp. The result is the double - barreled discussion presented on this page.

Vidal: 'Reaction' Dreads Majority's Rule

By GORE VIDAL
Written for the Associated Press

The terms "liberal" and "conservative" have no real meaning in current American politics. Originally, a Liberal was one who favored changes and reforms tending toward greater democracy while a Conservative was one who resisted change in order to maintain things the way they are. In that sense, at least, Barry Goldwater is a Liberal (he does not want greater democracy but he certainly wants to change the status quo: stop all this welfarism, etc.) While John Kennedy would be a Conservative for he would retain and not greatly extend the present welfare programs of the Federal Government.

FREE SOCIALISM

Despite the cries of the Radical Right, there is no important liberal movement in the United States and by liberal I mean socialist in the sense that most of Western Europe is socialist and at the same time democratic. It has been one of the tragedies of our recent politics that the Radical Right has managed to convince the majority of our people that socialism is the same thing as Communism (which is Soviet foreign policy which is our enemy. The Soviet is our enemy but socialism is not communism, nor Russian dominated. More important, and a fact which would come as a great surprise to most of our people, it is possible to have a socialist country (Denmark, for instance) which is also a free society with a representative government just like our own. The fact that our people don't understand that socialism is the preferred form of government of most of the civilized world, not to mention the new countries of Africa and Asia, makes for much misunderstanding in our dealings not only with the enemy but with our allies and would-be friends.

NEGATIVE PROGRAM

When then is the division in America? It is, I should say, between conservative and reactionary. John Kennedy is a Conservative. Barry Goldwater is a Reactionary. A Reactionary is one who wishes to reverse an existing state of affairs and to return to a previous condition of society. In the case of Goldwater and his fellow reactionaries the previous condition is the old agrarian America before the income and the disturbing responsibilities of being a world power. The program of the reactionaries is largely negative. Get the government out of this and out of that; don't give federal aid to the schools; don't extend Social Security in any way; do nothing about the five million unemployed, save as much money as possible by cuting out all human services so that the income tax can be gradually eliminated.

FREEDOM TO EXPLOIT

Now the sophisticated reactionary knows exactly what he is doing. He wants complete freedom to get as much money as possible with no interference from the government. The freedom to exploit others is the cornerstone of his philosophy. Goldwater's book "Conscience of a Conservative" is a hymn to self-interest. The simpler more instinctive reactionary tends to be puzzled and annoyed by the state of affairs in this country an no one argues that we have created another Eden). He sees a vast impersonal and not very competent government involved in more and more areas of his life. Each year he pays more money to support this government and with some justice he is resentful. He reacts: just get rid of those taxes, stop giving money to foreigners, don't help out those deadbeats who aren't smart enough to get a job or take care of themselves, then everything will be all right. But the matter is not that simple. Large countries have large governments and they do cost too much and this is a real problem for "liberal" as well as "conservative." Humanizing government is going to be the principle task of the next century. The reactionary would prefer to eliminate most government but that will not happen, and attempts to revive old forms and attitudes will fail.

CANNOT WIN

In a sense, the reactionary can never win because clocks go forward not backward. That simple America they dream of (it never existed, by the way) will not return. Life is complex. If we are to remain a great power, we will have to spend uncomfortable amounts on armaments and foreign aid. Taxes will remain great. Government will always be large, no matter who is at the White House, Kennedy or Goldwater. The tendency toward socialism is as strong in this country as any other — though we will have to think of a new way to describe it: Dynamic Constitutionalism, perhaps. The limits which government has set on the power of individuals and groups to exploit others will remain. The people — who are the country — will probably want more services from the country which is themselves and they will get those services, again no matter who resides at the White House.

GORE VIDAL, the author of several hit Broadway plays and a half dozen high brow novels, learned liberal politics at the knee of his illustrious grandfather, Thomas P. Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma.

As a boy, Vidal led his grandfather about Washington and spent many evenings reading to him from such diverse works as the Congressional Record and the Roman histories of Livy and Tacitus.

It was not surprising that the author of "The Best Man," a hit Broadway comedy about national politics, should try his hand at the game and run for Congress as a Democrat in Republican upstate New York. The fact that he was beaten did not curb his enthusiasm for liberal causes.

In addition to his plays, novels and movie scripts, Vidal has written and lectured widely on politics. Now 36, he lives in an ante-bellum mansion on the banks of the Hudson, not far from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point where his father once coached the football team.

LIMITED ELECTORATE

Yet it is the dream of the reactionary to stop the majority cold. The reactionary detests our form of government. One of his favorite arguments is: the United States is a republic, not a democracy. This statement is inaccurate since we are both a republic and a democracy. What the Reactionary really means to say is that the will of the majority as expressed through elections should be circumvented. That there should be a limit to the franchise. The Right Wing has not yet had the courage to propose that some people be allowed to vote and some not to vote according, say, to the size of their income but that is what they are after. For they mistrust and dislike the majority. Yet our Constitution, which they profess to revere, is quite explicit about the value of the democratic process. In fact, the Constitution begins with the words "We the people," not "We, the special interests," or "We, the well - educated and well-to-do."

FEARFUL SOCIETY

In free elections in reasonably serene times the reactionary has not got a chance at the polls. But these are not serene times. In the event of some economic or military disaster I suspect that the reactionary elements in America will come together and in one way or another try to take power. Nor would it, sad to relate, be very difficult for them to impose themselves on the very people they dislike for we have become a passive, ill-informed, fearful society. A recent nationwide poll of high school students should give aid and comfort to those who dislike the Democratic process. Among the findings: 60 per cent of our young people favor police censorship of books, movies, etc.; 60 per cent believe certain groups should not be allowed to hold public meetings even though they meet peaceably to make speeches (First Amendment); 58 per cent believe the police and the FBI should be allowed to give prisoners the third degree (Eighth Amendment); 41 per cent do not believe the press should publish what it wants (First Amendment); 57 per cent believe the average person is justified in keeping out of local "dirty" politics (which is to say they do not want to make our form of government work); 76 per cent feel the most serious danger to this country comes from the Communists within. Of course the most serious danger is the profoundly un American attitude of these high school students which makes them perfectly vulnerable to any totalitarian-minded group, Left or Right. And those who like to point out that we are a republic not a democracy are totalitarian minded. In their incontinent attacks on those they dislike, (anyone favoring any sort of public welfare is a Communist or Comsymp) and by pretending that there is a vast Communist conspiracy inside the United States (it is not inside but outside) they do their best to divide and confuse.

DICTATORSHIP

Were the Communist pressure upon us less, I think it unlikely that those radical forces Goldwater is trying to unite will ever take power through the democratic process. The majority is too conservative for this "Conservative." But I can see in a time of national panic, the emergence of the first dictatorship in our history and it will come not from the Left but from the Right and a cynical, indifferent "un-American" electorate already contemptuous of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, will take to it eagerly. When that happens, and I pray it does not, that great hope for the human race, the American Revolution, will be at an end, and lost.

Buckley: 'Liberal' Thought Forms Uncertainty

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.
(Written for the Associated Press)

Most students who enter college are not interested in politics, and nothing much is likely to change this, short possibly of a good whiff of radio-active dust, or news that Senator McCarthy has risen from the dead. There are lots of reasons for staying away from politics, including Greek plays, trombone playing, football practice, and the undistracted pursuit of the opposite sex. But the best reason is that politics tend nowadays to be so consumingly dull. That is what Liberalism has done for us.

MODEST RIVAL

Even so, there is lately a modest revival of political interest in American colleges, and this seems to be in considerable part the doing of conservatives. The phenomenon of 21-year-old conservatives is causnig considerable dismay among the faculty, who were about ready to believe that intelligent young conservatives were as unlikely to reappear on the modern scene as, say, Pithecanthropus Erectus. A generation's indoctrination in the light and the truth should have succeeded in making the species extinct. But here they are — coast to coast. It is as though the student body of Moscow's Lenin Institute were suddenly to play hokey to celebrate the Czar's birthday!

NOTHINGNESS

How can it be that so many students are turning Right? The answer is: Because so many students have awakened to the great Nothingness of Liberalism, and are looking for something to believe in, and act upon. The happy few have begun to realize that the much heralded renewal of Liberalism under the New Frontier is just the same old thing again: more spending, more federal power, more appeasement abroad. The only thing young about John Kennedy is his age: all his ideas, if that is the word for the chaos in Washington these days, are Liberal retreds, no more likely to serve us today than they did yesterday, or the day before, when they teetered about seeking to cope with reality, while bombs fell, nations lost their freedom, and bureaucracies thrived.

DESOLATION PERCIEVED

As education raises them up out of the child's garden of contentment, some students will begin to perceive the desolation that surrounds us, and will realize that it is a world which Liberalism helped to build. Some students will make their renunciations after a fastidious study of Liberalism's premises. They will come to realize that there is nothing in the Liberal creed save an intricate methodological structure (Academic Freedom, Dissent, Democracy, the United Nations, Mrs. Roosevelt) on which you build and build and build, as tirelessly, and as futilely as Sisyphus, but which ends us up — Whereupon Mr. Krushchev took off his left shoe, and pounded the desk, interrupting the proceedings, and reiterating his threats against the West" — helpless, before the barbarians.

Other students will come intuitively to the knowledge of Liberalism's emptiness — the cold shudder of loneliness that every sentient man will feel on contemplating our disintegrating world, and knowing that only Washington, and London, and Paris, only Harvard, Oxford and the Sorbonne (those centers of homeopathy)—"The foreign offices of the United States and Great Britain and France, protested today the Soviet Union's unlawful closing of the East Berlin frontier"—stand between us and disaster.

WORLD FAR WORSE

During this century we have fought two great wars, and a few dozen smaller ones. For our pains, we have a world far worse off than ever it was before. Why?

During this century, the science of revolution has advanced every bit as fast as the technological advances we read so much about. It is a great feat to put a man in space. It was an even greater feat to bamboozle the ruling class of the West into believing that the Chinese Comunists were merely agrarian reformers. We do not yet know how many, if any, victims will fall to Communism because of the Soviet Union's temporary superiority in outer space. We do know that the paralysis of the West during the period when China might have been saved, yielded 600 million victims. Communist sophistication-plus-nerve, combined with Liberal innocence-plus-fright equals Communist success. It is notoriously the Liberal who continues to be the easy target for Communist propaganda, on everything from disarmament to the House Committee on the Un-American Activities.

Only the Heavenly Registrar knows how many people have actually been murdered by the totalitarian ideologists during this century. That number includes six million Jews, millions of Russians, Chinese by the dozen of millions. Those whose blue-prints brought on this carnage are not Liberals, though at root their philosophies share important premises. The point is, that Liberalism with its unsureness about the enemy, or about itself, or even about the meaning of human existence, proved unsuccessful in containing the Totalists. In 1917, President Woodrow Wilson, the first complete Liberal to come out to make the world safe for democracy. Forty-five years later there was less freedom, by far, than before he launched his great crusade. At this rate, a few more years of making the world safe for democracy, and we shall have lost our own.

MAIN DIFFERENCES

Here, as I understand it, are the principal differences between the Liberal and the Conservative approach to the most pressing problems of our time.

Abroad, the Liberal seeks constantly to negotiate. And while he negotiates he loses ground. For he is, actually, negotiating with himself, deciding how much to give in this time; the Communist meanwhile, moves forward. (The New Frontier in Laos—have you noticed?—is a couple of hundred miles closer to the United States than the Old Frontier.) The conservative — for the profoundest reasons, including a faith in transcendence, a belief in absolute values, a redemptive historical creed, a profound comprehension of evil, a realistic appraisal of history—would not negotiate, at least not on the enemy's terms. He would revive the great Western tradition of creative and confident statecraft and move forward boldly, taking risks, winning victories, to bring the cold war right to the hearths of Russia. Among other concrete things he would liberate Cuba (instantly), impose an economic embargo upon the Soviet bloc (instantly), withdraw support from the General Assembly of the United Nations (gradually), and encourage the consolidation of anti-Communist forces in Asia in order to turn the war around again in Vietnam and, yes, carry the liberation movement on into China.

OBSESSED

Domestically, the Liberal is obsessed by the notion of "equality" and the notion of "democracy." But he does not understand what equality really is, or what is required to effect it. (Everybody is equal in East Germany, and everybody is miserable.) The Liberal is determined to make every Negro in the South as contented as every Negro in Harlem. And every White as discontented. All this to be accomplished by, and for, Democracy. Democracy's The Thing — only nobody knows any more what Democracy means. Absolutely nobody. Democracy is what you had in the Congo when Lumumba took over? What you will have in Algeria after the F.L.N. takes over? What you have in Egypt under Nasser? In Venezuela under Bentancourt? In Ghana under Nkrumah?

FREEDOM UNUSUAL

The Conservative believes that the meaning of life cannot be approached through abstract ideals like democracy, etc. "Equality" cannot be imposed by Liberalism's fuglemen. It can only be done under tyranny. Nor can the distribution of wealth, or the distribution of freedom, or the encouragement of individuality, or a sense of community, be accomplished by making the state the overriding social entrepreneur. Man should be free. But freedom is the unusual predicament in this vale of tears. It doesn't matter how many resolutions are passed by the General assembly, or the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People — the typical African tribesman is not going to be free, not for many generations to come; and to impose upon him, in the name of democracy an Nkrumah, a Nasser, a Kenyatta, is to repress freedom, and hinder its growth; and to introduce the kind of natoinalistic absolutism that the Communists so successfully exploit.

FEAR

In philosophy, the Liberal is afraid of truths, only those things are true which have to do with method. Thus the Liberal is concerned for the freedom of native Communists — because, so goes the theory of the open society — they ought to be free to convert us to their ways. The Conservative believes we have learned something in the past three thousand years, at least enough to know that Communism is wrong from every point of view, no matter how large a majority it might, at any given moment, attract; and that therefore only the society with a death - wish will permit the Communist to accumulate power. Go ahead and let the Communist be free, but if he begins to pick up strength, smash him. The Liberal is only happy (or is he, actually, ever happy? Isn't Edward R. Murrow's face the face of Liberalism? Will he ever realize he is sad because he has to look at the world he built?) when he is searching for truths. The Conservative is happy finding them, and defending them. The Liberal's idea of the complete political life is a never-ending campaign to raise the minimum wage, or 40 years of devoted service to the Department for the Location of Depressed Areas. The Conservative wants to worship his God, develop his talents, enjoy the fruit of them; and, in his political life, to work unsparingly to keep domesticated the principal agent of the suppression of individual freedom, the monopolistic, monolithic, police-backed State. Talk not to me, Jefferson told us conservatives, of government by good men. Let us hear no more, Jefferson told us conservatives, of trust in men, but bind them down from mischief by the chains of the Constitution.

CAN WE OUTGROW IT?

The big question, then, and one in which students will play a critical role, is whether America can outgrow Liberalism in time. If the future of the Liberal in America is bright, then the future of America is not bright. Any way you look at it, then, the future of Liberalism is not bright: because to commit its irrelevancies on any kind of scale, the Liberals need room. Yet so long as Liberals continue in power, there is less and less room. When the Communists take over the entire world, they're not likely to leave the Liberals a little country in which they can continue to practice their fatuities unmolested. One would think they might do at least this, as an act of gratitude: turn over Bermuda, say, to Professors Schlesinger and Galbraith, Chester Bowles and Adlai Stevenson, and two shows a night by Gore Vidal. But the Communists, on top of everything else, are ungrateful wretches.

WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR. wrote his first polemic at the age of 6. It was a letter to King George V suggesting that England pay its war debt.

One of 10 children of a Texas oil millionaire, Buckley has never been shy about trading quips and quiddities with his elders. He first burst forth on the public as the witty undergraduate author of "God and Man at Yale," a conservative's eye view of liberal leanings at Old Eli.

From that time on, he has been almost constantly embroiled in controversy, whether the subject happens to be yachting, his favorite sport, or the Kennedy administration, his current target.

Just turning 36, Buckley has established himself as a leading intellectual spokesman for the conservative position in American politics. He is the author of several best sellers, an intrepid television debator and campus lecturer and the editor and founder of "National Review," a journal of conservative opinion.

Adjectives Are Battered

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—The sign in the Tokyo apartment house said: "The elevator is under repair for the next two weeks. During that time we regret that you will be unbearable."

In a prewar Tokyo clothing store, another sign intrigued foreign visitors. It announced: "Ladies have fits upstairs."

Between the clothing store of the 1930s and the apartment house elevator stretches a vast Japanese wasteland. It is studded with the mangled adjectives, misplaced verbs and broken sentences of a generation which has tried, but not quite succeeded, in mastering the English language.

But though, with some signal exceptions, the Japanese have failed, they have not given up. An industrious people, they have thrown themselves into the pursuit of the dangling participle with a verve usually reserved for street demonstrations, baseball or mountain climbing.

Among the most popular radio and TV programs are the English lessons. One Japanese professor is in such demand he appears as himself on one show and in a handle-bar mustache in another.

Books that purport to unlock the mysteries of eigo—English — are selling faster than dried squid. One, called "The book that Strengthens your English," by Prof. Kazuo Iwata, has created a near-sensation.

In two months it has sold 800,000 copies and the end is nowhere in sight.

The United States postwar influence in Japan has renewed the Japanese interest in matters American.

It is a rare stranger who has not been approached by an eager youth with these questions: "Sir, may I speak English to you? How old are you? Do you have a wife? How many children do you have? How much money do you earn? What do you think of Japan?"

The decision to stage the Olympic games in Japan in 1964 has prodded the study of English from a canter into a full gallop.

What Kennedy Said

Some of the experts who have thoroughly gone over the interview that President Kennedy gave Khrushchev's son in law, the editor of the Izvestia, are amazed at some of the things that the President really said, according to National Review.

For example, it was said, President Kennedy withdrew the claim to four power rights in East Berlin, offered to withdraw four power control of the corridors in favor of international control and declared

1. "There is no military power [illegible] that can invade the Soviet Union.

2. We recognize that today the Soviet Union does not intend to permit German unification, and that as long as the Soviet Union has that policy Germany will not be reunified.

3. "I would be extremely reluctant to see West Germany require a nuclear capacity of its own.

4. "If any nation should choose a communist system, we would recognize and accept that."

Would you say this is standing firm?

He Tried To Save

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois recently learned it is pretty hard to save taxpayers' money—not that he's ever really had a very strong conviction on that point anyway.

It seems, though, that on his last jaunt to Europe, he tried his best to save a few dollars, but the Foreign Service chaperons just wouldn't hear of it.

In Munich the Senator requested reservations at the Platzl Hotel, which the guide book lists as "economy." The State Department, Munich office, wired back swiftly: "Unless the Senator has strong personal desire to stay at this hotel, consul general recommends against it. . . . have also reserved rooms Hotel Vier Jahreszeiten which consul general strongly recommends senator accepts."

The Vier Jahrezeiten, as your Fielding will tell you, is a long way from an economy rating. So too, in Berlin, where he requested a room at the old line Amzoo hotel, and got the new top price Hilton. And in Paris where he wanted reservations at the Left Bank Pont Royal, but got the super deluxe George V. After all, you can't ask Foreign Service host officers to call for visitors in the slums, can you?

Here And There

Reliable Source: The guy you just met.

Since the Wall went up in Berlin, over 400 East German police men and soldiers — the equivalent of three companies — have deserted to the West.

Nato Supreme Commander Norstad expects to have 25 combat ready divisions in the field early in 1962 as against 21 over all only 15 combat ready, in 1961.

Now that Stalin's down, Trotsky may be moving up. There's a blurb of it a picture of Trotsky in the last issue of USSR, the Soviet magazine published in the U. S.

Roberto Holden, Soviet trained leader of Angola rebels, responsible for the torture killing of several thousand Angolans, finds welcome mat in the U. S. at the moment when even Portuguese rebel pirate, Captain Galvao repudiates his ferocities . . .

The man that appears to have had more to do with keeping the stern U. S. economic policy against Cuba in effect was Louisiana's own Chep Morrison, former mayor of New Orleans, and now Ambassador to the OAS. It seems there was an effort on high levels to soften our economic ban against Cuba. But the report says Morrison argued for a continued ban against Cuba and won out, despite Adlai Stevenson.

The Christmas decorations in the Twin Cities this season are the best we've seen. If you haven't seen downtown Monroe and West Monroe and those in Eastgate and Twin City you should. They're worth a trip to do so. For the prettiest single decoration, our nod goes to the First National Bank of West Monroe building . . .

Reports From Washington

FISCAL LEGISLATION — Congress leaders expect President Kennedy to make at January session a three fold request for financial measures to which Congress has always been reluctant to accede: Increased power to President to curtail and lower tariffs in contract to coordinate with the European Common Market. (2) Power to raise or lower individual income tax rates as an anti recession weapon. (3) ask for permission for direct Treasury borrowing — opponents call it backdoor spending — which got a lethal blow in the House of Representatives in the closing hours of the last session. (Look Ready to go to bat three times for it.)

"HAPPY" AGAIN — Former Governor Albert B. Chandler in 1962 will again seek the office to which he was first elected in 1935 — the Kentucky Governorship. The Kentucky Constitution prevents a governor serving successive terms. Between his two previous gubernatorial terms Chandler was United States Senator and Commissioner of Baseball. Four Governor Wallace Wade seek the Democratic nomination for United States Senator from the Blue Grass State in an attempt to oust Republican Senator John Sherman Cooper.

SCHOOL AID DOOM? — What slim prospects aid to education bill had at January session went out of window when Roman Catholic Bishops re-affirmed their stand against any form of general Federal aid to schools that discrimination against children attending non-public schools. New element in latest statement of the hierarchy is their reference to social impact of Federal aid. This was taken to imply that many, probably a majority, of the Catholic Bishops are convinced that Federal aid may weaken the traditional State and local responsibility for education and introduce Federal guidance if not control.

COCKTAIL FUND RAISING — Both political parties have been giving fund-raising dinners for years, but private cocktail parties given by President Kennedy at Los Angeles was something new. Fifty prosperous Los Angeles couples paid $1,000 per couple for privilege of having a cocktail with the President. Money went into the party treasury for use in the 1962 Congressional campaigns. Repeat fund-raising private cocktail parties with the President are uncertain.

SPLIT NEW YORK DEMOCRATS — Kennedy Administration is joining in an effort to pick a new State Chairman in New York to succeed Michael H. Prendergast. Split Empire State Democrats now see a chance to defeat Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, whose marital difficulties are believed to have weakened him as a vote getter. Only difficulty is that New York Democrats seem to prefer fighting each other instead of the Republicans.

ROCKY'S POLITICAL OUTLOOK — Political opponents expect to take full advantage of the separation of Governor and Mrs. Rockefeller. Stunned Republicans believe it will not prevent his re-election as Governor in 1962 but think it could put him out of the running for the 1964 Presidential nomination. Some friends of the Rockefeller family believe there may even be a reconciliation between the New York Governor and his wife. Also question of which one of them insisted on terminating the marriage might be a factor in Rocky's political future. Two divorced men have run for President — James M. Cox in 1920 and Adlai Stevenson in 1952 and 1956. Both were badly defeated. But it is doubtful either could have won even if divorce had not been a factor.

CONGRESSIONAL PROSPECTS — Democratic high command privately concedes that excess made in various parts of the country have disclosed the possibility that they may lose the House of Representatives next year. Fact that redistricting of Congressional seats has seemed to enhance Republican chances, plus normal losses by party in power in off-years add up to Democratic trouble in 1962. Some party leaders are urging that an all out tariff fight not be launched by Administration next year, believing it would greatly add to Democratic election hazards. Instead they would like for President merely to ask extension of Reciprocal Tariff law.

MOVE TO LEFT — Look for the Kennedy Administration to insist on enactment of more "Welfare State" legislation at coming session of Congress. President has been disturbed by reports that he was moving to the right, becoming more conservative. Attacks on far right forces by President on western trip largely dispelled this feeling, and President wished it to be so. Said an Administration insider: "Roosevelt didn't abandon New Deal in first year and Kennedy isn't going to abandon New Frontier."

DEMOCRATIC FLOOR LEADERSHIP — If Representative Richard Bolling of Missouri is acting on his own he may back out of the leadership fight in opposition to Representative Carl Albert of Oklahoma and try for the post of Party Whip, which would place him on Speakership escalator later. If Kennedy Administration is behind his leadership candidacy, it could be a close fight although insiders think Albert already has the votes to win.

Prologue To Love Is For The Ladies

A PROLOGUE TO LOVE. By Taylor Caldwell. Doubleday. $5.95.

A woman who had been mentally warped by money all her life is the center of this long (614-page) novel covering several generations of the Ames family.

Caroline Ames had a pretty fair excuse for being warped. She had a father who hated her because she reminded him of his background. He was a money-mad character who made his millions by cheating the law. And she had been through a foolish, traumatic experience in her childhood protection against a cruel world. When she inherited her father's fortune, she kept building it—by legal means — while living like a psychotic miser in a dirty old house.

The money madness corrupted her marriage and it dried up any affection she might have had for her three children. As a natural consequence the children turned out to be pretty inhuman specimens, and it took a major tragedy involving of them to shake Caroline out of her cold greed.

In the end, rather miraculously, Caroline managed to achieve a little common sense and to make what amends she could for her past errors, but conversion was rather late.

The story is wordy and should have been trimmed. The dialogue often is in the unnaturally stilted langu ge that seems to characterize soap operas. In fact this is a novel that would have little appeal to men, but it may have a vogue in the matronly set, the ones who like a good cry, and who expect a pleasant sunset on the final page.

RUNNING THE SCALES

ArtShow Heralds Crowded Week

Another "first" was scored at Northeast last week with the opening of the first one-student art exhibition at the school's Bieden harn Hall.

Featured were works in several categories by Miss Donnavae Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Hughes of Monroe. A part - time instructor of art at Louisiana Training Institute, Miss Hughes is scheduled to graduate from Northeast in January. The work will be on display until December 18.

The show included not only paintings but sculpture, jewelry, leathercraft, ceramics, etchings, linoleum block prints and fashion design. While this pointed up the wide variety of media with which the art department works, it made comprehensive viewing somewhat involved.

EMMY WINNER

William Frouge of Little Rock, a cousin of Rose and Jake Pickens of Monroe and a frequent visitor to the Twin Cities, now lives in Los Angeles and has achieved a measure of success in the writing and directing of television plays.

The Dick Powell show slated for Tuesday evening of this week was written and directed by Frouge. In 1959, he won television's Emmy award for the "Eddie" series starring Mickey Rooney.

On the way for a performance here Wednesday is French pianist Philippe Entremont who will appear as the third attraction on the Northeast Concerts Series. Featured on the program will be the "Variations on a Theme by Handel," and the "Sonata No. 2 in D Minor," by Prokofieff.

Also on Wednesday, the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company will perform on the La. Tech series in Ruston. There will be an afternoon performance by this group in case some who pursue high culture want to beat the year's only conflict. This really isn't too hard with the new strip of highway.

Tuesday, the Twin City Symphony will present its first program of the year under the direction of James Poulos. The all - local group will play at Brown Hall auditorium.

CRITIC'S CHOICE

No doubt, all writers and others who take an interest in "blow-by-blow" accounts of plays and concerts are asked from time to time if they "recommend" a particular dramatic or musical undertaking.

It looks as though we should know. But a man who is interested in the many parts usually can't add them up. And such an opinion or summary calls for quick, overall judgement, not only of the performance but of how it would strike the person asking the question.

It does appear, however, many play and concert goers want some sort of insurance against non - entertainment. Other members of the audience would probably be better guides than a critic in this respect.

He cannot accept a "dull spot" at face value. If he has any constructive feeling at all, he has to question why things happened to fall flat here and there. Or why they sparkled.

By the time all this is taken into account, digested and written about, perhaps, an analytical viewer or listener might not like what he saw or heard. But 99 times out of 100, he is not bored and wonders how the thought ever comes to anyone's mind.

Camera Notes

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

Just before Christmas the presses of the photo book industry whir with increased activity, it seems, to fill up Santa's pack with appropriate reading matter for camera fans.

And this year if Santa's hearty "Ho-ho-ho" sounds merrier than ever it might be because he dipped into his bag and came up with John Faber's "Humor in News Photography" (Thomas Nelson & Sons, $3.95). It's a collection of 57 classic fun-filled photos which have been published in the U. S. press in the past 15 years. They bring a light-hearted touch to the regular pictorial presentation of the world's tensions.

This is Faber's second visual round-up, thanks to his extra-curricular job as historian for the National Press Photographers Association. His first compilation was "Great Moments in News Photography," a commendable job in digging up the stories behind the historic pictures in press photography. In both books, Faber has done more than bestow a credit line with each photograph—he includes a portrait of the photographer. The books are a tribute, therefore, to the men behind the cameras.

When Santa stops chuckling and gets back to the serious nature of the photographic world, he'll find a pretty good cross-section of the year's high spots in Tom Maloney's "U. S. Camera '62" (Duell, Sloane & Pearce, $10). This 26th edition of the annual, dedicated to Edward Steichen, presents about a dozen portfolios of top-flight craftsmen, an American - International section of exceptional pictures and a report on rocket photography.

By this time if Santa gets so enthused that he decides he'd like to study photography, he could reach into his pack and—presto! — produce "Everybody's Photo Course" by Joseph Foldes. This paperback book (U. S. Camera Publ., $1.95) takes a beginner from fundamentals to portraiture in 33 lessons illustrated with more than 750 photographs. Besides information on exposure, processing, enlarging, lighting, composition and posing, there are do-it-yourself exercises along the way to put the theories into actual practice.

Santa has been making his rounds for a long time and if he wanted to indulge in photographic nostalgia, he might reminisce with the "Photographer of the Southwest: Adam Clark Vroman, 1856-1916." In a beautifully printed book (Ward Ritchie Press, $12.50), Ruth I. Mahood of the Los Angeles County Museum documents the story of a photo pioneer who befriended the Indians in Arizona, New Mexico and Southern California and photographed their life around the turn of the century. Almost 60 years later, 2400 glass negatives were discovered in fairly good shape and out of them has come this historical book.

Engrossing Legal Story From West

A masterful story teller, West has spun an engrossing tale of a legal battle in present day Italy, as he did in "Devil's Advocate."

What happens to the defense attorney Carlo Rienzi is more important to the story than the tragic fate of the defendant, a young woman named Anna Albertini.

Rienzi is in a bad spot as the story opens. He is the frustrated junior partner of a brilliant advocate, Alberto Ascolini, a man of the world in the Old World sense, and he has married Ascolini's daughter, Valeria. Ascolini, a widower, has dominated his daughter completely, and as a result Rienzi is playing second fiddle in both his professional life and his marital life.

Then comes the murder trial of Anna, who has shot a man in cold blood. Rienzi takes on the apparently hopeless case. He makes a brilliant defense by showing that Anna had good reason for murdering the man because of what he did to her mother, and gets Anna off with a light sentence. Rienzi's legal reputation is made and he can look forward to a career of his own, out of the shadow of Ascolini.

But meanwhile he has become emotionally involved with Anna. The outcome need not be disclosed here, except to say it is a rational and appropriate one.

There is a sub-plot about a visiting psychiatrist named Peter Landon who was drawn into the case. Landon serves as the author's commentator on what is going on among the other principals.

West has made his characters unforgettable and has told his narrative in a smooth, sophisticated style. He has a high sense of the dramatic — this book already has been made into a play — and he communicates beautifully with the reader on the printed page.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

New Caldwell Book Featured

By FRANCIS FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

A new book by Taylor Caldwell is always in demand by the patrons of the Ouachita Parish Public Library. Her newest book is "A Prologue to Love" and readers were waiting for it before it arrived this past week. This profoundly moving novel is the story of Caroline Ames, the richest woman in the world. Taught by an unscrupulous father to hate poverty and love money, she grew up a woman without the ability to give or accept love and with an overpowering desire to amass more millions. Set in Boston at the turn of the century, this book gives us a very clear picture of the era when the large American fortunes were being accumulated. Miss Caldwell, as usual, has done a masterly piece of writing and her book is certain to be eagerly received.

Recently there has been a revival of interest in the classics of English and American literature in the High Schools. This is a very healthy sign and we are happy to see it. We have purchased numerous copies of the older books to replace those which have become worn and so far we have met the demands for such titles as "Pride and Prejudice," "Wuthering Heights" and "Jane Eyre." Another older book which continues in popularity is "Gone with the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell. Since this book was first published in 1936, the library has had thirty - four copies of this book. Nine copies have worn out during the years, leaving twenty - five copies in the collection of the five branches of the Library. However, there is never a copy waiting on the shelf. Last week four new copies were added in an effort to make this book more readily available to the public.

An exciting new mystery story is "Venus Unarmed" by Lawrence Treat. Readers of Western stories will welcome "Trail of the Tattered Star" by Cliff Farrell. This is a good historical novel of the West. Two new books of fiction geared to the young adult readers are "One of the Crowd" by Rosamond Du Jardin and "Arrow in the Sun" by Carl Kidwell.

An interesting book in the field of comparative religion is "Had You Been Born in Another Faith" by Marcus Bach. A book which contains much valuable information has just been written by Franklin Bicknell. It is called "Chemicals in your Food and in Farm Produce." This book is not in the alarmist tone, but does give facts about some of the dangers in modern food production.

A very practical book was written by Edward H. Nabb entitled "Care and Repair of your Inboard Engine". It is a very useful book and copies are to be found in all of the branches of the Library. A useful addition to the book collection is a history of Mississippi by John K. Bettersworth. This is the text book which is taught in the Mississippi schools and contains much valuable and interesting information about our neighbor state. The demands for the book "Race and Reason" by Carlton Putnam have grown so large that we had practically despaired of every filling the requests, until this week two prominent businessmen gave the library 18 copies of this title. This will help a great deal and we ask all of you to return it as soon as you have read it.

Books expecially for teen age readers always find a waiting audience. "Crime Scientists" by Mike McGrady deals with modern methods of crime detection. "Carbon 14" by Lynn Poole is a wonderful explantation of this modern method of dating past events. "Mickey Mantle of the Yankees" by Gene Schoor will be in constant demand. Visit your public Library and get one of the books we have mentioned.

The book collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library is growing each month. During the month of November a total of 969 new books were added to the library collection. During this same period 79 books were lost or discarded. The book collection now consists of 71,395 books. Of this number 48,311 are adult books and 23,084 are children's books. People often ask me how many books are found in each library, so you might like that figure. In the main library there are 35,306 volumes. In the West Monroe library there are 12,173 books. The Bookmoblie collection consists of 12,544 books and 7,585 volumes are found at the Anna Meyer Branch. The Carber Branch has a book collection of 3,787 books. During the month of November 32,308 books were borrowed by the patrons of the Library. Of this number 15,464 were adult books and 16,844 were juvenile books. An interesting feature of this circulation is that one half of all the adult books borrowed were loaned from the main library, while the Bookmobile accounted for one half of the juvenile circulation. At the main library and at the West Monroe library the ratio of adult and children's books borrowed was practically the same, that is two to one. On the Bookmobile the ratio of children's books to adult books borrowed was four to one. At the Anna Meyer Branch the totals were almost even for each category, while at the Carver Branch the ratio was in favor of children's books by a ratio of five to two. The use of the library is increasing constantly and the number of registered borrowers is also increasing. Do you have a library card, if not you are missing a wonderful opportunity for pleasure and self - improvement.

Views About Philosophy Astringent

THE ART OF THINKING. By Dagobert D. Runes. Philosophical Library. $2.75.

The philosopher Runes is speaking in this volume of mass thinking instead of mental gymnastics of the individual.

He writes not like an expert of philosophy's musty, esoteric classes into eternal truth but with the straightforward, short-word frankness of a cracker barrel sage who knows no foolishness.

His book is a brief collection of short essays on some of the follies of mankind's mental prejudices. His position is that man does not do much thinking. And much of what passes for thinking is done in patterns, which depend a lot on the emotional drive of the individual.

To give you an idea of some of his attitudes, Runes has little use for legal codes, on the ground that they go only so far as to set up a system of imprisonment of men. He says thinking begins where the law leaves off.

He does not have much respect for the traditional views of his history and its perpetual conquerors, and he finds it hard to believe that in a welfare state concerned solely with the material prosperity of its citizens, the Federal Bureau of Investigation plays . . .

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Dr. Wright Stages 5th District Show

By MRS. JOHN TOLAR

Dr. John Wright, professor of horticulture at Louisiana Tech, Ruston, presented the TV, and Fifth District Garden Center show last week. Dr. Wright's theme, was, of course, "Christmas Arranging." This is just the time we are grasping for that almost last minute suggestion for our decorations for the wonderful holidays ahead of us. Dr. Wright stressed using the lovely abundance of evergreens available to us and using them in a simple manner.

We really do not have to have so many elaborate arrangements filled with glitter. The true spirit of Christmas can be expressed in a single green bough or a cluster of red berries in a door swag made of greenery.

DEMONSTRATED

Dr. Wright demonstrated the art of making a simple door swag for the holidays. He used several branches of cedar for the main body of the swag. To this he added a rosette of magnolia leaves to the top section of the design. A bright red ribbon bow finished the picture. This was wired into the cluster of magnolia leaves at the top. Part of the wire was pulled to the back and twisted into a loop so that it could be easily hung from the door on a small nail or hook. Now this was quite effective just as it was, but, more interesting items such as pine cones or red berries could be wired in for a more elaborate swag. Also a little snow and slight glitter would be very pretty, Dr. Wright said.

A large ceramic bowl filled with beautiful burford holly berries and fashioned into a mass pyramid design was one of the arrangements showed by Dr. Wright. This certainly is festive looking and would bring the Christmas spirit right into the house.

SUITABLE

Twin arrangements that would be suitable for the church altar were made by Dr. Wright. These were so simple and yet so beautiful. White goblet compotes were used as containers. A mass cluster of cedar in a round design was placed in each compote. These should have water to keep the cedar fresh throughout the season's holiday. Also, Dr. Wright explained that the holly berries should have water in the other arrangement. So often we depend on these evergreens to stay pretty without giving them water, but, in order to keep them fresh we must place water in the container. They will last such a long time this way. At least throughout the holidays.

A large ornate white and gold etched ceramic bowl on a tan wooden pedestal was used for an all green arrangement of magnolia leaves. This was a large arrangement that could be used where space is no problem on the patio, or even the large den table near the fireplace. With plenty of water this arrangement would serve the same purpose as a large potted plant. The magnolia leaves are so lovely they do not really need very much arranging. Just placed in a tiered rosette design with a few extra clusters of leaves to fill in at the base is just what Dr. Wright did for a most pleasing arrangement.

The aroma of the cedar alone would say it is Christmas time. I can smell it now as I write this and I just can't wait to cut some for my own home. And I do hope to tackle that door swag as soon as I can. Thanks, Dr. Wright, for making us appreciate our simple, more traditional type of decorating for the Holidays.

Dates to remember

Park Avenue Is Moving To Other Cities

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The uniformed doorman, valet service and other trappings of a luxury apartment house no longer appear only on the posh metropolitan scene.

Park Avenue is moving to Podunk — or at least to such smaller cities as Wilmington, Del., Reading and Lancaster, Pa., Baton Rouge, La., Stamford, Conn., Trenton, N.J., Albany, N.Y., Santa Clara, Calif., or Phoenix, Ariz.

Builder William Shroder of Millard & William Shroder, Inc., New York, pointed up the growing potential of this market after a recent tour of luxury apartment construction in 20 communities with population of 75,000 to 250,000.

EXPANSION

Expansion of commerce and industry, the transfer of executive personnel from company headquarters to branches in smaller communities and an increase in the number of well-to-do retirees have contributed to the rising demand for suburban luxury apartment facilities, he found.

Demand for luxury apartments, Shroder said, comes mainly from childless couples, or from couples whose children are grown and married who want to dispose of homes that are too large and require too much upkeep but who still want to remain in the suburbs near friends, family and jobs.

Chief deterrents to high rental units in the suburbs are restrictive zoning codes in many cities which limit apartment construction to two and three-story garden type buildings which are not economically feasible for luxury housing. Increasingly, Shroder said, communities are rezoning or permitting exceptions to existing ordinances to allow the luxury buildings for which there is rising demand.

Communities bracing for the advance of high-rise apartment builders need not fear loss of their distinctive suburban character, however, according to Alexander Wolf, Jr., executive vice president of Herbert Charles & Co., Inc., leaders in the field of apartment sales, rental and management.

ERA CLOSING

While the era of garden apartment construction in many suburbs has come to a close, Wolf noted, new luxury buildings place emphasis on advantageous site location, building orientation, scenic views, adequate parking facilities for residents and guests, abundant recreational facilities, landscaping and other features which are suburban in character and would be prohibitive in cost if attempted in the city.

High rental apartment developments, Wolf pointed out, are being welcomed by private home owners in suburban communities as they come to realize these new apartments fill a real housing need, increase values of surrounding properties and share the tax burden without a proportionate rise in the demand for services.

Church Losses In Fires Down From Last Year

BOSTON (AP) — Church organizations cut down their losses from fires in 1960 while the country as a whole was setting a new record for destruction by fire.

The National Fire Protection Association, a non-profit technical and educational clearing house on fire safety information, reports that approximately 300 fewer churches were destroyed or damaged by fire in 1960 than in 1959. And total losses in the 3,100 fires in 1960 were $14,700,000 compared with total church fire losses of $17,530,000 the year before. The 1960 figure was the lowest in five years.

Seven major fires accounted for 20 per cent of the 1960 losses, the largest being the $760,000 destruction of the Second Congregational Church, Waterbury, Conn., Sept. 7, 1960.

EMPTY SEATS SAVE MONEY

The show, which recently transferred to the Alvin theater from the Plymouth, has been in the 1,100-seat category under contracts with the musicians' union. The Alvin has 1,324 seats, but 234 are being kept vacant. If they were put on sale, the show would be required to add several musicians to the pit band, hiking the weekly payroll by $1,600.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

This is the season when most of us with teen-age daughters are literally figting yards of net for formals. Here is a good hint for sewing and measuring nylon net. Pins will not stay put in net, so I have found that round tooth picks do a splendid job for holding the two pieces of net together for stitching and hemming.

WARMTH WITH GLAMOUR

Dear Eunice,

"I would like to make a stunning satin or brocade evening coat for the holidays like the gals pictured in the fashion magazines. However, being a woman who freezes to death in the winter, how can I be glamorous and comfortable at the same time?"

Mrs. J. W.

Dear Mrs. J. W.

I know exactly what you mean and have often thought this type of coat was very impractical for anyone living north of the Mason Dixon line.

However, one of our top designers came to the rescue with one of the most sensible ideas in a long time. Instead of lining your coat with a silk or satin fabric, line it in a soft, light weight wool. Actually, your lining could be in a contrasting color and have a fleecy texture. Just so it isn't scratchy.

Another tip for making a coat of this type, which usually has a firm, crisp look, is to completely under-line the entire coat with a rather firm woven interfacing. This would be applied to each piece of the garment first and then the two would be treated as one. This explained in detail in last week's column.

CAMOUFLAGE HOLES

Dear Mrs. Farmer

"One of the tragedies that befall most of us at some time or other, finally happened to me. Moths got into one of my best cashmere sweaters and ate up several places in it. Whipping these holes together would show, just as ending them would do. Can you offer any good ideas?"

Mrs. R. K.

Dear Mrs. R. K.

Necessity is the Mother of Invention, here is your chance to be creative. May I suggest you buy enough fabric for a contrasting skirt. Now cut out some small "leaf shapes now that it is fall. Scatter them at random on the fronts of your sweater, hopefully covering the moth holes.

It will work much better if your fabric does not ravel. You will now use a blanket stitch to sew these leaves onto your sweater, do not turn under a hem, it would only make the leaves look too thick.

You could bind the front edges of the sweater also, if necessary. There is no limit to possible ideas.

Another mother wrote that her teen-age daughter's skirt of pale pink wool was eaten by moths. She cut small butterflies out of the wool from the hem and embroidered them on with a blanket stitch. These designs could be anything you dream up and could be made of satin, velvet or self fabric.

Quite often the garment will be more attractive than it was originally.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY

Rolled hem: A rolled hem is a very narrow hem that is rolled between your thumb and forefinger, and losely secured by slip stitches. You will find rolled hems in chiffons and sheer fabrics. Sometimes it makes it easier to hem if you will machine stitch about ¼" from the cut edge first.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of Monroe Morning World.

If you are making a garment and want expert directions for putting in the sleeves, you'll want to read Eunice Farmer's 10c leaflet, "All About Sleeves." You may obtain it by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents with your request to Eunice Farmer in care of this newspaper.

Stamp News

A native policeman on traffic duty at the Douglas and Musgrave Streets intersection of Port Moresby is the main design for a new stamp to be issued early in 1962 by Papua and New Guinea. The 3 shilling stamp will be added to the regular definitive series. The policeman on duty depicted on this stamp is Constable Ragas Amis Matia of Antil Village.

Also from the South Pacific area comes word that two new postage stamps will be issued by the Norfolk Island Post Office in 1962 showing illustrations of native flowers. One features the Passionflower and the other a Rose Apple.

The NATONAL STAMP NEWS of Anderson, S.C., one of the top philatelic publications, has purchased the WEEKLYTELIC GOSSIP (established 1914) at Holton, Kan. The GOSSIP will be discontinued and its paid subscription list added to that of the NATIONAL STAMP NEWS.

The newly revised 1962 editions of Minkus Regional Catalogs are now available in 14 titles. Extensive changes have been made to incorporate the latest pricing information reflecting the upward trend. The catalogs are profusely illustrated with much technical data and background material.

In continuation of their portrait series featuring world-famous Germans, the postal administrations of West Germany and Berlin have issued three new stamps honoring Johann Volfgang von Goethe, Ludwig van Beethoven and Heinrich von Kleist, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. Each of these stamps will be dually issued and marked from West Germany and West Berlin.

Also scheduled for issuance is a 20 pfennig adhesive depicting a starving waif begging for food. The inscription reads "Brot fur die Welt." Literally the translation means "bread for the world," but the postal officials declare that it stands for a deeper significance to help publicize the plight of the hungry all over the world.

Price War Hits Milk Producers In Wisconsin

SUPERIOR, Wis. (UPI) — A price war has pushed the price of a half-gallon of milk from 43 down to 15 cents.

Farmers, some of whom claim they face ruin because of the milk price cuts, threatened to stop selling milk in the Duluth-Superior area unless retail milk prices were restored to "profitable levels."

The price war began when Fairmont Foods of Minneapolis fought a three-month legal battle with the Duluth City Council to get a license to sell milk. The Minnesota Supreme Court invalidated a city ordinance which had the effect of keeping out milk produced outside the twin ports area, and Fairmont came in with its products.

The Minneapolis firm promptly cut the price of a half-gallon of milk from 43 to 39 cents. In that first round, milk prices fell as low as 27 cents, before climbing to about 33 cents, where they stayed until the current price-slashing started.

VOLCANO STILL ERUPTING

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — The volcano on the Atlantic island of Tristan da Cunha is still erupting violently, two months after the original eruption that forced all residents to leave, Capt. C. L. Bolbrook of the British freighter Ashbank reported Friday.

His message said the glow of molton lava is visible 20 miles.

Native Trees Color Source

By AUDREY H. DAWSON

If you, Mrs. Homemaker, want color in your landscape during the fall season, you can get it with many of our native trees. If you like the brilliant yellows and oranges use silver maple, bitternut hickory, tulip tree, sassafras, red bud, pecan, golden rain, sweet gum, wild black cherry, common pear, sycamore, and witch hazel.

For an array of reds and purples use black gum, red oak, dogwood, sweet gum, crepe myrtle, chinese tallow, shining sumac, huckleberry.

Many people believe that frost alone is responsible for the turning of leaves into their brightest colors, bright sunshine, and cooler temperatures bring forth the array of colors into our autumn landscapes.

Fall colors vary in different areas. This is due to the degree of acidity or alkalinity present in the plant. If an abaundance of acid is present the plant will produce more reds. If there is more akaline than acid, more blue tints will be present according to our assistant horticulture specialist, Dwight S. Hall.

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

The true spirit of Christmas is in our landscape. Perhaps it's snow on pine, or the red of holly swaying in a winter wind. All the peace, joy and loveliness of the yule season can be seen in nature. Is the true spirit of Christmas in your home? It is time to "deck the halls" for a merry Christmas.

The drugstore or dime store is not the only source of Christmas decorations. Look in your yard. Many of our plants are in seasonal berry and are excellent for the mantel, table or door arrangement. Holly, yaupon, pyracantha, mahonia and nandina are plentiful and beautiful. For good greens that hold up well in the home, try aspidistra, bamboo, boxwood, junipers, Chinese fir, eucalyptus, English ivy, ligustrum, magnolia, pine, pittosporum, Japanese yew, palmetto and yucca. Heavy foliage plants may be tinted or sprayed to fit a desired color scheme. Flat black, silver, gold, red, white and blues are good Christmas colors.

Dried seed pods are good Christmas arrangement materials and can easily be tinted. Trumpet vine seed pod, candle stick tree seed pod, honey and black locust, magnolia, mimosa, red bud, golden rain, sycamore bells, dock, tulip tree seed pod and, of course, pine cones, are all plentiful and easily used.

Bits of pine or holly used with sasanqua or camellia, or late varieties of mums have a definite Christmas spirit and when sprayed with white snow will be very striking on any table or mantel.

Bare branches with interesting forms may be sprayed and used effectively in Christmas arrangements. Crepe myrtle, elm, redbud and sassafras may be used effectively also.

CENTER OF INTEREST

Every arrangement should have a center of interest. Christmas tree balls, candles, ribbons, canes, pine cones, etc., may be worked in with greenery to produce a handsome display. Coat hangers may be used for the base on door and wall decorations with greenery wired or tied to the hanger.

Large Christmas candles can be made from blocks of parafin bought in grocery store in small blocks. Eight blocks are heated and firmly stuck together with a cord for the wick in the middle. Two blocks are then heated to liquid stage and then beat into snow - white flakes. The flakes of wax are then used to cover the candle made with the eight blocks. The candle should be secured with hot paraffin into a base or suitable stand and then accented with greenery, balls etc. Cake coloring may be added to the wax in its liquid stage before beating to achieve a desired color.

Christmas decorations can be easy, fun, imiginative and inepensive. Christmas is nearing, so go to work. Use nature to achieve the true spirit of Christmas.

CHRISTMAS DEMONSTRATION

Yours truly and Donna Moore, assistant home demonstration agent, will give a special interest meeting on Christmas cooking and Christmas decorations at the Agriculture Building, Friday, December 15th, at 9:30 - 11:30 A.M. The Christmas recipe books will be given to you at this meeting. All homemakers are invited to attend.

Remember, Home Demonstration Club members, the nursery will be open for your children. Mark this date, Friday, December 15, on your calendar and attend.

A THOUGHT

Next time you are tempted to start a heated argument, remember anger is only one letter short of danger.

'Breakfast At Tiffany's' Now At Jim

Also starring in the Technicolor film are Patricia Neal, Buddy Ebsen, Martin Balsam and Mickey Rooney. It was adopted from Truman Capote's best - selling novel, and tells "all" about Holly and the many men in her life.

ODD HABITS

A creature of odd habits and even odder friends, Holly affects the lives of all who met her, especially Peppard, her upstairs neighbor, a young writer being "supported" by a rich society matron.

Other men in her past, present and future include a Texas horse doctor, a Hollywood agent, a Brazilian millionaire and a Japanese photographer whose peace of mind is continually hampered by Holly's madcap existence.

ON LOCATION

Marked by Holly's downing a light breakfast of coffee and Danish in front of Tiffany's window following a wild night out on the town, this unusual meal symbolizes the need for meaning and solidarity in her life. Blake Edwards directed

Curtain Call

"Five Finger Exercise," is now history, and we are grateful to everyone who helped to make it another successful production for our Little Theatre.

Rus Kettenring and Ray Magruder were responsible for our new flood light, the furniture was loaned by the "Skeeter" Morgans, "Boots" Garnier of Bastrop sent down the chic riding habit worn by Shirley and Thomas Henry helped solve the parking problems by marking the spaces with yellow lines.

"The show must go on" is more than a slogan for Judy. The afternoon before opening night, she cut her foot so seriously that five stitches were required, but this gallant trouper did not ever permit herself a limp.

MISSED

We missed from the performances patron member, Janice Strauss, and former president, Sidney Gill, both of whom are in the hospital. Betty and Bernard Biedenharn are having a pre-holiday in New York, and one of our most popular local actresses, Dell Moore, is soon leaving for Dallas to accept a position there. We shall certainly miss Dell.

V. P. Dalrymple of West Monroe Junior High School staff, has recently brought his dramatic class for a tour of Strauss Playhouse.

SCORES, SCRIPTS

The scores and script are here for "Bye Bye Birdie." Lallage Feazel went up for the opening night of this play in New York and Louis Guerriero, a former Little Theatre director, now a Broadway actor was there. Another Monroyan present was John Sherrouse Jr. Following the performance, Slade Brown and his father entertained the cast and friends with a supper party at the Astor. Slade, as you know, has been instrumental in getting permission for us to have the play here. We are grateful for the goodly number of players who came for the tryouts. You'll be hearing about the cast soon and you'll be delighted with "Bye Bye Birdie."

HUMANE WESTERNS

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — White hot branding irons have been replaced by paint brushes in TV westerns, according to the American Humane Association.

The association says two brands recently were painted on cattle for a scene in the "Cheyenne" TV series at Warner Bros. Studios. When it is necessary to show the actual branding, hot irons are applied to boards lying on the ground behind the steers.

TEEN ACTOR

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Keith Hamshere, the 15-year-old who was acclaimed on the London stage in the title role of Lionel Bart's musical "Oliver," has been signed by Walt Disney for a featured role in "The Castaways."
